WOMEN IN CONVENTION

Meeting of the Lackawanna Presbyterian Foreign Missionary Society.

THIS MORNING'S ELECTION

Officers for the Year Will be Chosen and New Committees Appointed—Addresses by Mrs. G. F. Dale, Missionary to Syria.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Lackawanna presbytery of the Scranton district began its eighteenth annual convention yesterday afternoon in the Providence Presbyterian church. The meeting continued during the evening and will re-convene in the church this morning.

It had been intended yesterday to elect a delegate to the board meeting, but the session lasted until too late an hour and the election was deferred until this morning, as was the appointment of committees. The meetings were open to the public and were attended by full-sized audiences.

A devotional service by Mrs. A. W. Welles, the presbytery president, opened the morning session. After the roll call and response of delegates, Mrs. T. S. Morgan, the recording secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, and Miss Dickson, of this city, made her report as corresponding secretary.

The report of the treasurer, Mrs. Raynor, of Carbondale, indicated that the society had not contributed as much toward the church's foreign mission as it did last year.

Two reports, each a compilation of the work and condition of half of the churches of the society were read.

Mrs. N. P. Osterhout, of the North End, read a paper on "What the Missionary Should Be." It was a very capable and helpful effort.

AN AFRICAN MISSIONARY.

Mrs. Charles E. Robinson read a letter from Rev. Charles Werner, who left this country last year, accompanied by Joseph Phipps, colored, for the missionary mission convert and a protégé of second Presbyterian church and its pastor, Rev. Dr. Robinson. He was assigned to work in the interior several hundred miles from the mouth of the Zambeze, and, according to Mr. Werner's letter, has met with great success.

Mrs. Gerald F. Dale, a returned missionary to Syria, talked briefly but entertainingly of mission work in that country.

The evening session was a non-business meeting over which Rev. George E. Guild, pastor of the church, presided. After singing and prayer, scripture reading and song, Mrs. Dale, who talked at the afternoon meeting, gave another address on Syrian religious customs, Mohammedanism and paid special attention to the Presbyterian mission work. Her subject matter tended to give the audience a very comprehensive idea of the aims and accomplishments of the missions in the Syrian field.

She remarked upon the excommunication, boycotting and persecution of Christian natives by the government officials and Muslim priests. She espoused the Christian faith but kept it secret except in cases near the protection of mission stations. The converts were conscientious and earnest, two qualities which the faith of Mohammed did not encourage nor develop.

THE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM.

Mrs. Dale made a general reference to the Presbyterian educational system which includes day and industrial schools and colleges for both sexes. The work has progressed so well that the teachers graduated from the higher schools are being sent to the English missions which have no educational system, and are located in stations scattered throughout Palestine.

The missionary heroes and heroines are native converts located at isolated stations in the interior where months go by without the appearance of mail or a stranger.

Before adjournment a collection was made for the printing and contingent fund.

PROGRAMME FOR TODAY.

Following will be this morning's programme, which will include the election of officers and a delegate to the board meeting and the appointment of committees:

Devotional meeting, led by Mrs. Frisbie, Presbyterian report, Report of missionary literature, Report of letter from Presbyterian mission, Report of one half of bands, Duet, Misses Catherine and Lizzie Gabriel, Report of one half of bands, Paper, Mrs. Charles Lee, Report of committees, Election of officers, Closing hymn.

MET THE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Mayor Bailey Familiarizing Himself with That Department.

Mayor Bailey spent the greater part of yesterday afternoon familiarizing himself with the board of health regulations and the routine of work in that department. All the members of the board, with the exception of Colonel E. H. Ripple, who was out of town, met with the mayor in Secretary Briggs' office and discussed the affairs of the board and advised together on plans for the coming year.

The newspaper men were assured that neither appointments nor any other matter of a political nature was introduced into the meeting.

THEY ELECTED OFFICERS.

The Retail Liquor Dealers' association of this city met in Raub's hall, Wyoming avenue, yesterday afternoon and elected officers for the coming year as follows: President, Thomas Congrove, of the West Side; vice president, John J. Flanagan; treasurer, Charles Kaestner, of Cedar avenue; financial secretary, August Schimpff, of the South Side; recording secretary, W. A. Rutledge, of Lackawanna avenue; State President Patterson and National Organizer Nolan of the association.

Green Ridge Bicyclists Held an Election Last Night.

The following were elected at a meeting of the Green Ridge Wheelmen yesterday.

