UP-TO-DATE BICYCLES.

Foot & Shear Sell the Cleveland and Remington Wheels.

If signs indicate anything, they indicate that this year is going to be a bicycle year in Scranton. Dealers have already procured new stocks and many sales are being made even this early in the season. Foot & Shear are not behind their competitors in getting ready for the rush. This firm has the agency for the Cleveland and the Remington, two high-grade wheels, and also sell a cheaper article. The firm has placed in charge of their bicycle department Robert V. White, a young man thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the trade, and who, through his record as a member of the racing team of the Green Ridge Wheelmen, is known in bicycle circles throughout this section of the state. So, with the right kind of goods as a basis, and with the right kind of a practical man in charge, Foot & Shear seem bound to command a large bicycle business.

It is said that H. A. Losler & Co., makers of the Cleveland wheel, that they have the largest and best bicycle plant in the country. The plant is located in three cities, Toledo, Toronto and Thompsonville, Conn. To describe the Cleveland wheel in detail would only be to make the statement that it is made as perfect as is permitted by the use of money and brains, and that the manufacturers' claim, make the Cleveland wheel the best in the market.

As much is claimed for the Remington, this machine is manufactured by the Remington Arms Co., a concern that has not made its reputation for absolute correct mechanical work in a minute. The company is one of the oldest of its kind in this country and the word "Remington" is of itself almost a sufficient guarantee that the goods are perfect. Simplicity of construction and durability are two of the prominent claims for the Remington bicycle, and this can be very easily believed by even the novice after an examination.

Aside from bicycles alone, Foot & Shear keep in stock all manner of bicycle sundries and accessories; in fact, the concern has established and proposes to continue as complete a retail bicycle establishment as can be found anywhere. Visitors to the store, 119 Washington avenue, are welcome. Whether they come as purchasers or not, make no difference, as the firm is proud of its Cleveland, Remington and the cheaper grades of wheels, and is perfectly willing to show and describe them.

ELECTION OFFICERS ANSWER.

Papers of Both Sides of the Elmhurst Case Now Before Court.

On Feb. 21 Sidney G. Riel, of Elmhurst, by his attorneys, Warren & Knapp, procured a writ of alternative mandamus directing against D. C. Brink and W. C. Dunning, judge and inspector of election respectively, of Elmhurst borough at the recent election.

Mr. Riel averred that he was a candidate for council for the South Side there being two to be elected for one year, and that his name was printed in the Republican column upon the official ballot. Besides his name there were printed on the official ballot for the year term the names of John B. Fuller and J. Y. Dunning. Mr. Fuller is a Republican and Mr. Dunning is a Democrat. The latter received forty-four votes, which was the highest number cast for the one year term. Mr. Riel alleged that he received thirty-nine, the second highest number cast; but that the judge and one inspector of election failed to count more than thirty-four for him. This left him a tie with the third man.

The writ was made returnable next Monday. Attorney C. Comogys, representing Messrs. Brink and Dunning, yesterday filed an answer to the writ. They deny the allegations complained of in the petition of Mr. Riel and make the charge that he was not on the ticket regularly. They say that he was nominated for a three-year term by the Republicans and afterwards had his name put under the one-year head. His name was then in two places and the votes cast for him for each term were counted for him. He got only thirty-four votes for the one year term.

STILL WORKING FOR HIM.

Friends of Rosa Maintain He Is Not a Murderer.

Although Leonardo Rosa is now in the penitentiary undergoing a term of imprisonment for the murder of Vito Lauriso his friends have not ceased to exert themselves in his behalf. They profess to still believe in his innocence and aver that the fact that he entered a plea of guilty does not prove anything against him. He preferred to throw himself on the mercy of the court rather than take chances with a jury. Knowing the kind of a case the commonwealth was prepared to put up, it is said that since Rosa was sentenced many facts have been learned which throw a new light on the murder and which Rosa's friends say will eventually result in his release and the conviction of those who are really guilty of shedding the life blood of Lauriso.

The funeral will be held this morning at 9 o'clock. The prisoner will be taken to Archibald on the 8.25 train and will be returned to jail after the funeral.

IT WAS NOT ANNA HARRIS

Young Girl Killed at the Steel Works Crossing Not Identified.

WAS EMPLOYED IN SILK MILL

After Her Day's Work Was Done She Was Run Down by a Delaware & Hudson Passenger Train and Killed.

A young factory girl was struck and killed shortly after 6 o'clock last evening by a Delaware and Hudson train near the Steel Mill station. The young lady was an employe of the Saquoit silk factory. The "all over" whistle had blown and the heavy factory cars were being run on the track by standers save the form of a young girl being hurled from the front of the engine and into the ditch on the side of the road. The train stopped when three of its four cars had passed the place where the silk worker lay. Several who had seen the accident ran to the girl's side. She was alive, but unconscious. A deep gash at the back of the head was the only evidence of injury; but the skull was crushed and in a few moments the last sign of life had departed.

