SEIZURE OF ARMS.

Philadelphia, March 20.—From information received here today by the editors of arms and ammunition made yesterday by the Spanish in Cuba is not so important as the official despatches that have been received from the front. The munitions seized were not those taken out on the Mallory, but were from the schooner Arkell. The Arkell was at anchor at a place called El Varadero, about three miles from the shore. The men on the Arkell abandoned the vessel in the night and escaped to the shore. The Arkell seized the Arkell and 145 cases of ammunition.

LEAPED FROM A TRAIN.

Jim Fouk, a Burglar, Makes a Daring Leap. Harrisburg, Pa., March 20.—Jim Fouk, a house-breaker, and who is also known as a pugilist, escaped from Constable Redmond, of this city on a night, forty miles east of Pittsburgh. Fouk broke into a house in Harrisburg two years ago and was captured soon afterward. He escaped while being taken to the penitentiary by a fugitive. Chief of Police Anderson traced him from place to place and on Tuesday he was located at Pittsburgh and arrested. Constable Redmond left Harrisburg with his revolver and a Pennsylvania railroad train on the way Fouk complained that the "nippers" gave him pain and asked for a dose of whiskey. The constable was complying with the request when the man made a sudden plunge from the front door of the car. The train was running at the rate of forty miles an hour and the constable was unable to catch him. Fouk made his escape, but no trace of him could be found.

TRAGEDY AT FOREST CITY.

Frank Kregg, an Austrian, Shoots His Wife and Then Commits Suicide. Forest City, March 20.—A terrible tragedy took place in this borough shortly after 12 o'clock this morning, when Frank Kregg, an Austrian, shot his wife and then killed himself by performing his chest with bullet holes almost instantly. Mrs. Kregg will live, but Kregg died almost instantly. Sometime in April last the suicide would-be murderer quarrelled with his wife and left her going to Kansas. The couple had two children, girls, aged 4 and 2 years. Mrs. Kregg never heard from her husband but worked and supported her small family. With her, at her small home on Upper Main street, lived her mother, whose name is Madalene Payzell. In the house next to them lived Joseph Payzell, a brother of Mrs. Kregg. Last Sunday Joseph Payzell was surprised to see Frank Kregg walk up to the house and salute him in a friendly manner as if he had never deserted his family. Payzell took his professed husband to the house and stayed there until Tuesday. Tuesday morning Kregg came down town and hired a livery horse from C. M. Leonard. He also proceeded to get very drunk. He drove up and down the streets furiously and in the afternoon was arrested for drunkenness. He stayed in the borough lock-up all night and in the morning was fined $5. Later Wednesday he was re-arrested for cruelty to animals and fined $10 and costs. He then went back to the house of his brother-in-law and slept there Wednesday night. Thursday morning about 8 o'clock he went to the house of his wife and was there until 11 o'clock. He conversed with his brother-in-law, but his wife would have nothing to say to him. Just before noon he left and came back again at 4 p. m. From then he stayed there until about 10 o'clock. The crime that yesterday morning threw the community into a state of excitement.

THE ATTACK BEGUN.

About midnight he was sitting talking to Mrs. Payzell, who he asked where his shirts were that he had left there. She told him she would get them for him and called to Mrs. Kregg to hold a light for him. They started into the bedroom from off the kitchen when Kregg, who was in the sitting room, drew a thirty-eight calibre revolver and shot at his wife. His aim was wild, for the bullet hit the door. They started into the door between the sitting room and kitchen. Mrs. Kregg and her mother ran into the small bedroom and closed the door. Kregg followed and kicked the front door open by the table, and the women. Again the man discharged his weapon and the wife threw up her hands and cried: "Jesus, Joseph and Mary! I am shot." Her mother succeeded in another position, the door and the daughter, who had risen jumped out of a window and escaped to the house of her brother. Kregg went out to search for her, but came back, locked the front door, and went into the bedroom and laid the revolver with which he had tried to kill his wife on the table, took another one of thirty-two calibre revolver and pointed it into his throat and one into his chest, over the region of his heart. His mother-in-law then heard something fall and rushed out of the house, crying to her son-in-law to get up. "Frank has shot himself," Dr. Blakelee was sent for and he and Payzell started to investigate. They found the 38-calibre revolver on the table, with three chambers empty and the bullet one lying by the chair on which Kregg had sat. He had evidently tried to get up and had pitched forward on his face. He was lying in a pool of blood. Justice D. R. Braman, was called up and he hastily empaneled a jury. They viewed the remains, took evidence, examined the surroundings and yesterday a noon brought in a verdict that the deceased came to his death by reason of bullet wounds inflicted by himself. The bullet that struck Mrs. Kregg, entered the right side about two inches below the breast, but fortunately struck a rib, which it followed around. The bullet is still in her body, but she is not considered dangerously wounded. Kregg presented a ghastly sight. His neck was singed he had held the revolver so close and he lay in a pool of blood. The Kregg family came from Liebach, Austria, in 1891.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Thirteen Freight Cars Dash Down a Hill. Baltimore, March 20.—Thirteen freight cars broke loose from a Western Maryland railroad train in Union Tunnel, near Forest station, tonight. The cars ran backward 200 yards down a steep grade, but were finally brought to a standstill. Immediately after the break another section of ten cars became detached from the train, and dashed backward. Brakeman Ellos was caught in the crash that followed and instantly killed. Five cars were thrown from the track by the collision and both tracks were blocked for several hours. Ellos was 27 years old. His parents live at New Freedom, Pa. MILLIKEN JURY OUT. Twelve Men Selected to Decide This Peculiar Case Still Deliberate. Washington, March 20.—The jury in the case of R. H. Milliken, ex-secretary of Senator Harris, of Tennessee, accused of feloniously entering the house of ex-Solicitor General Phillips with a rifle, was selected tonight. The jury consisted of Judge Phillips, retired at 114.5 a. m. to consider their verdict. At 8 o'clock this evening, not having agreed upon a verdict, they were locked up for the night. Negro Delegates. Schenectady, N. Y., March 20.—The Twenty-first congressional district convention in session here this afternoon nominated delegates to St. Louis, Resolutions recommending Morton for president were adopted. Killed by Barricade. West Chester, Pa., March 20.—This afternoon Daniel Green died in the hospital here from the effects of a pistol shot wound received at the hands of one of a gang of burglars at Lincoln a few days ago, whom he was assisting to arrest.

