FOUR LIVES CRUSHED OUT

Terrible Accident in the Eddy Creek Mine at Olyphant.

NOT A MOMENT'S WARNING.

Five Men Were Advancing to the Face of a Rock Tunnel When the Roof Fell, Instantly Killing Four and Injuring the Fifth.

Four men were instantly killed and one was seriously injured in Eddy Creek mine, Olyphant, Saturday morning at 10.15. The awful accident happened at the face of a rock tunnel, which is being driven from the Eddy Creek vein to the rock vein. The dead

James Abbott, his brother, also of Throop, 26 years old, who leaves a wife and three cilldren.

John Harvey, of Throop, 40 years old, who leaves a wife and six children.

John McHale, of Olyphant, 24 years old, who lived with his widowed mother. His marriage with Miss Kate Lynch would have taken place on the 19th Six maprize are vesterday his 29th. Six months ago yesterday his brother, James McHale, was killed in the same mine, a short while before his marriage, too.

The injured man is Frank Lewis, of Blakely, a married man with a large family. His recovery is expected, though his injuries are very serious. The men were in the employ of Contractors Norris & Ware A rock tun-nel bears almost a sir / relation to a mine that a stairwa ses to a dwelling. This passage to a rock vein is now about 100 feet length and is only one-fifth comple ed. The work is pushed night and day, and the men who were killed went to work at 7 o'clock in the morning. Dynamite, or giant powder, is used in blasting. Sometimes as mr y as a dozen holes are drilled in the face of the tunnel and these are charged and set off simultaneously by the means of an electric battery. The holes are usually drilled by force from an air compresser.

TWENTY-FIVE TONS FELL. Several holes had thus been prepared and about 10 o'clock they were charked and a few minutes later set off. The men waited a little while for the smoke men waited a little while for the smoke to clear away, and then went forward to the face of the tunnel to prepare to load the fallen rock into cars. Scarcely had they begun to de this when twenty-five tons of weig't fell upon them. The four dead me were closest to the face of the tunnel. Lowis was bout at the circumfer-

Lewis was bout at the circumference of the fall and escaped death. Mr. Norris, one of the contractors, was in the tunnel at the time, but he was not up where the men were; he was down disconnecting the wires of the electric battery. The first thing he did was to clear away the rock that had fallen on The groans of agony that he Lewis heard taught him that all were not killed. It took him only a few minute to do it, and when he had the man re-moved, he went to the foot of the shaft.

and procured help to get the bodies This task was attended with much danger, and it was 12 o'clock before the first body was uncovered, which was that of McHale. He was terribly out the Abbott brothers. They were crushed out of shape. At 2.30 Harvey's body was taken out. Crowds of people were attract d to the mouth of the ple were attract d to the mouth of the shaft, and the rews of the happening caused much along among the people. The mine ambulance was in waiting and conveyed the bodies to their late homes as they were brought to the surface. Lewis, the injured man, was brought home at 11.30.

WHAT LEWIS HAS TO SAY.

A Tribune reporter called at Mr. Lewis' home in Blakely Saturday. The man was not in condition to say much. nor does he know what to tell about the happening. It came upon them so suddenly and without any warning that they had no time to escape. He was walking apart from the four men; they were walking in the middle of the passage and he was walking along the "rib" eight or nine feet away from them. Falls of roof are usually preceded by a rumbling sound, but in this instance the crash came in an instant and the men were crushed to death so swiftly that not a groan or sigh escaped their lips.

Mr. Norris said that what saved his life was that the men started for the face of the tunnel before him and left him disconnecting the battery wires. Otherwise, if he were with them he would be first. They had been, perhaps, 100 feet from the face when the blasts were set off. As to the responsibility, it is unlikely that any blame can be attached to the contractors. It was simply one of these mine acci-dents which are apt to happen at any moment in the best regulated working. It was somewhat similar to the onwhich a few days before that killed two Gaughan brothers in the Pine Brook shaft. The Eddy Creek shaft is owned by the Delaware and Hudson Railroad company. It is in charge of Inside Superintendent A. P. Patton and Fire Boss W. H. Davis.

The rock tunnel was started about three months ago. Mr. Ward, the contractor, was in charge of the night shift. Mine Inspector Roderick will make an investigation.

The funeral of John Harvey will take place fomorrow afternoon from his home in Throop. He was a member of Toualuka tribe, Improved Order of Red Men, and the Sons of St. George, which organizations will attend in a body. A prayer meeting will be conducted this evening under the direction of the Rev.

W. W. WHARTON FOR CHIEF. lle is Put Forward as a Compromise Candidate.

W. W. Wharton, secretary of the Scranton Wood Turning company, has been put forward as a compromise candidate for chief of police. Many of Mayor Bailey's friends advise him that as matters stand now it would be better for him not to appoint either Robling or Taylor, and they point to Wharton, who is not particularly identified with any faction of the Democracy, as the solution of the difficulty. He came to this city from Philadelphia three years ago and is 27 years of age, well educated, tall in stature and athletic in his make-up. Some of the signatures on his petition are O. S. Johnson, John Jermyn, Alexander Dickson, A. H. Christy, Charles Du Pont Breck, E. B. Sturges and James H. Torrey.

