Election of State Delegates by County Committee Meets with Approval.

Adopted at Last Night's Meeting of the Democratic Standing Committee of the Second Legislative District After a Spirited Debate.

Anti-Harrity men swayed the Dem-Anti-Harrity men swayed the Democratic committee of the Second Legislative district last night at its meeting in the St. Charles hotel held to protest against the action taken by the substitutes for committeemen in the same place at noon Wednesday.

A radical resolution was adopted strongly condemning the action of the men who met Wednesday, relinquishing whatever right legislative standing committees may have to elect state delegates and finally endorsing the action of the county committee in elect-ing state delegates. As a compromise the antis allowed a few words at the end of the resolution approving the to interview him were met by his as-surance that he could not speak or un-derstand English, although he is known committee's choice of state delegates to be stricken out. That was only done after a very stubborn debate, during which the motion to adopt the resolutrepreter for his countrymen on sev-eral occasions. Through an interpreter, however, he gave to a Tribune reporter tion was lost on a tie vote.

The members of the legislative committee were very much excited when they learned of the action of the sub-stitutes in the St. Charles hotel, and in response to their wishes M. J. Donahoe the chairman, called a meeting of the of the presence of the blood stains.

Grishka said that on March 10, a pay day at the Brisbin mine, where he worked, he slipped and fell on his face. His nose bled and some of the blood got on his overcoat. The coat he did not again use until the Wednesday morning when Mickus' body was found. He said that he picked it u hurriedly when told of the finding of the body, and hurried to the scene, where Coroner Longstreet noticed the real committee for last night. The following attended it: Eighth ward, T. C. Melvin; Ninth ward, T. P. Hoban; Tenth ward, John Butterman, jr.; Eleventh ward, Fred Kirchoff; Twelfth ward, David Clark; Thirteenth ward, M. J. Cadden; Sixteenth ward, John F. Murphy; Twentieth ward, M. J. Dona-

COMMITTEE ORGANIZED. Although Mr. Donahoe is chairman of the committee, he suggested that it would be better to proceed to organization, as a majority of the committee was present. He was chosen chairman and John F. Murphy secretary. These details completed, M. J. Cadden offered The story may be true, but there are many plausible reasons for doubting less he is without arms. It appears improbable, also, that he had not worn the following resolution, and moved its adoption, T. C. Melvin seconding the adoption, T. C. Melvin seconding the motion:

Resolved, That the members of the Second legislative district committee repudicate the action of the gentlemen who as sembled at the St. Charles hotel March 22, 1886, and constituted themselves members of said committee without any authority and proceeded to elect from araong their members delegates to attend the state convention. We also desire to call the attention of the chizens of the Second district to the method they pursued in making the call by attenhing the names of committeemen without their consent, and serving but twenty minutes' notice on the regular appointed committee to attend their pre-arranged gathering.

The appointing of delegates to attend the state convention was irregular, as the rules of the Democratic party of Lackawanna county are that all delegates to the state convention shall be elected by the county convention with a provise that if no county convention is held previous to the state convention the state delegates are to be elected by the direct representatives of the county convention, namely the county convention the state delegates was ignored at the last election of state delegates was ignored at the last election of state delegates by these very gentlemen who called the snap gathering on Wednesday. As they held, and correctly so, that the resolution was out of order, it being offered at a convention called together for another purpose and did not specify that business should be transacted except the nominating of candidates for certain offices and when those nominations were made the convention had no power to transact any further business.

The county committee having compiled with all the rules relating to the election of state delegates, we endorse their action and approve their selection of state delegates. the coat since March 10, as since that motion: date there has been some cold weather and two days of heavy snow. SPIRITED DEBATE FOLLOWED. This resolution percipitated a spirit-ed debate in which all of the members of the committee participated. Mr. Ho-ban was in favor of moving cautiously. He would like to know if the legislatthe various corps of the Salvation army in Pennsylvania for a large silk Ameri-can flag, offered by headquarters for should not be recognized. To this Mr. Hoban retorted: "We claim that the county committee usurped our rights when it named these delegates and we would be stultifying ourselves by endorsing their action." Mr. Murphy did not see the matter in that light and said that if the commit-tee was satisfied with the delegates for the Second district elected by the county committee they ought to be endorsed. Chairman Donahoe entered a protest against the adoption of the resolution. He said that the action of the men who met Wednesday should be condemned in the strongest terms, but on the other hand the county committee should not be endorsed for he was not sure that its members were not also in the wrong. At all events it would not help the the work of a omnipresent detective, who acts like oil on turbulent waters. placed the committee in the position of going out of its way to take up a

> RULES FOR TWELVE YEARS. Mr. Cadden thought that they could with great propriety endorse the action of the county committee, of which he is also a member, for the committee represents the people of the county and they would therefore be simply endorsing the action of the people of the coun-ty and therefore their own action. This bit of logic quite staggered and sub-merged the members of the committee. Mr. Melvin was the first to come to the surface. He said the county committee had been electing state delegates for twelve years and the practice can only be changed at a convention called for that purpose. Mr. Murphy was unable to see how a county convention, such as adopted the Burke resolution, could legislate for a legislative district.

Mr. Kirchoff objected to the latter part of the resolution endorsing the action of the county committee, and Chairman Donahoe declared that the only thing for them to do was to de cide whether or not they would call a convention to elect state delegates. A demand was made by Cadden and others that the resolution be put before the body, and it was lost on a tie vote. Melvin, Cadden, Murray and Clark voting for the adoption of the resolution and Hoban, Kirchoff, Butterman and Donahoe against it.

Mr. Donahoe said that he thought it would be a judicious thing for the committee said that he thought it would to straddle the county committee matter, but Mr. Melvin stoutly objected to such proceeding. He said he never admired a straddler.

Mr. Kirchoff, who had up to this point been opposed to any endorsement of the county committee's action point been opposed to any endorsement of the county committee's' action, showed a disposition to make conces-sions, and said he would be satisfied if the words approving of the county committee's choice of state delegates were eliminated from the resolution. This was an unimportant feature of the resolution

It was then taken up of sections and adopted, with the exception of the fol-lowing closing words: "And approve their selection of state delegates." Mr. Donahoe called the attention of the committeemen to the strong language in which the unqualified endorsement of the county committee's action was couched, but the sections containing the endorsement were adopted, neverthe-
