THERE WAS NO QUORUM

Although There Was Plenty of Material About to Make One.

FERBER MATTER GOES OVER

Captain Moir Makes Another "Reform" Speech—Mills Was His Inspiration. Bids for Erecting Noy Aug Engine House Received—Other Matters.

Select council could not muster a quorum last night and the fight on Chief Ferber's appointment consequently goes over until Thursday night.
 There were fifteen members in and about the meeting room at 8 o'clock but it was impossible to get together for more than one hour. Finally President Westfall became convinced that a majority of the members were not in favor of the nomination of Chief Ferber, with only five members in their seats he ordered the roll call. Messrs. Roche, Schwenk, Manley, Fellows and Westfall were present. Chief Ferber responded and when no quorum was declared, adjournment was made until next Thursday night, when a regular meeting is scheduled.
 There was a large crowd of spectators in attendance to see the expected fun but they were compelled to go away unsatisfied. It was expected that the fire department committee would have a meeting previous to the council meeting, but a quorum of that body also failed to materialize. The roll call which was also to have come up last night went over until next meeting with the fire department appointments.

BUSY SESSION OF COMMON.

Captain Moir took advantage of his position as common councilman last night to make an attack on Mayor Connel, using as the basis of his criticism the unimportant statement of ex-councilman Thomas E. Mills. He claimed that the mayor has dismissed because of charges made against him by two young girls. The immediate occasion of the attack was the statement of the mayor of a resolution granting Mills $250 salary for the time that he was idle, which was from Nov. 21, until March 1, when, notified by the council, he resigned. He introduced a resolution which would have investigated his case. Who introduced the resolution is not known and although several spoke in favor of it no one would vote for it. He claimed that it was found on his desk and that Chairman Grier told him to read it, when his attention was called to it. It read as follows:
 Whereas, Police Officer Thomas Mills has been suspended from duty since Nov. 21, 1895, and that during that time the investigation into his case has been ready and willing to perform his duty as a patrolman as soon as notified of his reinstatement;
 Whereas, the mayor has now made his removal absolute, and that he is not to be reinstated hereafter;
 Resolved, by the common council, that the select council concurring, that the chief of police of the city be authorized and directed to issue a city warrant to send Thomas E. Mills to the county jail in full and fifty dollars, with payment in full for the time suspended to March 1, 1896.

Several councilmen were on their feet in an instant with their "right government" speeches. One of them, Captain Moir, made remarks which will no doubt be remembered for a long time because they were made by Captain Moir, not because of the personality of Captain Moir, but because his remarks have a connection with a political party, which attracted widespread attention and in which the captain was an incident. In a disconnected sort of way the captain went on to say:
 WHAT THE CAPTAIN SAID.
 "The mayor had no reason to keep this man in suspense so long—yes, yes, he had no reason. The reason, I know the reason, we know the reason. Mills went around with tears in his eyes as big as peas asking his friends to vote for a certain set of delegates. There's the reason. Why didn't he dismiss him before election?  WHAT THE CAPTAIN SAID.
 "The mayor had no reason to keep this man in suspense so long—yes, yes, he had no reason. The reason, I know the reason, we know the reason. Mills went around with tears in his eyes as big as peas asking his friends to vote for a certain set of delegates. There's the reason. Why didn't he dismiss him before election? He was tooting his horn in the papers and other places, and he was tooting it, which attracted widespread attention and in which the captain was an incident. In a disconnected sort of way the captain went on to say:
