CHIMES OF NORMANDY.

A Successful Representation by Home Talent- Excellent Music.

Talent - Excellent Music. The Lyceum Opera company, com-prising home talent, gave a presenta-tion of the "Chimes of Normandy" Monday and last nights to large and appreciative audiences. The effort was a success artistically and financially, the benefit accruing to the Carbondale heading characters was worthy of the reputation of the amateurs of the city in operatic and dramatic work. The entire performance reflected the great-est credit upon Professor Richard Lind-say, of Scranton, and W. D. Evans, of Carbondale, under whose direction the opera was performed. C. P. O'Connor's opening speech and political poem was a decided success. The cast was as follows: follows:

follows: Serpolette, Marie Daley: Germaine, Mary Maxwell, Gertrude, Susanne, Manette, Mame O'Boyle; Jeanne, Min-nie Bowen; Henri, Daniel P. Moyles; Jean, Frank P. Costes; Gaspard, A. R. Jones: Baill, Patrick Kirkwood, No-tary, C. P. O'Connor. The chorus was composed of the following persons: Sopranos, Emma Barrett, Maud Carter. Mamie Maxwell, Sarah Davis; altos, Sopranos, Emma Barrett, Maud Carter, Mamie Maxwell, Sarah Davis; altos, Bridget Kerins, Mary Gerrity; bassos, August Nelsen, Henry Berry, J. V. Rourke, Joseph Birs, James Gadwood, Harry Rettew; tenors, Willard Evans, Melvin Teppin, Robert Matthew, Frank Eibrecht, T. A. Kirkwood, Richard Kerwin, P. J. Boylan, I. Hollenback. It is expected that the funds of the hos-bital will be augmented by about $200. pital will be augmented by about $200.

ABSTAINERS BANOUET.

The knights of Father Mathew Banquet. A Most Enjoyable Gathering.

A Most Enjoyable Gathering. The Knights of Father Mathew held their annual banquet in the Watt hall, on North Church street, and it was one of the most successfully conducted affairs ever held in the city. The social part commenced promptly at 8 o'clock, and was kept up until late. Professor John Firth furnished the music and W. J. Collins acted as prompter. The dance was a decided success.

dance was a decided success. The Ladies' Temperance society proved themselves most efficient caterers and the banquet hall was most elab-orately decorated. Supper over, the president, Andrew Pidgeon, was toastmaster of the evening and introduced Frank D. S. Collins, who responded to the toast of "Our Soclety." Thomas J. Boylan responded to the toast of "Our Battalion." J. J. No-lan proposed the toast of "Our Invited Guests," and was well received. ton.
