MINISTER CRISPI RETIRES

The Situation at Rome Grows More Critical Daily.

THE OUTLOOK IS THREATENING

The Situation at Rome Is So Critical That Troops Have Been Confined to Their Barracks in Order to Be Available at Any Moment.

Rome, March 5 .- Reports from every city and town of consequence through-out Italy show that the excitement caused by the Italian reverse in Abyssinia displays no sign of waning, on the contrary, in many places it grows greater as the meagre details of the defeat filter through the press from official sources,

Prime Minister Crispl and the other members of the cabinet have been compelled to retire from office, that fact having been announced in the chamber of deputies today amid a scene that can fittingly be described as pandemonium.

The situation in Rome is so critical that the troops have been confined to their barracks, a measure of precaution that will enable them to be hastily despatched to any part of the city should their services be necessary to quell dis-turbances. The University has been turbances. The University has been closed, the authorities fearing that the hot-headed students would attempt to make a demonstration, which, in the present condition of the popular temp-er might lead to serious rioting. Despite the precautions taken, however, there were several disturbances tonight but the police were able to handle the crowds without calling upon the mil-ltary for aid. A number of arrests were made for disorderly conduct. The popular indignation is directed against Signor Crispi and the other ministers, who rightly or wrongly are held responsible for the disgrace that has befallen the Italian army. As a matter of fact, however, Signor Crispi did not at first approve of the coun try's embarking upon the hazardous undertaking of conquering the Abyssinians, and it was only due to the pressure exerted upon him that caused him to support the policy of expanding the traffan possessions in Africa. This fact counts for little now, and the prime minister's enemies, of whom he has a great number, took ocasion of the pop-ular feeling to incite the whole Italian people so far as possible to bour out the vials of their wrath upon Signor Crispi and his colleagues in the min-istry. Their success was marked, and it is feared now that the storm they have raised will assume such propor-tions that it will indeed be a hard work for the king to secure any man to un-dertake the formation of a new cabinet. There is a probability that his maj-esty will be forced to request Signor Crispi to again assume office, in which event there will be further and still RESERVES OF 1872. The caling out of the reserves of 1872 to serve with the colors has also added to the dissatisfaction, and in some instances has been one of the causes that have led to the disorderly demonstra-tions. These reserves are the men born in 1872, and the calling of them from their employments will cause serious financial loss to them. Naples, Brescia, Palermo, Catania, Florence, Venice and Sassari were the scenes of last night's disturbances growing out of the feeling engendered by the army's defeat and the opposition to having the young men of the country forced to throw aside their means of earning a livelihood to take up arms. Many people argue that in view of all the circumstances of the case it would be foothardiness for Italy to further continue her attempted con-quest of Abyssinia, but it is claimed by others that it is absolutely necessary for the country to carry out the cam-paign and restore her turnished pres-tige. They believe that if a decisive blow is not inflicted upon the Abyssin-ians the latter will eventually drive the Italians out of Eythrea.

The scene in the chamber of deputies today was one to be long remembered Long before the hour of opening the chamber enormous crowds of people thronged the vicinity and practically surrounded the building. As time went on the crowds increased and the excitement of the populace grew more in-tense. The strets in the vicinity of the tense. The strets in the vicinity of the chamber were patrolled by troops, who experienced difficulty is making their way through the packed thoroughfares. The members of the ministry in proceeding to the chamber evaded the crowd as much as possible. When Sig-nor Baccelli, minister of public instruction, arrived in the chamber he was hissed by the opposition deputies and cheered by those who adhere to the ministry UPROAR IN THE CHAMBER. The sitting of the chamber was of the wildest character, the uproar be-ginning as soon as the chamber was called to order. Signor Crispi an-nounced the resignation of the cab-inet, and said that the resignations had been accepted by the king. This au-nouncement was received with prolonged and passionate applause. members of the extreme left shouted insults at Signor Crispi, but the premier preserved his temper, and when he was enabled to obtain a hearing demay not interest you as much as clared with great firmness that the the novelties, but we've got to have successors would retain office and main-motion demanding the impeachment of Premier Crispi and the members of the ministry.

The uproar continued throughout the sitting with more or less volume and the scenes of extreme disorders were renewed when the president declared the sitting ended. Manwhile the crowds outside were shooting, cheering, cursing, hissing, howling and groaning. Ten arrests were made by the police of men who hissed members of the ministry as they came out of the chamber, but the his-ing and howling continued just the same. The ministers paid no attention to the crowd, but escorted by police entered their carriages and were driven rapidly away.

OUTLOOK THREATENING.

