HALE DOES NOT FAVOR WAR

Objects to Recognizing the Cubans as Belligerents.

HIS POSITION IS DEPENDED

The United States Should Not Incite Wa by Inflaming a Friendly Power. Dangers of Militairism-Other Congressional Topics.

Washington, March 9.-When the conference's report on the Cuban con-current resolution had been laid before the senate Mr. Hale (Rep., Mo.) spoke in opposition to it. He was one of the few senators, he said, who had voted against the concurrent resolutions reported from the committee on foreign relations, and he had seen no reason since to regret his action and should

All the reasons that he gave since then had grown in strength. The conditions existing did not, he believed, justify a recognition of those in rebelieved. ion against a friendly government as

There was no comparison between the conditions in Cuba and in the southern states during our rebellion when foreign governments recognized their rights as belligerents. The southern states held at time undisputed possession of a vast territory; the states had set up their own government, organized courts of justice, mobilized armies. and sustained a navy. Not one of these details had been secured in Cuba by the insurgents. The recognition granted them by foreign governments was done in courteous language and not through the passage of insulting reso-

Continuing Mr. Hale said: Under all the circumstances, the attitude of Spain was one of proper dignity. He

It was not the duty of the United States to endeavor to correct all the misuses of power in the world.

Out of all this subject Mr. Hale discovered one great danger, and that was war. He dreaded it: he was not prepared for it. The sober common sense of the American was not, he believed, in favor of war, nor did he believed the United States was prepared for it. The United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States should not incite war by inflaming a first like the United States and ther hired man, Joseph Kelly, who is almost helpless from old age, while doing chores about the barn were selzed, bound and gagged by the robbers.

The thieves then ransacked the house, taking $35 in money and other valuables. It was late in the night before the aged people could release them-selves, having suffered much from fright and exposure. United States should not incite war by inflaming a friendly power. He had been disturbed and made anxious by the growth of the desire to aggress, to in-cite trouble, and the building up of the imagery of war rather than of peace. It was militairism, and Mr. Hale depre cated it. When militairism took pos session of the minds of a great people, that people, no matter who they were, would soon be within the grasp of a strong military dictator. He did not look upon this, however, as an imme-diate danger.

Mr. Hale's speech was listened to by numerous senate and by great crowd in the galleries, the diplomatic galler being also well filled with ministers and attaches. As soon as he concluded and it became apparent that the Cuban question was to be laid aside for the day, the crowds dispersed.

OUTLAW'S FIENDISH PLOT.

The Widow of the Centre County Desperado Reveals Ilis Revengeful Scheme After He Is Dead.

Bellefonte, Pa., March 9.—A strange and weird funeral was that of the out-law, Wm. Etlinger, at Woodward. An inquest was held on the body of the desperade, who had shot himself to es-cape capture. The jury was unable to determine who did the killing of Constable Barner, as Mrs. Etlinger was the only person seen by those outside when the ftaal shot was fired. The brother and the widow of the outlaw refused to have anything to do with his body, and the overseers of the poor took it in charge, placed it in a hastily construct-ed coffin and hurled it on the mountain. It was hauled in a farm wagon half a mile east of the village, and laid in the lonely grave in the Narrows.

Mr. Hale then reviewed the history of the previous insurrection in Cuba and the action of the house then, which was almost identical with that had at this time.

He cited quotations from President Grant's message sent to congress during the previous insurrection, declaring they were applicable to the present day. General Grant's doctrine of belligerency should, Mr. Hale said, be accepted today as the doctrine of this country.

Shoots One Man Dead and Patally Wounds Two or Three Others.

AWPUL TRAGEDY AT ONTARIO

Hunter Named Lapoint Enters the Town of Brockville and Shoots Right and Left with a Double-Barrelled Shot Gun.

Brockville, Ont., March 9.—One of the most terrible tragedies ever enacted here occurred shortly before noon today resulting in the instant death of one man, the probable fatal wounding of two or three others and the injury of seven more. About 11.45 a man named Lapoint made his appearance on Perth street carrying a double barreled breech loading shot gun. When almost opposite the opera house block he met an old man named Peter Moore and raising the gun to his shoulder took deliberate aim and shot him dead. Brockville, Ont., March 9.—One of the took deliberate aim and shot him dead. Chief of Police Rose was coming out of his office at police headquarters at this moment and ran toward the scene this moment and ran toward the scene of the tragedy. Lapoint shot at him, the charge taking effect in his breast and head. Lapoint then fired at an old Indian named Dickson who was standing near the corner, the charge entering his head and neck. Constable Linsley now arrived on the scene and found Lapoint, who had his pocket full of centridges, shouting right and left.

A large crowd had gathered, but everybody was afraid to go near Lapoint, who was evidently insane. Linsley shot at Lapoint with his revolver, but missed him, and before he could shoot a second time Lapoint shot him in the head and neck. A young man picked up the constable's revolver and going to the upstairs window of a store opposite the maniac fired at and struck him. Wheeling quicker than light-ning, Lapoint fired into the window, smashing it to atoms. He then dropped and was quickly captured and placed in the cell of a police station placed in the cell of a police station which was not over fifty yards away. Chief Rose is terribly wounded and it is doubtful whether he will live. Constable Linsley is badly wounded, but will recover. The Indian, Dickson, will also recover. Other persons wounded, but not seriously, are Sam Kilborn, Robert Boyd, Fred and George Stagg, Robert McCormack and Thomas Deboreau.

Lapoint, who is about 40 years old, lives about eight miles from town. He is an expert shot and spends most of his time hunting. He has shown signs of insanity at times. Lately he has been drinking heavily.
