MR. MANTLE ON THE TARIFF

He Defends Position of Silverites on the Dingley Bill.

SIMPLY A WOOL MEASURE

Mr. Fitzgerald Attacks the A. P. A. in the House-District of Columbia Amended Appropriation hill Is Passed. The Cuban Resolutions.

Washington, April 9.—The senate did rushing business in the way of pria rushing ousiness in the way of pri-vate pension bills in the last hour of today's session, having cleared the caltoday's session, having cleared the calendar and passed every pension bill on it—75 in number, within sixty minutes. The earlier hours of the session were taken up in the delivery of two prepared speeches, one by Mr. Mantle (Rep., Mont.) and the other by Mr. Butler (Pop., N. C.). Mr. Mantle's speech was mainly a defence of the senators from the silver producing states for their action in helping to defeat the Dingley tariff bill passed by the house in the early part of the session. He criticized the bill for being in the interest of the wool manufacturin the interest of the wool manufacturers rather than the wool growers and he declared himself as being equally in favor of bimetallism and of protection favor of bimetallism and of protection to American industries. He expressed the hope, therefore, that the finance committee would report back a tariff bill coupled with the provision for free coinage. At the close of Mr. Mantle's speech (his maiden one in the senate) he received the congratulations of many senators, and then participated in a running discussion with Senators Hawley (Rep., Conn.), Hoar (Rep., Mass.) and Mills (Dem., Tex.), the latter characterizing a protective tariff as a protective humbug.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

The bill to repeal the compulsory pilotage system so far as it effects sailing vessels engaged in the coast-wise trade was defeated in the house today after a day's debate, by a vote of 117 to 52. Mr. Grosvenor (Rep., Ohio) in the course of the discussion said that while this congress would not enact any legislation intended to improve the condition of laboring men in this country, he was certain the house country, he was certain the house would not pass a bill which laboring men believed would tend to still further lucrease the distress and discomfort of any portion of their fellows.

The amended District of Columbia appropriation bill for the year ending June 30, 1897, was passed after a brief debate. The most notable incident of the debate was a bitter attack by Mr. Fitzgerald (Dem., Mass.) upon the American Protective association by name, for its attack in the dark, as he expressed it, upon the Roman Catholic church, of which he was a member, which resulted in depriving institutions in the District of Columbia, conducted in the District of Columbia, conducted under the auspices of the church, of what was justly and legally theirs. No response was made to Mr. Fitzgerald beyond a bare denial by Mr. Grout (Rep., Vt.) in charge of the bill that it constituted in any sense an attack upon the Catholic church. The vote upon the bill was 134 to 21 and only 20 members, an insufficient number. members, an insufficient number, joined with Mr. Sulzer (Dem., N. Y.) in a demand for a vote by yeas and nexisting in this country today that is behind its bill and has been behind it ever since congress came into session. The American Protective association organization congress came into session. The American Protective association organization never made any opposition to the appropriations for these institutions until the night before the debate begun and then they bombarded the committee room and insisted upon the appropriations being stricken out.

The animus of this organization is well known. A great many members of this house have been importuned to oppose this bill, not in the interest of justice, freedom, or a broad spirit of liberality and Americanism, but for the simple reason that it appropriated money for Catholic institutions. I stand upon the floor of this house, born and bred a Roman Catholic and proud of it, and I deny the right of any sect, oath-bound organization to come before the legal representatives of the American people and by its durk, deep, underhand methods, seek to deprive me and the members of the religion which I profess, of the honest rights and privileges and dues of American citizenship. What apology is there for a Roman Catholic to live in this country? Is one necessary? Look at history from the discovery of this land of ours in 1492, Look at the deeds of bravery and heroism and statesmanship that have been performed by Roman Catholics, I challenge any member of the American Protective association organization in this house, I challenge any member who is in sympathy with that organization to name any sphere in life, or any public duty that has been badly filleds or ill-performed by members of the Roman Catholic church. In the great mark at the time, the first name that springs to our lips is that of an Irishman and a Roman Catholic church. In the great may a struggle at that time, the first name that springs to our lips is that of an Irishman and a Roman Catholic church. In the great may is struggle at that time, the first name that springs to our lips is that of an Irishman an at the present time under the rules of this house; but I intend to stand here and utter my protest as an American citizen and as a Roman Catholic against the unjust, unfair and un-American means that have been used by the organization to which I have referred to deprive these institutions of the support which is legally and justly theirs. My friends, if we should have war with England, on account of the Venezuelan matter or war with Spain on account of the Cuban matter, where would the members of this famous organization be found? They would be found in the same place and under the same auspices that they were found in the war of the rebellion—taking the steamers for Nova Scotla to put themselves under the protection of Queen Victoria and the British flag. Those would be the conditions that would exist and those are the conditions that always exist when people try to strike with a knife in the back.

