mediately After Leaving County Jall. Oscar D. Ehrgood and Sarah Jane Carey, who were sentenced together on Jan. 5, 1895, to fifteen months in the county jall, were discharged yes-terday morning, after serving their time, and together they went to Alder-man Wright's office in the afternoon, where they were married. Ehrgood two years ago was a well-to-do carpenter of Dunmore, and had a happy home. His wife was a good wo-man and they had a bright, young daughter, just entering on the thresh-hold of womanhood. OLIVE OIL.

No Trouble to Get Pure Olive Oil.

To make an assertion that you can-not get "pure oil" of course is absurd as there are innumerable pure oils for sale. To say that you cannot buy pure olive oil is equally absurd. But to say that it is hard to get a strictly high grade of pure olive oil is not so for from the truth as there is an endless num-

President Langstaff, of the poor board, was absent from the meeting yesterday afternoon, and Director Thomas Shotten was chosen chairman, pro tem. It was an interesting ses-sion and what engaged most particu-larly the attention of the members was the remarks made by P. J. Mullaney was present in person and by letter. missive was handed to Secretary E. J. Lyneit, who read it as follows: To the Scranton Poor Board. Gentlemen:-As a clifzen and tax pay-er, I deem it my duty to protest against such bills as are presented to your hon-orable body for payment as nurse in the house of Mr. Kendrick, who has been sick since Jan 7, 1896, to the present date Miss Kiesel has not attended the patient more than two hours at a time and did not come to the house more than three times a week, and sometimes remained not more than five minutes. If that, in your ophilon, is right we have no more to say. Mrs. Kendrick asked her to remain and help or assist her, but her excuse was that she was sick and the consequence is Mrs. Kendrick is now sick in bed. Now, gentlemen, who will take care of the children; the poor board it is about time they would ses to it and not allow such a man as Dr. Pahe to come and abase the poor people instead of auministering to their needs, which would be much more to his credit. MR. GIBBONS' DEFENSE. As soon as Mr. Lynott finished Di-rector Gibbons took the floor and in a determined style he resented the ac-cusation against Miss Klesel. He said that she is not in the employ of the poor board, but she ought to be, for she is doing noble work. He would not per-mit any one to assail her before the board of the zefore the consider any communication with ref-erence to her, since her work is under the jurisdiction of the associated char-times, and the poor board does not meet any expenses for her services. Dr. Paine was present and he made a statement. He said the father of the Kendrick family was ill of typhold fever in January and he advised that the patient be taken to the Lackawan-ma hospital. This was done, but for some reason or another Kendrick left after two days and went back home, y Dr. Paine treated him for ten days and a the end of that time Kendrick ref at the end of the fover. Miss Kiesel gave her version of the case. It was reported to the Board of Associated Charities and she went over Associated Charities and she went over to the house. Kendrick was ill and the family thought he was going to die. The patient thought so himself and thought if he had a glass of lemonade he could go over the bay with a peace-ful mind. There are also a great many brands that are pure olive oil, but of an in-ferior grade. The higher class of olive oil is from the first pressing of the best fruit, put up in such a way that it retains all its richness and sweet-ness of flavor, there is not a super-abundance in the market. The L. A. Price oil, put up by L. A. Price, of Bordeaux, is of this grade, and is certainly the equal of and by a great many good judges considered superior to any olive oil brought to America. Mr. Price is acknowledged the most par-ticular packer in France. Under his own name he puts up oil, olives sar-dines and mushrooms and when a season occurs that does not produce a high grade of any of the above he will close his factory and positively refuse to pack during that season, no matter how ur-gent the demand from this country or England may be. We handle the L. A. Price goods and know there are none better known to the trade.

There is about as much difference in the flavor of pure olive oil as there is in the flavor of pure butter.  F. P. Price, agt,