President, James Garney, Jr.; vice-president, W. H. Finn; secretary and conductor, Henry P. Hitchcock; captain, Charles Carr; directors, D. L. Merriman, T. Filtrout and E. T. Howe. The retiring members acknowledging their help and support during his regime. A lunch was served after the meeting.

JOHN GRISHKA COMMITTED.

He Will be Compelled to Answer for the Murder of John Mickus.

John Grishka, who was arrested at the instance of the coroner's jury for the murder of John Mickus, near Trip's crossing on the night of March 17, was yesterday taken down from the county jail and given a preliminary hearing before Judge Aldrich. He might be formally charged with the crime.

County Detective Leysion represented the commonwealth and P. H. Soper appeared for the accused. The indictment added at the inquest was not submitted and it pointed so strongly to Grishka's guilt that there was no hesitancy on the part of the alderman in committing him to answer at court.

One of the witnesses were heard, Adam Schneider, of Price street, who was the murdered man's miner; P. M. Messert, a street car conductor, and Coroner R. P. Longstreet. Schneider testified that Mickus had told him on the Monday preceding St. Patrick's Day that his wife threatened that her brother and Grishka would kill him.

Conductor Messert testified that he saw Grishka on the street car, by which the commonwealth hopes to prove that the murdered man and Grishka were together the night of the murder.

GOT ON MESSETT'S CAR.

About 9:15 o'clock p. m. four men, either Poles or Hungarians, boarded the Luzerne street car. One of the men was in charge, and on reaching Seventh street one of them tendered a $20 bill in payment for his fare, although he had a nickel in his hand. The conductor refused to change the bill and a struggle ensued, which ended in the man giving over the nickel. He had caused so much trouble on the car that when the corner of Main street and Jackson street was reached the conductor showed the man and had him put off. The other three rode as far as Washburn street, where they got off and started back toward Jackson street. One of them answered the description of Mickus, the murdered man, and the other, Grishka, tallies in many respects with the man with whom Conductor Messert had the trouble.

County Detective Leysion had Mickus put on his cap and stood him up before Messert. The witness said the cap, which is light colored and of the bicycle style, is similar to the one which he saw with whom he had the trouble. The features he had also seen before, but he would not say that Mickus and the passenger in question were one and the same.

NOT STRUCK BY A TRAIN.

Coroner Longstreet told of how the body of John Mickus, the murdered man, was found. He stated that the death could not have possibly resulted from Mickus being struck by a train. He then described how his notice was attracted to Grishka, who was one of the crowd that gathered on the scene, and how, after becoming satisfied that the fellow's suspicious actions would bear investigation, he called him to him and discovered blood stains on his overcoat. He also stated that he saw Grishka attempt to wash off the stains with snow after he had been handed over to the custody of Patrolman Evans.

Mr. Soper asked a number of questions of each witness. The respondent vented him from making any argument, but he remarked that his client was not guilty and that he could not be convicted.

It transpired during the hearing that Mrs. Mickus, wife of the murdered man, gave birth to a child on Easter Saturday.

Charles Miller was arrested last evening as being in possession of the murderer of John Mickus. At the time of the coroner's inquest Miller was suspected of being implicated in the crime. There was not, however, sufficient evidence to hold him. County Detective Leysion has since that time gathered further proof and as a result Miller was arrested last night, while he was at the Lloyd street home of his sister, Mrs. John Fickus, wife of the murdered man.

Lieutenant Spellman and John Jones, of Jackson street, assisted in making the arrest. Miller was taken to the West Side police station. He denied any knowledge of the murder. He was home at the time of the coroner's inquest and was present. One of the chief causes which led to Miller's arrest was the threat made to Mickus by his wife that her brother, Miller, and Grishka would kill him, which threat he repeated to his minister, Adam Schroeder, on the Monday preceding the murder.

MARGARET MATHER AS JULIET

Margaret Mather returned to a Scranton audience last night after an absence of several years as Juliet in Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet." Miss Mather is not an ideal Juliet in appearance, but for that matter Adelaide Neilson, the greatest Juliet who ever trod the boards, was not, neither were her greatest successors. Miss Mather has said that no woman can truly portray Juliet as Shakespeare created her, the very essence of love and passion, until time has matured her powers and unfortunately has at least partially destroyed that girlish contour of face and discovery. It is a middle-aged man that should mark the ideal Juliet.