CUBAN RESOLUTIONS. The president has not yet given any intimation as to what course he will take in regard to the Cuban resolutions, nor indeed, as to whether he will take any action upon them at the present iline. Those whose opinions are en-titled to weight, assert that in a matter of such importance the president is not likely to act without grave delibera-

The engrossed copy of the Cuban resolution.

The engrossed copy of the Cuban resolutions furnished the president remains upon his desk precisely as do the concurrent Armenian resolutions adopted by congress January 28 last requesting him to use his good offices with the European powers to put an end to Turkish tyranny in Armenia by the enforcement of the provisions of the Berlin treaty. There is no indi-cations on the surface of any purpose on the part of the president to send in a special message to congress at any early date on the Cuban question, nor has the state department thus far set its clerical force to work compiling the additional Cuban data asked for by the house of representatives.

ANOTHER M'KINLEY BILL. ANOTHER M KINLEY BILL.

Some measure, either a bill or a joint resolution re-enacting in general terms the reciprocity feature of the tariff law of 1890, better known as the Mc-Kinley tariff bill, will, it is believed, soon be reported to the house. The sub-committee of the house ways and means committee, to whom was referred the Tawney resolution, looking to an investigation of the subject of reciprocity with foreign countries, and reciprocity with foreign countries, and particularly in relation to its effect upon our trade with the Latin-American countries, have secured a vast ar-ray of data from boards of trade, chamray of data from boards of trade, cham-bers of commerce and kindred organi-zations throughout the country. These replies are said to be uniformly favor-able to the principle, and to show that while the law of 1890 was in force, the agricultural as well as certain of the manufacturing interests of the United States were largely benefitted as a re-sult. It is thought to be not unlikely that when the matter comes before the house it will be fully discussed, the de-bate continuing possibly ten days or a fortnight.

RECIPROCITY BILL.

Scheme Suggested by Representative Hopkins.

Washington, April 9.—The reciprocity bill offered by Representative Hopkins, which the sub-committee of the house on ways and means will report to the full committee as a substitute for the numerous measures relating to reciprocity and retaliation and which is entitled a bill to increase and equalize the trade of the United States with foreign nations by the negotiation of re-ciprocal commercial arrangements, au-thorizes and directs the president to negotiate with foreign governments whose exports are in excess of their im-ports from the United States and whose chief articles of imports are admitted free into the United States with a view o arranging commercial agreements in which reciprocal and equivalent con-cessions may be secured in favor of the products of the farms, forests, fisheries mines and manufactories of the United States. The bill authorizes the president when discriminations are made against this government by foreign countries to refuse to enter into reciprocal commercial agreements and to issue proclamation thereof, whereupon the highest rates of duties imposed in the highest rates of duties imposed in any of the tariff laws that have been in force since January, 1850, shall be enforced in all particulars. The bill as explained by its author applies to countries whose exports are greater than their imports from the United States, whose chief articles of imports are imported free; whose ex-ports are admitted into the United States at an average rate of duty. States at an average rate of duty, lower than the average rate of duty imposed upon the United States by their customs tariff; those imposing higher rates of duty upon the products of the United States than are imposed upon the same products of other na-tions, and those which impose restrictions obstructing the expansion of our ommerce. The bill contemplates no reduction in the duties now charged upon imported merchandise by the laws of the United States and says its author, "as Mr. Blaine advised, it proposes to 'use the tariff to trade on' and ask our foreign neighbors to adopt the golden rule in commercial reciprocity."

Harrisburg, Pa., April 9.—The First Defenders, of Pennsylvania, an organi-Defenders, of Pennsylvania, an organization composed of the first five companies of troops that reached Washington at the beginning of the civil war, will on Wednesday next set out for Washington over the same route they took 35 years ago. The Ringgold artification of Parallel 1981 and 1981 artists of Parallel 1981 arti lery, of Reading, Allen infantry, of Al-lentown, Washington artilleries and National Light infantry, of Pottsville, will rendezvous at Reading and come to Harrisburg in the evening, where they will be met by the Logan guards, of Lewiston. They will be met here by a committee of citizens and escorted to the court house, where they will be given a formal welcome and then taken to the headen tests. to their headquarters at the Bolton

Later the Defenders will be given a reception at the executive mansion by Governor and Mrs. Hastings. In the original five companies there were 530 original five companies there were 530 members, but only 130 of them are now alive and about 100 are expected to be present on the march. The Defenders will be entertained at Baltimore, enroute and upon arriving at Washington they will be escorted to their head-quarters at Willard's hotel and given a direct of the state of the s dinner. On Friday they will partake of a planked shad dinner at Mount Ver-non and on Saturday they will call up-on the president. They will return to Harrisburg on Saturday evening.

