LEBECK & CORIN

A GREAT STRATEGIST.
He Was Willing to Fight, Blood and Die for His Country.

A fiery-looking party with his hand stuck into the bosom of his coat and his nostrils bristling like the angry front of war walked into The Star office the other morning and approached the editor of the crank department.

"Excuse me, sir," he said, with a sweeping bow, "I speak with you a moment on a matter of importance."

"The editor wondered whether it was going to be a fine or a quarter, but told the visitor to proceed."

"I want to publish a card in your paper, sir, but before doing so I desire to obtain a few facts relative thereto."

"Go on with your rat-killing," said the editor, with pleasing and easy familiarity.

"The visitor frowned slightly, but went on."

"I desire to ask, sir," he said, "if there is any probability of war between the United States and Great Britain."

"None in the least."

"Nor any with Spain?"

"Still less."

"Do you know of any other country we may have trouble with?"

"None."

"And you would say that we shall have a period of absolute peace for the next ten years?"

"I'll bet my salary on it in advance for that time."

"Then if you will be so kind I would be pleased to have you publish this article in your valuable journal over my signature, sir," and the visitor extended a formal looking document, tied with red tape, toward the editor.

"What is it about?" inquired the editor, taking it gingerly.

"The visitor straightened himself up proudly."

"It is an appeal, sir, to the patriots of this great and glorious republic, sir, to defend the nation's honor at whatever cost of blood and treasure, sir, and in that article I announce that I desire to enlist a thousand men at once who will be ready at a moment's notice to lay down their lives with me at their head in defense of liberty and our native land. We must defy all foreign governments, sir, and effete monarchies, and I desire to go upon the record, sir, as a patriot who with blood to shed on my country's altar."

The editor applauded the valor of the visitor, told him there were hundreds like him and took the communication under advisement, where it still is.

Ashville, N. C.—[Special]—"Is that true?" asked the News' man at Peilham's Pharmacy, as he laid down a letter in the presence of a dozen interested customers.

"Yes, it is," promptly answered the proprietor, "it was written here on one of our letterheads and signed by J. C. Jogleman, who lives at No. 5 Buxton street. We all know he is a man of his word."

This is what the letter said: Office of Peilham's Pharmacy, 24 Patton avenue, Asheville, N. C.: Gentlemen—My little boy, now 8 years, began chewing tobacco three years ago by the advice of our family physician, in the place of stronger stimulants.

"Finding such results from the use of No-To-Bac I began myself, and it cured me after using tobacco, in all forms, for twenty years."

"I made this plain statement for the benefit of others." (Signed) J. C. FOGLEMAN.

"What's that?" asked Chief of Police H. S. Hawkins, who mainly form attended the meeting in uniform, like Solomon in all his glory, came to the door.

"Why, No-To-Bac cure?" "Sure? Why, I could say so. I used it myself. It cured me. I bought one box of No-To-Bac from Peilham and was cured after using tobacco—chiefly chewing—for eight (8) or ten (10) years."

"Everybody looked astonished and wondered what would next turn up."

"Suppose it don't cure?" someone asked.

"Then you get your money back," replied the dealer. "No-To-Bac is made by the Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago, Montreal and New York, and every druggist in America is authorized to sell No-To-Bac under an absolute guarantee to cure or money refunded. They read their famous booklet 'Don't Tobacco Spit and in it.' Written guarantee and free sample mailed for the asking."

Worn Out Women

Should read this letter. It shows the wonderful building-up powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier.

"I wish I could stand in some public place and cry to alluring humanity, 'Hear this, ye people, what wonderful things Hood's Sarsaparilla has done for me and my family.' I cannot express what I suffered. Only one of my six knows what a woman can suffer in my condition. I was prostrate with nervousness and weakness. The least noise would drive me frantic. I decided to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I am overjoyed to say that I am now well, hearty, rosy and plump."

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine for those suffering as I have suffered." Mrs. C. C. KIRKPATRICK, Pine Grove, Penn. Price, six for $5.
