THEIR NEW PASTOR.

Rev. J. B. Sweet, the newly appointed pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, is a gentleman of much promise and not a little fulfillment. He is not as experienced in the pulpit as is Dr. Floyd, but his old pastorates have been eminently satisfied with his work. He is about 40 years of age, is married and has two sons and one daughter. Mr. Sweet appeals especially to the young people of the church. He clerked in the Globe Warehouse several years ago and he is quite well known on this side.

A CARD OF THANKS.

Editor of The Tribune.

Sir:—Will you permit me, through the columns of your paper, to express, on behalf of the membership of the Railroad department of the Young Men's Christian association, our hearty thanks to all who helped to make the production of "The Messiah" a success. We desire especially to thank Professor Haydn Evans and the members of the Choral union, whose faithful work during the past four months made the production of the oratorio possible; also the patronesses whose practical interest aided materially in making the affair a success. Our thanks are also due to Mr. J. Henry McKinley, of New York, to whom we are indebted for many favors; to Mr. G. R. Clark for floral decorations; to the officials of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad for their assistance; to the city Young Men's Christian association for the use of their hall; to the press of the city; to the advertisers in the programme and to the public whose hearty support while it was given, no doubt, on account of the magnificent programme presented, we are pleased also to construe into an expression of favor toward our work.

The committee in charge of "The Messiah" request that parties holding ticket orders make returns as soon as possible, as it is desired to close up the finances during the present week.

Miss Yettie Pontius, cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid, and Jacob Pontius, brother of the groom, was groomsman. The gowns of the bride and her maid were of tan cashmere with lace and Persian trimmings.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. His bride is a young woman of many graces and charms.

FOR GOOD ROADS.

A meeting of the South Scranton Wheelmen's club was held at Germania hall last night and the committee appointed to fix a date for a public meeting in the interest of good roads reported that next Friday evening has been selected. It will be held at Germania hall and addresses will be delivered by ex-County Surveyor A. B. Dunning, George Sanderson, president of select council, City Treasurer C. G. Boland, and others. That is the night on which the meeting of the South Side Board of trade would fall, and it has been decided that there will be no session of the board. Captain Joseph F. Woelkers, of the club has issued notice to the wheelmen to turn out tomorrow night for a run on the principal streets of the South Side to advertise the public meeting. A crowded hall is looked for Friday night. Colonel Eugene Call will illustrate Mr. Dunning's lecture with stereopticon views.

TROLLEY WIRE BROKE.

At 9 o'clock last night the trolley wire on the South Side line broke in two near the Mattes street bridge. The broken wires sent out flashes of fire from the ends when they struck the rails and there was a quite a display of red light until some one removed them from the track. Traffic was interrupted for three quarters of an hour until Foreman Andrew Conlon and a force of linemen repaired the break.

The Rev. Mr. Gibbons will preach at the Dunmore Presbyterian church Sunday morning and evening.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

Regular theater patrons keep a mental record, as it were, of all the most successful metropolitan dramatic productions, and are therefore keenly alert regarding the announcement of a new offering and remarkably quick to recognize a play as having won special distinction in all the more important cities. It is for that reason that an extraordinary interest is being manifested in the forthcoming presentation, at the Academy, this evening, of Russ Whytal's romantic play of Southern sentiment, entitled "For Fair Virginia," which, it is positively assured, comes here with the original cast and all the scenic and artistic equipment that invited so much exalted praise at the Fifth Avenue theater, New York, where it enjoyed a prosperous as well as a singularly conspicuous engagement and commanded the unstinted endorsement of the press.

The brightest of all extravaganzas, Edward E. Rice's "1492," will appear here at the Academy next Friday evening, with its galaxy of prominent artists and glittering scenic adornments. Many new and elaborate improvements have been made and up-to-date satires and specialties introduced, resulting in the burlesque being stronger than ever. The title of Rice's "Surprise Party" is by no means a misnomer, as the entertainment fairly teems with surprises. Mr. Rice has proved himself such a genius in the burlesque line that novelty is really the synonomous with the mention of his name. It is an assured fact that "1492" has suffered no loss at the hands of its new dressmakers. Owing to the engagement being limited the business here will in all probability be enormous.

