First Alumnae of the Scranton Private Hospital.

AT ALBRIGHT LIBRARY HALL

Addresses to Graduates Delivered by Dr. V. P. Gibney, of New York-Exercises Attended by a Large Andience-Diplomas Presented

Commencement exercises attendant upon the graduation of four trained nurses from the Scranton Private Hos-pital and Training School for Nurges were held in Albright Library hall last night. It was the first time for a class to graduate from this institution. The four young women whose course of instruction and preparation has been completed are Miss Nora Long, Miss Mary McCourt, Miss Margaret A. Shanahan and Miss Rosalle Jay, all of this city. They are now qualified trained nurses. The hospital and training school is situated at the corner of Wyoming avenue and Mulberry street, and was founded two years ago by Dr. C. E. Thomson. From time to time enlargenents and extensions have been added so that it is now thoroughly equipped for the care and treatment of disease, disabilities and infirmities. It is a chartered institution, and Drs. L. Weh-lau. Reed Burns and J. B. Garvey have become associated with Dr. Thomson in its control and management.

Every seat in the hall was occupied Every seat in the hall was occupied last night. There was a distinguished audience present, among them being Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, Rev. D. J. Mac-Gouldrick, Rev. John Loughran, of the Catholic university, at Washington; Rev. Walter Gorman, and Drs. H. D. Gardner, W. M. Reedy, Gibbs, Phillips, Barnes and Burns. The-four graduating nurses sat in a row to the right of the platform and in the second row were eight who belong to the junior class and will graduate next year. They were attired in the blue uniform of a nurse, with white apron and lace of a nurse, with white apron and lace cap. Around the platform potted plants and flowers were tastefully ar-

BEGINNING THE EXERCISES. Dr. Garvey introduced Dr. Thomson as the presiding officer, and he in turn introduced Dr. V. P. Gibney, of New York, who delivered the address to the graduates. The speaker possesses a polished eloquence that was pleasing to hear. He dwelt principally upon the trained nurse as she exists in the hostrained nurse as she exists in the hospital, in office work, and in private families. He was associated with Dr. Thomson for a number of years and spoke of him as a man capable of imparting instruction of a high order. Addressing the graduates Dr. Gibney spoke in a very kindly tone. He said that many years ago the nurse was not specially trained and people ex-not specially trained and people ex-pected her to be born to the work. A certain aptitude, gentleness and kind-ness were looked for. The patient is a very peculiar being. However excel-lent traits may have existed in health, L. B. Stillwell, of Pittsburg, will deliver an address before the Scranton Engineers' lent traits may have existed in health, club tonight in the Albright Library hall.

The last rehearsal of the Old Folks' dencert will be held this evening at Young Men's Christian Association hall.

When this is accom-plished duty will become a pleasure, Above all, the nurse should understand Above all, the nurse should understand that she is the servant of the patient.

Apart from the daily routine of administering drugs, changing linen, cooling pillows, she will be called upon to come between the sufferer and disturbing visitors. She must determine what people should see the patient and those who should be excluded. Of the latter class: garrulous persons who bring unpleasant news are the foremost. The personal appearance, tidimost. The personal appearance, tidiness, and soft steps of the nurse will often have much to do with the success

ON THE CARE OF CHILDREN. Speaking about the care of children Dr. Gibney said in behalf of the little sufferers that it is most essential in caring for one of them to forestall its wants, learn to protect it against mis-haps, and not to lose the temper be-cause the child is cross. Firmness and gentieness are not conflicting. It is often said of the unmarried woman that she is necessarily unfitted for the care of children because she does not know anything about a mother's love. This is far from true. Most trained nurses have experienced a mother's love, have been sick themselves, and know what it is to be nursed by the loved ones at home. The nurse recalls from time to time the tender looks, the anxious expressions and she can put herself in a mother's place and cultiv-

This does not imply abject ser-vitude, because the doctor looks to her for suggestions occasionally and in critical cases he reites on the reports he gets of the behavior of the patient

during his absence.
A nurse who has become accustomed to a doctor in different cases should be apt enough to learn his wishes withbe apt enough to learn his wishes with-out even an expression on his part. It is not good jaste to entertain either patient or doctor with the peculiarities or confidences of former patients. Her position naturally brings her in rela-tionship sufficiently close to make her the recipient of confidence which never should be betrayed. should be betrayed.

PRESENTED WITH DIPLOMAS. The foregoing is but a synopsis o. Dr. Gibney's excellent address and when he concluded, Dr. Thomson presented each of the graduates with her diploma. He wished them every possible success in life and hoped that each one would prosper. one would prosper.

a Note. Two months ago Alderman Post, of the Seventeenth ward, gave judgment for $55 with interest from Sept. 18, 1895, in favor of F. E. Wood to the use of H. T. Sprague against James and Thomas Laily. The defendants, by their attor-

Lally. The defendants, by their attorneys Watson & Zimmerman, appealed the case to court and yesterday the affidavit of defense was filed in the office of Prothonotary Pryer.

On May 15, 1895, a note for $55 payable in four monthly instalments of $13.75 each, was given by the Lallys in favor of F. E. Wood at the Scranton Savings bank. As set forth in the affidavit filed yesterday they deny that they ever signed the note. The particulars are as follows: Last May a man named Thos. Martin called upon John Lally, who is a son of Thomas, and solicited him to take a scholarship in Wood's Business college. Martin produced a paper which he represented was an agreement to enter the college and he placed it before the young man for his signature. Lally would not be sixteen years old until the subsequent October.

Martin told him to sign his father's name that it was all right. Circumstances developed which prevented young Lally from going to Wood's college. The first they knew of the note was when notice was served upon them by the alderman. The boy proclaims that he was informed it was an agreement he was signing when he attached his own and his father's name to it. The concluding part of the affidavit charges that the plaintiff is not entitled to recover for the reason that the paper was obtained through fraudulent representation, that the father's name was signed by the boy without authority, and that the latter when he was imposed upon was only 15 years of age. The note has been endorsed by F. E. Wood to the use of H. T. Sprague.

He took with him letters to Mayor Strong, of New York, and May-or Wurster, of Brooklyn. It is his intention to pay special attention to the fire department and the department of street cleaning.

LONDON GAIETY GIRLS.

Are the Attraction Now on the Boards at Davis' Theatre.

"The London Galety Girls," the Davis' theater attraction for the bal-ance of the week, furnish a fine en-tertainment. Yesterday's initial-performance was applauded by a very large audience. The company includes ten shapely women and several comedians and specialists. The Chappelle sisters, singers and dancers, gave a great exhibition. They dance with the daintiness and grace of Parisian belies. The Trilby dance was charming.

Eddie Odell, an acrobatic tramp, has a body of the stuff that blcycle tires are made of. He is amusing, as also are made of. He is amusing, as also is Terry Ferguson. Hilton, properly styled "a wonder," is a flexible contortionist and Keating and Alexander perpetrated a quantity of jokes under the guise of black men. Dot Lathrope pleased. The show opens with medley singing by the girls and closes with a scene on Mars. scene on Mars. Many marches, all pretty, are introduced and a captivating tableau closes the performance. It will be repeated this and tomorrow evenings and matinees.
