RELIGIOUS MANIAC.

William Hicks' Mind Unhinged and Creates a Good Beal of Excitement. William Hicks, a respectable young married man engaged in the butchering business, was taken in charge yesterbusiness, was taken in charge yester-day morning by the authorities and was examined as to his sanity by phys-icians by order of the poor department. He resided with his wife and four children on Archbald street, was in comfortable circumstances and lived happily. Sometime ago he net with an accident while driving a van in Forest City, and, as it is said, had an injury to his fread. There has appeared symm-toms of eccentricity in his actions and for weeks he has developed a religious for weeks he has developed a religious mania. It was not, however, until last week at the convention of the Christian Reserve mission held in the Weish Reserve mission held in the Welsh McGoodist church, that he actually McDrodist church, that he actually broke forth.

He attended the first meeting on Thursday morning of last week, and appeared to be rational while the meeting proceeded, until the experience portion came. Then he got up and in terms full of fervor, he related how he had been converted by reading a letter from his dear mother, who resides across the sea in England, and he vividity described the effect the letter had upon him, that he fell on his knees and consecrated himself body and soul to serve the Lord, placing as a sacrifice all he possessed in the world, his business, his property, his wife and family, and to devote his whole time to spread the work of the gospel of Jesus Christ. The people of the Reseace mission shouted for joy and owing to this Mr. Hicks grew very cathusiastic. He Hicks grew very enthusiastic. He spoke all the time. At the afternoon meeting, he talked again incessantly and the mission workers kept shouting

Between the meetings he called upon his customers, praying and talking about his mission to preach the gospel and how he had been converted. He carried his Bible in his hand and said carried his lible in his hand and said that was all he had in the world, all clise he had placed at the altar of God. However, at the night's meeting, he reached the zenith of excitement, jumping, crying and walking around, the rescuers willing to give him prominence. The following morning, Friday, he was in the meeting and continued in a religious heat all the day. He caused excitement at the several meetings by his shouting and wild talk. He has continued from then until now. meetings by his shouting and who talk. He has continued from then until now. Sunday he attended service at the Presbyterian church, and he got un to the pastor, ascending the staltease of the pulpit. He persuaded him to withdraw and sit among the audience.

Then he attended the men's meeting the Methodist Episcopal church in the afternoon and created a disturb-

The whole of this week he has gone about the streets, calling upon the merchants is their stores and hotels; then, on borseback, made himself very prominent. Tuesdry evening his little girl chilled the neighbors, and fearing he would do bodlly harm to his dear s, they decided to stay with him during the night Wednesday morning, upon authority from the board of poor directors, Officer Nearty, with the assistance of John Gibbs, who only had influence only and interest the control of the city building. It required four men to get him into the building. Once placed it the cell he seamed to get worse, his language changed to blasphemy and scripture. The poor board took charge of the demented man and summoned doctors, who decided that he should be sent to the Danville asylum. He was to be taken to Danville by the o'clock train, but they failed to get him out of the cell.