The special engaging feature of the Bostonians Opera company is the large and complete orchestra that is carried by this organization. This band, which is under the direction of S. L. Studley, is composed of specially selected artists and the public are always sure of perfect interpretations of the score; especial scenery is also carried by the company, and every detail that marks productions in the metropolis are faithfully carried out entire. The Bostonians will appear here at the Academy of Music on Saturday evening, with all the original members of the organization in the cast of "Robin Hood." Noted among the singers are Henry Clay Barnabee, William H. McDonald, Jessie Bartlett Davis, Eugene Cowles, Helen Bertram Henley, C. E. Landie, George Frothingham, Alice Nielsen, Jerome Sykes, Harold Blake and others of equal repute, reinforced by a strong and effective chorus.

Commencing Thursday, April 9, "The London Gaiety Girls" will open a three days' stay at Davis' theater. This big company needs no introduction to the patrons of the theater as it appeared here last season and gave a performance of the cleanest and highest order. The programme opens with the "Century Club" and introduces the entire company in bloomers. The vaudeville stars are: The Fergusons, Eddie O'Dell, Dot Lathrop, Hilton the wonder, Keating and Alexander, and the Chappelle sisters. The show closes with the laughable skit, "The Tramp Astronomers," again introducing the entire company in beautiful and costly wardrobes. All scenic and mechanical effects are carried by the company.

AFTER THE CONFERENCE

Session at Binghamton Was in Many Ways an Important One.

DELEGATES WISELY SELECTED

Men Whose Standing Is High in Methodism—Dr. Floyd's New Position. Conference Officers and Visitors Named.

The forty-fifth session of the Wyoming conference, at Binghamton, has passed into history. The session has been an important one in many ways. The case of Rev. J. C. Hogan was settled, and the ministers put themselves on record as favoring the election of women as delegates to the general conference.

The election of delegates to the general conference was a matter of considerable importance. The honor was a high one and was eagerly sought after by a large number. The selection of Rev. J. G. Eckman to head the delegation from old Wyoming is generally conceded to have been a very wise one and one which will redound to the honor of the conference which elected him. In Rev. Manley S. Hard, the conference will have a man whose energy and wide and varied experience will be of service in that gathering. The remaining members of the delegation are not unrepresentative men, but men who are particularly able servants of God.

From the unanimous manner in which George Bennett, of Wilkes-Barre, received the election as lay delegate from Pennsylvania, he cannot but prove satisfactory.

FRIENDLY FEELINGS.

Throughout the whole session the best of feeling reigned. Warm debates often occurred, but in every instance it was simply an exchange of honest opinions.

Bishop Vincent gave entire satisfaction as a presiding officer. His judicial and broad liberal mind made him at all times equal to all the questions which arose. He is a man of strong personality and of much reserve force.

While the Pennsylvania delegates would have been pleased to have seen the conference held at West Pittston next year, there is no opposition felt or expressed to going to Oneonta. This is a pretty little town and one easily accessible. The Methodists of this conference may rest assured that New York state is always ready to give them a warm welcome and make their stay, even though short, a pleasant one. One that will support the sentiment of the old "Empire State" in this matter.

The appointment of Rev. L. C. Floyd, of Simpson church, Scranton, as presiding elder, is already receiving words of commendation from the Binghamton clergy as well as from those outside of that city. He is a gentleman of high standing, of much ability and his heart is wholly consecrated to the work of furthering the interests of the church. He has been assured that in coming into the Binghamton district he will have the hearty support of every minister and of every Methodist church member.

Dr. Floyd will take up his work at quite a critical time. It is in a high state of perfection, as a result of the untiring efforts of the late Rev. J. O. Woodruff, but nowhere are any doubts expressed that Dr. Floyd is perfectly competent to meet the task placed before him.

M'KENNA'S FLIRTATION.

Witnessed by a Small Audience at the Academy.

Edgar Selden and a good supporting company presented "McKenna's Flirtation" at the Academy of Music last night. The bad weather and counter-attractions accounted for the small audience.

An attractive feature of the performance was the character singing by Caroline Wolf as Mary Ellen Ryan, and the dancing of Daniel Barrett as Katherine O'Donnell.

The Nickel Plate Road runs from Buffalo to Chicago, via Cleveland and Fort Wayne.