The body was carried into the Steel Works station, from whence word was sent to the Lackawanna hospital by an ambulance and to Coroner Longstreet. The latter arrived in a short time and viewed the remains. Without holding an inquest, the body was taken to the morgue and placed in the morgue. The body was viewed by the friends of the girl, who were identified them as those of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Harris. Fellow workers at the factory also stated that it was Anna Harris' body. The girl came and he also was positive that it was his daughter who lay there dead. Then the mother arrived; she looked at the face.

"This is not Anna," she said between sobs. The friends present tried to convince her of her mistake. She refused to believe that the dead body was that of her daughter. Little attention was paid to her statement, the friends thinking that grief had turned the mother's mind. But she persisted.

"The body of my daughter," she said again and again as she pointed to the body. Finally her husband resolved to satisfy himself that this was really his daughter. He also was beginning to doubt. The friends of the girl were surprised he found both Anna and Lizzie alive and well. Who is the dead girl? was the question everyone began to ask. Nobody knew anybody that doubted that she was Anna Harris. The coroner believed it, the fellow factory girls had said so, and now came the contrary news.

Her clothing was searched, but the only clue to her identity was an empty bottle which had formerly contained a fluid and which was found in her skirt pocket with the cork loosened. The inscription on the bottle read: "T. H. Arch; Arch drops; F. L. Terpe, apothecary, 510 Cedar avenue, Scranton, Pa."

This seems to indicate that the dead girl's home is on the South Side. She is pretty, has dark brown hair and blue eyes and has a light healthful complexion. Her dress is of dark blue and the waist is worn and red in color. She also wore dark heavy boots with large soles. In the pocket with the bottle were found a small spool of thread, a little mirror a handkerchief, and a bunch of black silk.

A fine, white colored "lunder," was wrapped about her neck. Her shoes are heavy and strongly made. She is about five feet tall and is slightly built for her age.

Up to midnight the remains were unidentified at Price's undertaking establishment. Coroner Longstreet will hold an inquest at the morgue at 8 o'clock tonight. The crew of the passenger train and those who saw the accident will be present to give testimony. The police of the West Side, South Side and city police have been unable to discover any information that would tend to unravel the mystery.

OTTINGER-LEVY NUPTIALS.

Ceremony Performed Yesterday Afternoon in the Bicycle Club House Before Many Friends of the Young People.

The wedding of Miss Haydee Levy and Louis Ottinger took place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the Scranton Bicycle club house. A great deal of importance was attached to the event on account of the social prominence of the parties concerned with the affair, and which made the wedding the most distinct event of its kind in Jewish circles since the beginning of the present century. The ceremony was quite generally conceded to be one of the prettiest, brightest and most accomplished of the Jewish young ladies of the city, and the groom, who is interested in the Economy Furniture company, occupies a conspicuous place in the business world. The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Feerlichter, in the way of a double ceremony, and music, nothing was left unattended to make the wedding and its attendant features very elaborate and elegant. The ceremony was witnessed by many well-known persons from out of town, and was followed by a sumptuous supper and a large reception.

BEAUTIFUL DECORATIONS.

Clark, the florist, must have given a carte blanche order to decorate the rooms and the upper rooms of the important feature could not have been done in a more lavish or artistic way. A large semi-circle of palms and lilies fringed the street end of the room. Here the ceremony took place, and on and about the fireplace in the back parlor were arranged a variety of sea shells, flowers and other flowers which tended to give a pink effect to the whole. Hanley was the caterer. In the music niche in the latter room, and concealed by a screen of palms and fernery was located Bauer's orchestra. The reading room on the second floor was also generously decorated with blossoms.

The bride was gowned in white satin made over with moussin de soie and carried lilies of the valley. The veil she wore is a family heirloom, it having been worn by her great-grandmother at the latter's wedding. Simon Rice, the bride's uncle, presented her to the groom. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Lizzie. She wore a white mulle gown and carried pink roses.

The groom was attended by his best man, Sol Ottinger, the usher was Ralph Levy, of Harvard; Felix Levy, of Wilkes-Barre; Joseph Wertheimer, of Philadelphia, and R. M. Goldsmith, of this city.

HAVE GONE TO FLORIDA.

At 11:35 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Oettinger left on a Lackawanna train going to Florida. They will go to Florida and will on their return reside temporarily at the Hotel Terrace. Their home will later be at the Hotel Jermy.

Among the guests from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Oettinger and Isaac Oettinger, of New York city; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Wertheimer, Samuel Wertheimer, Dan Kohler, Joseph Wertheimer, Joseph Wertheimer and Dr. G. E. Roos, of Philadelphia; Joseph Rosenthal, of Goldboro, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. Levy, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Levy, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bally, Mrs. Flora Levy, A. Strauss, Felix Levy and Maurice Levy, of Wilkes-Barre; Mr. and Mrs. H. Oettinger, Mr. and Mrs. E. Oettinger, Mr. and Mrs. J. Oettinger, Miss Blanche Oettinger and Abraham Oettinger, of Baltimore.