Tonight the demonstrations against Crispi became more energetic and the outlook was very threatening. Greaterowds gathered in the streets and so cialists and radical orators, mounting steps, boxes or anything that would lift them above the level of the mobs, passionately harangued them pointing out that all the evil that has befallen out that all the evil that has befallen Italy came from the mad administration of the present cabinet. The prime minister and his supporters were violently assailed and the crowds were worked up into a condition bordering on frenzy. At this point the police in force intervened and broke up the meetings, not, however, without great difficulty.

Later a crowd marched to the restdence of Signor Crispi and made a dem-onstration before it. Every opprobri-ous term in the Italian language was hurled at him, but no attention was paid to the crowd by those in the house. Then the mob marched to the offices of the newspapers that support the government and shattered the winthe government and snattered the windows with sledges, bricks and clubs. In driving the rioters away several policemen were quite severely injured.

A Milan despatch tonight states that there has been another collision there between the police and citizens. The police used their swords and wounded

Dissatisfaction in Illinois-The "Anti" Element in Florida Bolts the Convention Delegates in Mississippi

Chicago, March 5.-Chairman Jamichicago, March a charman Jamisson, of the State Republican committee of Illinois, openly declared today that the work of the McKinley people in getting the delegates from the seventh congressional district instructed for the Ohioan would prove costly for the can-didate. He accused the McKinley agents and editors of a breach of faith, claiming the understanding with Major McKinley. When he was here recently, was that no delegates from Illinois were to be instructed to vote for him; if the votes of Illinois were needed to nominate him they would be so cast as a unit. Chairman Jamison asserted that from now on McKinley would get no instructed delegates from Illinois, unless he won by a fair fight. Cautions the Merchants to Be Prudent Sale of Petroleum Prohibited in the Interior Towns - The Battle Near Gibara.

From a Staff Correspondent of the United Press.) Havana, March 5.—All the merchants of Cienfugos have agreed to cancel the orders given to their correspondents in the United States as a protest against the action of the American congress on the Cuban question. The merchants talked of holding a demonstration, but Captain General Weyler prohibited it. The chamber of commerce here met today to consider the question of taking similar action, General Weyler ad-vised the chamber to be prudent.

There is talk of stopping the exporta-tion of tobacco in bales and to permit the export of only the manufactured

General Lachambre reports that troops have reconnoitered in the zone of Jarahneca and destroyed the huts on the farms used by rebels. The troops had an engagement with insurgents. BLUNDERING HEALTH BOARD. Victim of Diphtheria Sent to West Eliza-

The mistake has resulted in the body of a child which died of malignant diphtheria being shipped to West Elizabeth. Alle-gheny county, and given a public fu-neral, while another, whose death re-sulted from pneumonia, was buried in this city. At the time of her death in the hospital Jennie O'Kane died from the effect of malignant diphtheria and both bodies were placed in the dead house. The friends of the Campbell child had not seen her for two years, and there being so much doubt about the identity of the child sent to them for inter-ment that an investigation was made. The body which was buried for that of Jennic O'Kane was exhumed and was fully identified as that of Eva Campbell. It was at once shipped to her late home and was buried there. The ques-tion now is, how the body of the O'Kane child can be brought to her home for interment. The rules of the board of health prohibit the transportation of bodies of persons who have died from contagious diseases, and the local board also has stringent rules in reference to interment in such cases, and the ques-tion now under discussion is, how the mistake can be rectified

Mrs. Goffinet, Once a Detroit Societs Woman, Passes Away.

Kansas City, Mo., March 5,-Mrs, Annie Coffinet, once a wealthy and well-known society woman of Detriot, Mich., died here in her humbly furn-ished quarters, on Locust street, practically penniless and almost without a friend. Mrs. Goffinet came here from Detroit three years ago, where she had lived until her husband died about ten years ago. She lost the bulk of her fortune in bad investments, and the remainder, it is said, was taken away from her by a man once assoclated with her husband in business. Unused to work, but too proud to ask help, she decided to pass her life in obscurity, and hired out as a cook. She is said to have a son somewhere in the east, but had not heard from him for some time. Mrs. Goffinet was 64 years old and was highly educated

His wife asked him why he did not shoot somebody, saying that she would shoot him if she had a guin. Hahn turned the gun over to his wife and dared her to shoot. She would not "take a dare" and blazed away at him, not stopping until she had emptied the revolver.

The first shot struck Hahn just above the left eye, crushed in his skull and the other five did not strike a vital and the other live did not strike a vital spot. It is not probable that he can recover, but at the same time he re-fuses to make any complaint, and Mrs. Hahn, is nursing her husband, while the villagers are greatly excited about the matter. The couple have always lived peaceably together, barring quar-rels occasioned by Hahn's drinking.

