Fire at the Residence of John Armstrong on Garfield Avenue Yesterday Afternoon—Funeral of George Atkinson.

Owing to the presence of so many men upon the streets yesterday, a fire was soon extinguished yesterday afternoon at the South Garfield avenue residence of John Armstrong. An alarm was sent in from box 25, but the blaze was under control before the arrival of the West Side fire companies. The building is owned by Phillips and Welles and is a wooden structure. The fire originated in the second story from a defective flue. Mr. Armstrong, who was in the house at the time, was badly cut about the arms by breaking glass. The fire attracted a large crowd.

George Atkinson Buried. The remains of the late George Atkinson were interred yesterday in the Washburn Street cemetery. Funeral services were conducted at the Penn Avenue Baptist church, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. J. B. Ford, of Green Ridge, preached a sermon eulogistic of the life of the deceased. There was a large congregation of the many friends of the departed. Many of his fellow workers at the Bellevue colliery were in attendance, the breaker having ceased operations for the day out of respect to the dead. After the obsequies the funeral procession moved to the cemetery. The pallbearers were L. M. Steele, Nathaniel Heald, D. W. Schomayer, J. E. Highfield and W. Browning, all deacons of the church. The funeral was a fitting tribute to the worth of the aged Mr. Atkinson.

Young Marriages. Young ladies who have been entertained in the past by the members of the Marquette club, composed of the popular West Side young gentlemen, returned the compliment last evening by conducting a leap year social in the club rooms. Dancing was the chief amusement. The room was lavishly decorated for the occasion, and the affair through and through was one of great pleasure.

Received the Returns. The West Side Republican club received the elective returns last evening over a special wire in their rooms on Main avenue. There was a large crowd present. The different districts were accounted in rapid succession, and the vote was computed as soon as received. The club has shown its enterprise in the past, much of which is due to its president, W. S. Mars.

A Japanese tea was enjoyed last evening by the young ladies of St. David's church. There was a large attendance. J. Smith, of Honesdale, and Miss Elizabeth Escott, of this side, were married Monday at the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. R. W. Walker, of South Hyde Park avenue, entertained a few friends yesterday. The affair was in the nature of an afternoon tea and was pleasantly enjoyed.

W. Haydn Evans came up from Wilkes-Barre yesterday to vote at the election. The ladies of the Scranton Baptist church whose names begin with A, B and C will serve a Martha Washing-

WASHINGTON GOSSIP.

Tribune Bureau, 115 Fourteenth street, N. W., Washington, Feb. 18.

Speaker Reed's determination to keep down appropriations is liable to lose him more votes for the presidential nomination than it will make him. It is said that he favors a big cut all along the line in river and harbor appropriations. This is where Speaker Reed will antagonize also every member of congress.

A member who represents a district which hasn't a river, harbor or mud pond and which doesn't want an appropriation is a genuine curiosity. The river and harbor bill is the barrel from which every member expects to pull a slice of pork. When they fail to get any other kind of an appropriation for their districts they introduce a bill for the improvement of some river, creek or tad-pole pond. In a majority of cases it is a cold steal. Some of the streams for which appropriations are asked are no more apt to be made unimproved than the Lackawanna river. But that makes no difference to the fellow in whose district said stream is located. He wants the bill for the improvement of some river, creek or tad-pole pond. In a majority of cases it is a cold steal. Some of the streams for which appropriations are asked are no more apt to be made unimproved than the Lackawanna river.