Nevertheless, Miss Mather made a very good Juliet. She is somewhat robust in figure and voice, yet was more successful last night in the love scenes with Romeo than when reciting the tragic lines with which the closing scenes of the tragedy are so richly studded. When she sang under sweet and loving her voice was vibrant, yet earnest, and when alarmed for the safety of her lover it was very expressive and appealing. In the tragic scenes her voice acquired a harshness that created unpleasantly on the ear, and her conception of that phase of Juliet's character was not marked by the delicacy that she showed in the more tranquil scenes.

She was given good support by Frederick Paulding as Romeo; W. S. Hart, as Mercutio; E. Brewster, as Paris; and William Farman, as Tybalt. The tragedy was carefully staged and altogether was enjoyed by the large and fashionable audience present.

FOUR FATAL ACCIDENTS

Two Brothers Instantly Killed in the Pine Brook Shaft.

A MAN RUN OVER BY CARS

The Fourth Case Was Where an Accident Sustained a Week Ago Resulted in the Man's Death Last Night.

Four deaths was yesterday's record of fatal accidents. Richard Gaughan and John Gaughan, brothers, were instantly killed in the Pine Brook shaft; James H. Collins was fatally injured on the Delaware and Hudson tracks in Green Ridge, and died at the Lackawanna hospital, and Steven Krider, of the South Side, died at the Moses Taylor hospital, as the result of two fractured ribs, sustained a week ago at the blast furnace.

Richard and John Gaughan worked together in a chamber on the old Poccon vein in the Pine Brook shaft. They fired a blast about 10 o'clock and went back to the face of the chamber as miners are wont to do after the smoke clears away, to see what amount of coal has been loosened. They were only a few moments returned when a slab of roof weighing ten tons fell down and crushed them to death.

The body of Richard was fearfully crushed, but that of John was without any marks, except a small one on the temple. They were removed to the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Gaughan, on Fourth street, Bellevue.

FIVE MONTHS MARRIED.
Richard was married five months ago to Miss Emily Bernasco, of Stafford street, South Side, and they lived with her parents. He had purchased a lot on that street, and was preparing to build a home. He was a banjo and violin player of good skill, and was a strong man of great character. He was 31 years old.

John was 26 years old and his marriage with Miss Emma Franz, of the Flats, was announced to take place next week. He was also expected for his good traits.

Last week their sister, Miss Bridget Gaughan, was married to Joseph Gowar, of the South Side. Their deaths here, however, their mother with illness and her condition is serious. Their father is a miner in the same shaft, and when the sad news was broken to him by the boys had been uncovered from the weight of rock, he swooned and lost consciousness for several minutes. William Gaughan, clerk at Matthew Ross' store, was their brother.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the home on Fourth street. High mass of requiem will be celebrated at St. Peter's church, and interment will be made in Hyde Park cemetery.

DIED FROM HIS INJURIES.

On his way to work yesterday afternoon, a 10-year-old boy, James H. Collins, 29 years old, son of Hugh Collins, of Phelps street, was fatally injured on the Delaware and Hudson railroad near Poplar street, and he died a few hours later at the Lackawanna hospital. The deceased was employed as a wiper at the Green Ridge round house. A train of coal cars was passing and in attempting to get on he stumbled and fell between the tracks. His leg was crushed to a pulp between the ankle and knee; there was a serious lacerated wound in the back, and his body was very badly bruised. The cause of his death was the fatal injury to the chest. Several cars passed over him. He was taken to the Green Ridge depot on the train and from there to the hospital in the ambulance. He did not rally and died two hours after he was removed at 9 o'clock to his home. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been made.

DEATH OF KOSKOVY.

Steven Koskovy, of Stone avenue, who was injured a week ago at the blast furnace, died last evening at 8 o'clock. He was taken to the hospital, where he was struck in the side by a bar from a train of two ribs were broken. Blood poisoning ensued and resulted fatally. He was 45 years old and leaves a wife and family of two children. He was removed from the hospital to his late home on Stone avenue, where the funeral will be held.

LITTLE IMPOSTOR CAUGHT.

She Was Brought Before the Board of Charities at Its Meeting.

One of the first things the Board of Associated Charities did at its meeting last night was to dispose of a little impostor whom Mrs. Duggan picked up on her way to attend the meeting. The impostor is a 10-year-old girl named Elizabeth of Raymond court, who goes about late at night selling matches and working on the sympathies of the people with a story that if she does not dispose of all her matches she will be put in the almshouse, and she will have to work in a basketful tucked away in her pocket.