REAL JEKYLL AND HYDE.

Stzelecki Was a Literary Man by Day and a Burglar by Night—Boston's Educated Crook Robs Fifty Flats. Boston, March 20.—A Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde episode in real life has come to light through the capture of Charles S. Stzelecki, a protégé of Edward Everett Hale, D. D., who has always been regarded in New York as a refined and intelligent young man, and for a year has been leading a dual life here to the complete mystification of his neighbors. While writing book reviews and editorials for the Commonwealth, Dr. Hale's paper, he has committed burglaries in about fifty flats and residences in the fashionable Back Bay. He was caught last night just as he was leaving the pawnshop of Louis Einstein, 21 Pleasant street, where he went to dispose of stolen silverware. Later at the station house he confessed all. The amount of plunder reaches well into the thousands. He has done it all in two months. He came from abroad when a mere boy, was educated in New York, where he attended college, and came from there to this city a year ago. He was not long before he wandered into the office of Dr. Hale, at 3 Hamilton Place, in search of work. Dr. Hale took him to the work well, and several of his reviews have appeared in the Commonwealth's columns with his signature attached.

STZELECKI CONFESSES.

He remained there until about three months ago, when Dr. Hale secured him another position, but he did not increase his salary, as requested. He remained there about six weeks, and has had no regular work since, although continuing to write for the Commonwealth. For the last two months he has been working in a pawnshop in the Back Bay has been systematically worked by an unknown burglar, and the police could not discover the slightest clue until last night, when he was found some of the plunder in a pawnshop. They camped there for ten days, and last night Stzelecki came in with a bag of stolen goods. He coolly suggested that the officers might have made a mistake, but at the station house confessed the whole business. They found a chisel in his trousers leg and some empty keys in his pocket. "What are these for?" they asked. "Well, I suppose I am as well tell the whole truth—I am a burglar. You have caught me at last. I used the chisel to get into the window, and several of the things I got out without being caught. I saw it was easy work, so I kept it up."

SPRINGTIME BLIZZARD.

Heavy Snow Storms in Canada and Northern New York. Montreal, March 20.—A heavy snow storm has prevailed all over this section for the last twenty-four hours. Already the fall measures a foot, and three quarters on the level, the largest in many years. Railway traffic is much interrupted. Toronto, Ont., March 20.—One of the worst snow storms that we have seen so far as its effects on railway traffic is concerned, has been raging all over Ontario for the past twenty-four hours. Already the fall measures a foot, and three quarters on the level, the largest in many years. Railway traffic is much interrupted. Watertown, N. Y., March 20.—A blizzard has prevailed throughout Northern New York today, blocking the highways with drifts of new snow and delaying trains on all parts of the Rome, Watertown and Ogdensburg line. The road is kept open except the Cape Vincent branch, which has been closed twenty-four hours.

FREIGHT TRAIN WRECK.

Narrow Escape of Railroaders on the Pennsylvania. Williamsport, Pa., March 20.—At 2 o'clock this morning a Pennsylvania east bound freight train was derailed in South Williamsport, and the locomotive and nine cars were wrecked. The switch lock had been broken open and the track set to throw the train on a short siding. The engineer and fireman saved themselves by jumping. J. A. Howard, a tramp, is under arrest on suspicion.

Mrs. Kregg and Mother Battle to Keep the Blood-Thirsty Husband from Accomplishing His Purpose. Hit by Third Bullet. Special to the Scranton Tribune. Forest City, March 20.—A terrible tragedy took place in this borough shortly after 12 o'clock this morning, when Frank Kregg, an Austrian, shot his wife and then killed himself by performing his chest with bullet holes almost instantly. Mrs. Kregg will live, but Kregg died almost instantly. Sometime in April last the suicide would-be murderer quarrelled with his wife and left her going to Kansas. The couple had two children, girls, aged 4 and 2 years. Mrs. Kregg never heard from her husband but worked and supported her small family. With her, at her small home on Upper Main street, lived her mother, whose name is Madalene Payzell. In the house next to them lived Joseph Payzell, a brother of Mrs. Kregg. Last Sunday Joseph Payzell was surprised to see Frank Kregg walk up to the house and salute him in a friendly manner as if he had never deserted his family. Payzell took his professed husband to the house and stayed there until Tuesday. Tuesday morning Kregg came down town and hired a livery horse from C. M. Leonard. He also proceeded to get very drunk. He drove up and down the streets furiously and in the afternoon was arrested for drunkenness. He stayed in the borough lock-up all night and in the morning was fined $5. Later Wednesday he was re-arrested for cruelty to animals and fined $10 and costs. He then went back to the house of his brother-in-law and slept there Wednesday night. Thursday morning about 8 o'clock he went to the house of his wife and was there until 11 o'clock. He conversed with his brother-in-law, but his wife would have nothing to say to him. Just before noon he left and came back again at 4 p. m. From then he stayed there until about 10 o'clock. The crime that yesterday morning threw the community into a state of excitement.

WOMEN STRUGGLE FOR LIFE
