SCRANTON BUSINESS COLLEGE

A number of new students entered this week.

A two months' record—one hundred and two names added to the rolls since the holidays. Few schools can boast of such a record.

Three requests for stenographers recently. Only two students, ready to fill positions, who are unemployed. These two passed their final examinations but the other day.

Better yet, no student yet sent out has proven to be other than just what he was recommended to be. Business men come a second and third time.

H. D. Buck and A. R. Whitmore have had respectively 15 years and 11 years successful experience as teachers. This does not include many years spent in night school work. The average teaching experience of the other members of the faculty is 10 years. All are earnest and conscientious workers. These facts account for the wonderful success that attends this institution.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING

Matter of Sewer on the South Side Is Agreed Upon.

EXTENSION OF CHERRY STREET

That Improvement Is to Be Urged for a Number of Reasons—Mr. P. Judge Chosen President of the Board.

An interesting meeting of the South Side board of trade was held last evening. President C. G. Boland called the session to order and being forced to answer an engagement elsewhere he asked the indulgence of the members and withdrew. John Scheuer presided the remainder of the meeting.

The sewer question was brought under discussion by him. He advocated that the South Side be rearranged in different lines for a sewer district, creating a new one which will embrace the Nineteenth and Twentieth wards, and that portion of the Eleventh not already sewered. This idea met with general approval and was discussed in commendatory terms. The Twelfth ward will be entirely eliminated from the sewer district.

The residents of that ward have been, with few exceptions, opposed to a sewer, but an unanimous feeling in its favor among the persons who will have to stand the expense of constructing it.

Mr. Scheuer's motion the committee on sewers, which consists of C. W. Westphal, M. P. Judge, P. A. Cavanaugh, S. S. Spruks, Christian Storr and Mr. Scheuer, who was added to it, will confer with the sewers and drains committee of councils and City Engineer Phillips with reference to the matter.

In the views expressed by the members who took part in the discussion it was the general sentiment that the South Side is sadly in need of better streets and a sewer.

STREET IMPROVEMENT.

Another branch of this subject was introduced by D. P. Murray, who reported that committee of the South Scranton Wheelmen's club has been at work for some time making preparations for a public meeting at Germania hall for the purpose of agitating street improvement. The board of trade is working in conjunction with the Wheelmen's club on this matter, and the committee of both will meet next Monday evening at 7:30 at Germania hall to fix the date and transact whatever else is needed. One of the speakers at the public meeting will be W. J. Burke, who is a member of the board of trade and an ardent enthusiast on this subject.

The main purpose of the meeting is to prove to the taxpayers that it is as cheap to have good streets as poor ones if you go about it in the right way. Mr. Judge spoke in favor of the movement and believed that public meetings for all the wards would result beneficially. The idea was advanced that the board should advocate the expenditure of ward appropriations by the street commissioners and that they should be authorized all power of employing men on the streets.

OPENING OF CHERRY STREET.

The opening of Cherry street to South Washington avenue was considered and the secretary was instructed to communicate with the city officials and the board of trade to see that the ordinance is not passed, but inoperative as yet because the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company has neglected to comply with its provisions, he respecting the company and its failure to comply with its provisions without further delay. The ordinance provides that the platform at the Steel Works station, being built on Cherry street, be at once removed in order that the street may be opened. The ordinance removes the crossing from where it now is, between Pine and Cherry streets, and places it at the extension of Cherry street. The members in discussing the motion all agreed that it is a crying shame to permit the condition at this crossing to remain as it has so long. There are upwards of 1,500 girls employed in the Saugou silk mill, and for their protection the streets ought to be changed. The girls coming out of the factory in winter evenings are tempted to get on the railroad tracks to get off the muddy street, and they risk the danger of getting run down by passing trains.

MR. JUDGE PRESIDENT.

It has been the custom in the past to nominate officers in March and elect them in April. The manner of choosing officers is discretionary and the usual rule was discarded last night. Nominations were made and election followed. M. P. Judge was nominated and elected president, and will make a most efficient and careful officer. Mr. Boland declined a re-election, which was pressed upon him. M. J. O'Toole, who has filled the position of secretary for two years with ability and uniform courtesy, prefers to go back on the floor of the organization.

Thomas A. Donahue, of the Truth, was chosen to succeed him. Mr. Donahue will acquit himself with credit, no doubt. Michael Miller was re-elected treasurer, and Henry J. Spruks was chosen again as vice-president.

POLITICAL CHIT-CHAT.

The announcement in the Tribune that the friends in the city who are calmly allow their favorite to be given a slap by the Lackawanna delegation has kept the political gossipers busy for the last few days and the matter has been argued and discussed in all of its many-sided phases. The men who were elected Tuesday night appear to accept the situation with a good grace. The matter will be made to contest their seats in a state convention. Sald one of them yesterday who assisted in electing them: "No matter what talk may be indulged in about Postmaster F. M. Vandling having credentials to represent the First Legislative district in the state convention he has no right whatever to warm a seat in that body for the reason that he was not elected during the year in which the convention will be held as required by the state rules. Another matter of considerable importance is the election of delegates in the legislative district of the county even if it was legal to do so, which I very seriously question."

The injured man was struck on the head with a chair in the house of John Shambush during a celebration incident to a christening. The man died the day after.

