TOO MUCH POLITICS.

St Louis Manufacturers Withdraw from the National Association.

St. Louis, March 6.-The Manufac-turers' asosciation of this city has taken the steps threatened for some time and has withdrawn from the National Manufacturers' association. At the meeting at which the action was taken A. J. Shultz, who headed the delega-tion from St. Louis to the recent na-tional convention at Chicago, made a remove report. The Chicago meeting, he said, was a failure. There was too much politics in it. This he said was due to the effort of the organization to turn itself into a McKinley attachment.

Among the military men there is a strong sen-timent in favor of pushing the cam-paign in Africa to the utmost, even if the ammunition of the little town was exhausted. The only way that seemed exhausted. The only way that seemed possible to dislonge Etilinger without but on account of sacrificing the lives of several men was to fire the house, but, on account of the children and Mrs. Etlinger, the sheriff determined to not resort to this ex-cept as a last measure. The house was guarded throughout the night, and as the news of the slege had spread, by daylight there were fully 2,000 armed men about the house. This morning Sheriff Condo determined upon attempting to carry the house by storm. With a number of deputies he made a rush for the build-ing, but the whistle of the builets from Etlinger's Winchester speedily took the courage out of the party and drove them back under cover. Then the sheriff de-elded to fire the building. James Corneiley, a Bellefonte deputy, volunteered to apply the match. Under the cover of a fierce fire directed against the house by the crowd Cornelley made his way to the building and applied the torch and returned in safety. TORCH APPLIED.

The flames made slow headway, and it was fully an hour before the building was fairly ablaze. Closely following the children Mrs. Et-linger burst through the cellar door and staggered out. The crowd was hot in anger against the woman, as they be-lieved that she had assisted her husband in defending the house, and as she made her appearance a cry went up: "Shoot the witch." Cooler heads raised a shout and prevented any firing at the woman. As she fled from the house her husband fired four times after her, but each shot went wide of the mark.

By this time the building was ablaze from cellar to roof, and with the choice of death by cremation or at the hands of the mob. Etlinger decided to kill himself. He suddenly stepped from the cellar way with a rifle in one hand the cellar way with a rifle in one hand and a revolver in the other. On a de-mand to surrender, the outlaw threw down his gun and undauntedly facing the mob cried out: "I don't want to kill any other man but myself, but I will not be taken alive." With these words he put the revolver to his head and fired two hullets into his head and fired two bullets into his brain.

The reports of such trouble being Gomez countermarched to the middle of Matanzas province where he stopped to see that the estates should not obey probable grew out of the fact that Will-iam E. If he continues his course he may force the Salvation army officers to make a full statement of all the facts leading to his retirement, and as I have already said I believe him a dishonorable man, you can draw your own conclusions as to how the statement will reflect on him. Either the present officers of the Salvation army have told deliberate falsehoods or Ballington Booth has. I believe we are able to prove the truth of our statements."

Asked what he thought of the report that three of the New York city corps, including the Bowery corps would se-cede and join Ballington Booth, Colonet Nicol said he did not believe the report, and felt absolutely sure it was not true so far as the Bowery corps was concerned.