HAVE TO DRINK ALONE.

Norris Anti-treating Bill Receives the Necessary Votes to Pass.

Columbus, O., April 9.—After considerable discussion in the house this morning the senate joint resolution providing for adjournment April 20 was defeated and April 27 substituted. The house signalized the approaching ad-journment this afternoon by passing the most radical temperance legislation of the session.

This was the passage of Representaive Norris' anti-treating bill. The bill makes it a misdemeanor for any person to treat or offer to treat another per-son to an intoxication drink, or to give son to an intoxicating drink, or to give or offer to give another person an in-texicating drink in any place where liquor is sold. The bill received the necessary fifty-seven votes, with but seven in opposition, Mr. Fosdick, of theater hat fame, being among the lat-ter.

SHIP CAPSIZED.

Six Members of the Crew of the Blaimoor

Are Drowned. Are Drowned.

San Francisco, April 9.—During a squall on the bay this morning the British ship Blairmoor was capsized and six of her crew drowned. The names of the dead are:

Thomas Ludgate, chief officer; Samuel Kenny, steward; T. Reerabaum, sailmaker; H. Synastrand and H. F. Clark, stable segmen and R. F. Slerke.

Clark, stable seamen, and R. E. Siegle, apprentice, B years old. Nine others of the crew were rescued by boats that were in the vicinity. The captain, John Crow, swam to the small boat lying astern and pulled himself to the landing. The Blairmoor arrived from New Castle, N. S. W., with a cargo of coal about a week ago, making the voyage in fifty-six days, the fastest on

A gentleman once saw a boy peeling the bark from one of his choice trees with a hatchet. The gentleman tried to catch the boy, but the latter was too quick for him, so the former changed his tactics, "Come here, my little son," he said in a soft, flut-like voice, with counterfeited friendliness; "come here to me a minute. I want to tell you something."

"Not yet," replied the recipient, "little boys like me don't need to know everything."—Texas Siftings.

MARKET AND STOCK REPORT.

Wall Street Review.

New York, April 9.-Stocks were intensely dull today, the total sales amounting to only 133,623 shares, of which 30,000 shares were Sugar, 18,300 Tobacco, 12,000 Burlington and Quiney, and 10,700 St. Paul. The opening of the market was firm, the sensation rumors of vesterlay shout the president, and of yesterday about the president's ac-tion in the Cuban matter having falled to materialize, prices moved up frac-tionally, but the improvements did not bring in orders from outsiders, and as of late business was monopolized by the trading element. London sold a little St. Paul and Louisville and Nashville. In the afternoon the market showed a weaker tendency on reports of further gold shipments late in the week and the revival of the report that President Cleveland will send in a message to congress endorsing the recent action of that body on the Cuban matter. Leading bear operators, with Washington connections, were conspicuous sellers of the Grangers at this time. The rumors referred to, however, could not be traced to an authentic source. The loss in the Grangers ville. In the afternoon the market ever, could not be traced to an authentic source. The loss in the Grangers was insignificant, but Sugar was decidedly weaker and fell from 118½ to 116%, with a subsequent recovery to 117%. Tobacco declined from 84% to 83%, and later recovered to 84%. The death of Vice-President Pope was used against the stock early in the day. The decline in the general list in the after. against the stock early in the day. The decline in the general list in the afternoon dealings was equal to \( \frac{1}{2} \) all per cent., the Grangers, General Electric and Rubber leading. The speculation closed dull, with prices anywhere from \( \frac{1}{2} \) to \( \frac{7}{2} \) per cent, below yesterday's closing.

OVERTURES TO QUAY.

Senator Was Approached by the McKinley Men.

Washington, D. C., April 9.—The truth about the negotiations with Senator Quay for his support of McKinley came out today, when it was learned from one of Senator Quay's friends that it was the McKinley men who made the overtures, and not Senator Quay, and that he waye them no encouragement. overtures, and not Senator Quay, and that he gave them no encouragement.

It seems that the McKinley managers offered him practically anything that he wanted in the way of terms for his support, telling him, however, that they would not deal with ex-Senator Platt on any terms, and that Senator Quay gave them no definite answer at the time, but subsequently said most emphatically that he would not join them. He also construed their offer to him as an indication that they realized that they were not nearly as strong as they were publicly claiming to be, and was encouraged by it to persist in his fight against McKinley's nomination. The McKinley men, in giving out the story, turned it around and made it appear that Senator Quay was seeking terms. that Senator Quay was seeking terms, whereas the fact is that they were do-