TRAGEDY AT WOODWARD.

I'wo Constables killed by a Desperate Criminal The Home of the Murderer Beseiged.

Bellefonte, Pa., March 5.-Word has seen received here from Woodward, a small hamlet twenty-five miles from here in the eastern end of the county, giving meagre details of a horrible tragedy enacted there. While two constables were endeavoring to arrest a desperate criminal named William Etlinger, no resisted arrest and shot both of the constables, one, John L. Barner, being reported as falling dead in his tracks; and the other, Frank Gelswhite, being fatally injured and not likely to survive until morning. Etlinger then barricaded his house and defied arrest at the hands of a posse of infuriated citizens who had gathered on the scene keeping them at bay with dynamite and a free exhibition of double barreled shotguns. As they were unable to take Etlinger word was telegraphed to the sheriff here, and he, with a large posse of well armed men departed at 6 o'clock on a special train for Woodward, having first telegraphed to not allow Ellinger to escape, and to shoot him down if he made the attempt. As Woodward is seven miles from a telegraph station, to later facts have been obtained, and special train for Woodward, having no later facts have been obtained, and it will probably be very late when the sheriff and his party return.

The latest word received from the seene of the Etlinger battle at Woodward gives the scene as baffling anything like an accurate description. The house is now surrounded by nearly a thousand men, but all are afraid to ven-ture too close, as Etlinger declares he will resist arrest as long as he has a breath in his body and will kill any man attempting to take him. Altogether over 500 shots have been ex-changed and at least one man, John Musser, seriously shot. It is also be-lieved that Mrs. Etlinger, who was beloing her husband defend the house has been shot and killed as she was seen to throw up her hands and fall backward from a window on the firing of a volley by the crowd.

The sheriff is at his wits ends as the best means of dislodging Etlinger. He could burn the house, but does not wish to resort to this on account of Etlin-ger's children and Barner's dead body. which is still inside. The crowd sur-rounding Etlinger's house has been worked up to a pitch of furious exeltement and if the man is taken alive there is every probability that he will be strung up to the first tree.

NEW ENGLAND FAVORS PEACE

No Right to Interfere in Venezuelan Affairs - Our Own Situation Is Deplorable Enough Without Seeking Trouble Abroad.

New York, March 5.-Ex-Senator George S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, who was secretary of the treasury under General Grant's administration, was at the Fifth Avenue hotel today. He is considered an authority on fin-ancial matters, and he has made a study of international law. His idea is that the position taken by this government in regard to the Venezuelan boundary dispute is untenable, and may lead to complications. He is also opposed to the recognition of the insurgents in Cuba. A reporter saw the ex-secretary and asked him to explain his position on the Venezuelan dis-

He said that he had written an ar-ticle on the subject and he quoted from it as follows: "First, no one in this ountry has any knowledge of the line in dispute and therefore we have no position to take in regard to the de-fense of Venezuela. Then, the com-mission appointed by the president might make any one of the three fol-lowing decisions: First, that England's claim is sustained in every par ticular; second, that the evidence might be of such a nature that the commis sion could not reach a satisfactory con-clusion, and, third, the commission might differ in colulon, in which case neither the majority nor minority re-port would constitute a basis for action. Again, the Monroe Dectrine prop-erly interpreted does not embrace controversies over boundary lines or claims of European governments against American states for debts due or injuries committed by such gov ernment on land or water. The Mon-roe Doctrine is limited to cases like that of Napoleon when he attempted to subvert the Republic of Mexico and establish an empire. "President Monroe's protest of 1823 was ilmited to the attempt to create on this continent 'any new European colonial establishment.' It is apparent that the question of boundary is not included in this phrase properly interpreted. Under the Monroe doctrine properly interpreted, we stand aloof entirely free from the contentions that from time to time may arise between the dynastic states of Europe. But when, in the course of events, it shall appear from evidence then existing that it is the purpose of a European state to overthrow the government and subvert the institutions of a republic in an American state, the United States can then, as to that case and upon the facts then known, decide what ought to be

Mr. Poutwell also maintained that he Monroe doctrine was no part of the law of nations, and ought never to become a part of the law of nations; that it is a rule for the United States, to be interpreted and applied by our own government, and for the protection of our own rights and interests, and that we should neither ask any other nation to adopt it nor permit any other nation to interpret it.

"What should this government do in the case of Cuba?" he was asked. "Nothing should be done. We have no interest in the war there whatever, and should keep out of broils. Our own situation here is deplorable enough. far as New England is concerned, there is no public interest there or feeling for or against Spain. We want peace and yould like prosperity if we can get it." The ex-secretary is on his way to Washington.