Mrs. Duggan had received several inquiries about her, and upon looking up her case, discovered that her father owns a horse and wagon and is in every way able to support her without compelling her to go out begging. So last night when the little match peddler was brought before the board, she was a victim she ran her head into a trap. Mr. Kelly, of the child saving committee, with the authorization of the board, sent the girl home in the custody of a police officer with a message to her father to the effect that if the child was again caught begging the board would take steps to have her removed from his charge.

WAYFARERS' LODGE.

Rev. Rogers Israel reported that Colonel Ripple, T. J. Moore and himself, with a committee, had been to consult the advisability and feasibility of establishing a Wayfarers' Lodge, had discussed the matter and concluded that it would not be advisable to take any steps in that direction until next fall. Mr. Sandborn, superintendent of the Rescue Mission, had expressed willingness to supervise the contemplated house of a police officer with a message to her father to the effect that if the child was again caught begging the board would take steps to have her removed from his charge.

THE FOUNTAIN HEAD FOR FASHIONABLE MILLINERY.

It is said "there is room at the top." So there is, but has it ever occurred to you that you can be only one at the top? We're gaining that enviable position being worthy of it. We have set the pace in everything. Store, style, quality, reliability and more than anything else, look at the new spring hats. Where else in Scranton can you find such correctness—such individuality—such tone and character? Nowhere. Why shouldn't we be at the top? If everybody knew it, what a scramble there'd be for our kind of millinery. But everybody doesn't know, and that's why old goods masquerade as new so-called "bargain" millinery. Look at old-fashioned ideas and prices here always on speaking terms with cost.

BENEFIT CONTEMPLATED.

The question of securing Helen Beech Yaw, the celebrated Calipso soprano, for a concert in the aid of the fund was referred to the committee on entertainments, of which J. R. Cohen is chairman.

Mrs. Duggan reported that she receives on an average fifteen applications a day for work from women and girls, and would like to have parties describing such help to communicate with her. During the past two weeks she reports having investigated forty-one cases, thirty-one of which were found worthy. Work was found for eight, transportation furnished six, meals and lodging furnished four. Two were sent to hospitals, one to the House of the Good Shepherd, two to the Rescue mission, two to reformatories, and one child was returned to parents. The district nurse, Miss Kiesel, reported having attended seven patients.

PLANS FOR THE IMPROVEMENT THAT HAVE BEEN APPROVED.

Plans have been prepared by Architect Edward H. Davis for the large and commodious addition to the Scranton Bicycle Club house. The plans have been approved and are now being engaged in getting an estimate of the cost of the contemplated improvement. If the cost is not excessive the work of erecting the addition to the club house will be done this summer.

The size of the present building is 23x25 and the addition will be 34x56 giving a building that will extend back to the court at the rear of the lot. A sub-basement will be excavated under the proposed addition which will be a swimming tank ten feet in diameter and the proposed addition in which will be a shower and other bathing accommodations. In the rear of this will be the gymnasium and on the south side of the building provisions are made for a bowling alley. Along the sides and ends of the gymnasium and swimming tank it is the intention to run a gallery on the level of the present cellar floor, where spectators can watch those in the "gym" and swimming tank. In this gallery will be located the lockers for the members. Training quarters will also be provided in this part of the building. The partitions, etc., in the ball under the present building will be cleared out and the space converted into a wheel room.

The plans contemplate the use of the first floor of the present building for a parlor and toilet room, and the first floor of the addition will be used as a ball room, giving a dancing floor of 18x75 or nearly three times the size of the floor now available for dancing. The floor of the ball room will be depressed several feet below the level of the present first floor to give greater height to the ball room. There will be a gallery for musicians and in the rear of the ball room will be a stairway leading to a banquet hall on the second floor.

The second floor of the building as it now exists will be cut up into three rooms and used either as card rooms or billiard rooms. The billiard room, in the addition will be the billiard room, banquet hall and kitchen. The third floor will contain ten additional chambers, the furniture will be made in the present hall room, which will be rented to the members. A system of steam heat will supplant the present hot air system. A side entrance will be made to the building, connected with a stairway leading to the second floor so that members can get in and out of the building without disturbing or intruding on those who may have the first floor of the building rented.

If the contemplated improvements are made the Bicycle club will have the finest club house in this part of the state.