The other murder case is the one in which John J. Rafter of Green Ridge, lost his life from the effects of two

SCRANTON MEN ACTIVE

They Figured Extensively in the Reading Municipal Convention.

MR. TORREY GIVEN FIRST PLACE

He Is Made Chairman of the Permanent Committee of City Solicitors Which Will Frame Amendments—A Talk on the Work of the Convention.

The Scranton delegation to the Reading convention returned yesterday, well satisfied with the work that was done there. As indicated in the United Press reports Scranton figured extensively in the doings of the convention. The Reading "Tribune" was made chairman of the executive committee, composed of the city solicitors of all the cities represented, which is the principal office of the convention. The Scranton delegates did some quiet work towards having Mr. Torrey made chairman of the convention, and had succeeded in winning over the committee on nominations, but just before the committee retired to frame its report Mr. Torrey had his name withdrawn, as an act of courtesy to the Reading people who wanted one of their men honored with the position. The outcome of affairs showed that this was the best arrangement after all, for as stated above Mr. Torrey was given the most important position created by the convention. This committee has been called to meet in this city on May 25. It will then proceed to frame what amendments it is proposed to have introduced at the next session of the legislature.

WORK OF THE CONVENTION.

Mr. Torrey, when seen yesterday afternoon by a Tribune reporter, gave the following interesting resume of the work of the convention:

"There were fifteen cities represented in the convention by about seventy delegates. The convention having no definite formulated business, it was necessary to have a preliminary and tentative. It was recognized that it would be impossible to adequately discuss such changes in the city charter as might be suggested by the numerous delegates in such a convention without any previous formulation of the changes. The convention, therefore, at its first session, after selecting the chairman, secretary and organizing, appointed a committee to recommend an order of business for the convention and a scheme of future work. Of this committee Scranton was accorded the chairmanship. Its meetings upon Thursday, the convention adopted the report of this committee, which provided that the city solicitors of all the states should constitute a committee to which should be referred all proposed changes in the municipal law, and which committee should formulate such changes in proper form for presentation to the legislature, and submit them to an adjourned meeting of the convention, which was fixed to be held in Williamsport, Pa., on the 25th of May. The city solicitors present in the convention organized by electing the city solicitor of Scranton as its chairman, and the city solicitor of Chester, Mr. Cowley, as secretary. Mr. Torrey and City Solicitor Stuart, of Carbonate, corresponding secretary, and the first meeting of the committee was held at Scranton on Friday, May 10. The remainder of the sessions of the convention of Thursday were occupied in the brief presentation by delegates of such complaints and criticisms of the present working of the municipal act of 1874, as it had discovered by them, and as to which changes were desired.

SENTIMENT NOT RADICAL.

It may safely be said that the general sentiment of the convention was rather conservative. It was not intended that it was not deemed wise to throw overboard the frame of municipal government which we now have, and which in many respects is well adapted to our needs, and which has been in force for over twenty years in use, and has been twice within that time entirely revised and frequently amended, and which has in many of its provisions been already construed and its meaning fixed by the decisions of the courts, and strike out upon some new scheme of municipal government. The suggestions, however plausible, of the advantages to be derived from the change. A great deal was said in the convention in the new provisions upon reference to "home rule" for cities, but it was difficult to understand precisely what was meant by that phrase, inasmuch as the term has been used to signify the constitution of 1874 no special legislative interference with local self-government, and has been used to signify expressed desire to secure a greater degree of flexibility in the act so that it might be adapted more perfectly to the needs of the larger and smaller cities of the class; and there is no doubt that in many of the changes which may be made such flexibility will be secured, and that the act will be so amended as to be in full compliance with the general legislation. It was found among the representatives of the cities assembled that the matters which give the most annoyance and anxiety in the city of Scranton, were not so much the result of defects in past legislation or requirements for new legislation, as they were in the constitution of the city government as it is interpreted by the supreme court, so that upon those subjects the cities, the convention, and the legislature are an equal power to accomplish any beneficial results. A large number of matters were suggested and cursorily discussed, but will be incorporated in the suggestions for amendments to the municipal act, and many of which would no doubt be of advantage to the cities.

The members of the convention were most generously and hospitably entertained by the council and citizens of Reading, and a bounteous dinner was tendered them at the Mineral Springs park, belonging to the city, on Thursday afternoon, and only the blizzard prevented one or two short excursions which had been planned and arranged for."

That some will not be granted is beyond doubt, but the court has not given many intimations while the applications were being heard to base any conclusion on as to what will be done. All the old houses will likely be licensed, and only those new ones will be licensed which have been shown to be a necessity.

BOCK BEER CARD.

Mr. Joseph Glennon, of the firm of Hughes & Glennon, the Pittston brewers, has designed a magnificent Bock Beer card. The card contains portraits of the most prominent candidates for the Presidency. Mr. Cleveland stands aloof from the group, to whom he is delivering an address. He wears upon his lapel a third term badge, and rests his left hand on Hughes & Glennon's mascot bock goat. The right hand is extended to impress his hearers with his last words, which were, "The Union and Hughes & Glennon's Bock Beer forever."

Hughes & Glennon's Bock Beer is better this year than ever.

This is due to the artesian well from which the firm obtains the pure crystal deep rock used in making the beer. No imported beer can compare with the Forest Castle Beer. Drink it down! Drink it down!
