The idea was laughed at as an extravagant inven-tion; but it is after all, not as absurd white and gold In looking up the law pertaining to as some of the critics imagined. It is said that many beekeeners, intent on producing a novel luxury, are now ex-perimenting on these lines. In this country many distinctive Odd Dictures

In this country many distinctive flavors are recognized in honey, from the clover and the sage downward, and any one who has tasted the logwood blossom-scented honey of the tropics will never forget it. In the artificial production of flavaged honey the dif-ficulty lies not in providing for the prop-er feeding for the bees, for this can be done. Of greater need is the educating of the galate of the average consumer, to whom honey is merely honey, a breakfast-table relish, varying in qual-ity hardly more than salt. er this ground, Mr. Chittenden has pre-pared a resolution providing that the city insure itself against such a con-tingency in some reliable surety com-pany. The resolution would have been introduced last night had select council