WANT IT DISSOLVED.

Rule Granted by the Court in Olyphant Injunction Proceedings.

Judge Gunster yesterday granted a rule, returnable next Monday at 9 a. m., to show cause why the injunction granted in the equity suit of J. M. Schenk, Dominick Howard, and R. J. Gallagher, against the burgess, town council, and borough of Olyphant, heretofore granted should not be dissolved.

The rule was granted on a petition filed by attorneys Warren & Knapp representing the defendants. The petition says that in September, 1895, the complainants filed against the defendants a bill of equity to restrain the lat-

CHIEF AND SECRETARY

Mayor-Elect Bailey Proposes to Fill These Offices Himself.

ABOUT THE OTHER POSITIONS

Is Willing That They Should Go Where They Will Do the Most Good.

John Fitzsimmons for Captain of Police.

Mayor-elect James G. Bailey has been so beset by candidates for positions and waited on by so many men with "pulls" who want to influence him in this way or that with reference to appointments he is expected to make that he has been forced to declare himself. He says that he will accept no dictation in the matter of the appointment of his secretary and a chief-of-police. The men who will fill those positions must be very near to him and will be selected because of their peculiar fitness for the offices and because the mayor can in their repose implicit confidence.

Any other positions, Mr. Bailey has told the leaders of the party, he is willing to have filled in a way that may seem best to them but the positions he has specified must be considered as coming under the spoils system. This will have a tendency to nullify the hard work of some of the candidates for chief and secretary who have been industriously working since election time up their influential friends in lining up their candidates. Who Mr. Bailey will select for the positions named no one knows for he has not expressed himself concerning the men he may have in mind.

WILL ROBBING BE THE MAN?

A great many persons believe that Frank Robbing will be the next head of the police department but there are a large number of Democrats who say he will not be and they make their remarks with a vigor which indicates that Robbing's candidacy is highly distasteful to them. Joseph Taylor, John Shea and the others mentioned for the position of chief have powerful friends in court and in the press and have many among the conflicting elements many are in favor of taking up an entirely new man.

This matter has been considered by a number of the leaders who have given that Martin Gurrell, the veteran of the police force, would be the proper man to name for chief in the present emergency. He is a Democrat and has for nearly twenty years and during all of that time has been looked upon as a model officer. For many years he has been in charge of the West Side district and earned the reputation of being a strict disciplinarian as well as a most careful and conscientious guardian of the peace.

Among Democrats who believe that fitness, not politics, should guide the new mayor in selecting heads of departments, there is strong sentiment in favor of retaining Chief Fitzsimmons. His efficiency in the office has been thoroughly demonstrated. No man knows so well as he does the duties that devolve upon the chief of police. His increased efficiency of the police department of this city.

CAPTAIN OF POLICE.

Aspirants for the office of captain of police are not wanting. The impression at present seems to be that John Fitzsimmons, of the Sunday News, will be accorded the office, although the opinion of Estroff, John Moir claim that he is to be the new captain. Those who appear to know, say that the Republicans who assisted the Democrats in the late fight will insist on the promotion of Patrick Moir, who is a son of Captain James Moir.

James R. Burnett, the well-known newspaper man, has a strong endorsement from the Democrats for the position of secretary to the mayor, and it is predicted that if Mr. Bailey does not name his own brother for the position, Mr. Burnett will be the man. He possesses all of the qualifications necessary, and would make a model secretary for the incoming mayor, as his extensive journalistic experience has made him thoroughly familiar with city business and given him a wide acquaintance among all classes of people. The friends of Editor R. J. Beamish have been urging him for the same position, but that gentleman has not yet signified his intention of entering the lists for the office. Attorney John M. Corbett also appears to be a candidate.

P. F. Griffin, formerly of the firm of Davies & Griffin, is urging his claims for the office of food inspector.

"Michael Strogoft" was the drama produced by the Waite company at the Frothingham last night and in the afternoon. The orchestra was heard with hearty applause for the manner in which it rendered the various numbers on the musical program.

This afternoon the company will produce "The Black Flag" and tonight a comedy "The Prince of Liars" will be the attraction.

THE BROOKLYN HANDICAP.

Was Produced at the Academy of Music

A small audience saw the racing drama, "The Brooklyn Handicap," at the Academy of Music last night. It is constructed about on the usual lines of melodramas with race track scenes. The money won by backing Dr. Rice prevents a foolish young man from going to prison and makes nearly everybody happy.

The company which produced the "Handicap" last night contained several good people, and the play was well staged. The scene at the Gavesend track where the Brooklyn Handicap was run was very well put on.