DANGEROUSLY WOUNDED.

During a Fight in Johnson's Patch an

Hungarian is Badly Gashed. Edward Scullion, an Hungarian of Johnsen's Patch, was badly slashed by an axe during a drunken quar-rel Saturday night. He was found bying in the middle of the road on Larch street, unconscious, by two young men shortly after 10 o'clock p. m. He was conveyed to the Lackawanna hospital, conveyed to the Lackawanna hospital, where it was found that his unconsciousness was the result of a great loss of blood from a long, deep gash on the left leg just above the knee. The wound was about seven inches long, and from its depth and other circumstances it was judged that a razor or stilette was used. stiletto was used.

Lieutenant Spellman made an inves-tigation yesterday afternoon and learned that Scullion had been cut with an ax in the hands of a Polander. The affair occurred near the Johnson's mine barn, and from what little the officer could glean of the occurrence it ap-pears that the assault was unprovoked. The hospital physicians feared at first that he would not recover, but toward morning he rallied, and as the day progressed, hopes were entertained for his recovery. After regaining conscious-ness he was questioned about the afcut him, but would not give his name. He also said that after being cut he ran about a block, but further than this nothing could be gained from

OVERCOME BY THE HEAT.

Michael J. Cox. Fireman at Hotel Jermyn, Dies from Heat Exhaustion.

Michael J. Cox, a young man em-ployed as fireman at Hotel Jermyn, was overcome by the heat Saturday af-ternoon and during the night died at the Lackawanna hospital. The boiler toom, where Cox worked, is so situated that the heat there is intense. After several men were compelled to relin-quish the job, Cox on Friday morning undertook it. In the evening when he eturned to his boarding house he suffered from nose bleed and complained of exhaustion from the heat.

In the morning he felt all right again and went to his work. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon the other employes in the basement noticed him acting strangely. Some time afterwards he the basement noticed him acting strangely. Some time afterwards he became delirious and began butting the wall with his head. Force had to be used to restrain him, so violent was his delirium. After he was quieted down ice was packed about him and his temperature, which was 110, was reduced. After working with him for over an hour, the Lackawanna hospital ambulance was summened and about 6 ambulance was summoned and about 6 o'clock he was taken there. ### KILLED

Sad Result of the Careless Handling of a Shot Gun.

SLAYER NOW IN COUNTY JAIL

After Killing Frank Libudzeski at Priceburg Yesterday Afternoon Frank Prebilski Told Conflicting Stories and Was Committed to Jall.

Dickson City borough yesterday afternoon added another to the intermin-ably long list of victims of the gun that wasn't leaded. Frank Libudzeski. of Lincoln street. Priceburg, in the Second ward of the borough, was instantly killed by Frank Prebilski. The dead boy was 18 years old April 10, and the Prebilski is about 16. He is now in the county all charged with murder. Justice of the Peace John Slivinski committed him and Constable Max Koehler brought him down at 9 o'clock last night. The information was lodged by the mother of the dead boy. His father, Anthony Libudzeski, is visiting in Nanticoke. The shooting happened about 3 o'clock in the afternoon in the dining room of young Prebliski's home. How it happened is not decided, because the one who did it has told three different stories, and if he had stuck to the first version he gave, which was that he fired the shot accidentally, the probability is he would not now be in jail. His protestations that Libudzeski had the gun in his own hands and pulled the trigger himself and was negligently responsible for his own death, angered the latter's family and aroused the suspicion that it may have been a de-liberate murder.

THE TRUE VISION. From the undisputed facts in the case and the harmonizing of the conflicting evidence the true version of the fatality is about as follows: Libudzeska, Prebilski and the latter's brother, Michael, who is a year older, were out after dinner in the woods. They returned about 2.30, sat on the porch of Jer-myn's, now Johnson's, store, a short while and went up to Preblishi's home a block away. The house is directly behind the store. When they reached the house they sent Mrs. Annie Mehal-ska, an old grandmother bordering on 90 years of age, for a pail of beer. She got a can, took the money and got the

Just as she left, Libudzeski asked Frank Prebliski to bring his gun down and let him see it. The firearm was produced from the stairway, and while it was in the latter's hands, it went off and the charge entered Libudzeska's chest at the base of the left neck. It went in at the bottom of the coat collar, and the muzzle was so close to him that the cloth was burned.

The wound was an awful one to look at. It was one and one-half inches in diameter and the lower edge of its circumference was at the center of the third clavicle. Its course was downward and the charge tore through the windpipe and aesophagus, shattered the subclavian arteries, and was imbedded in the upper lobe of the right lung.

HE DIED INSTANTLY. HE DIED INSTANTLY.

The deceased was sitting on a chair when the shot struck him and he died before he fell on the floor. The blood pumped out of the wound in large quantities and bestrewed the floor. The pallor of the body was as strong as if there was not a drop left in it. As soon as the shooting happened young Prebliski ran out of the house and to where his uncle lived. His father was there visiting and he asked to be saved from the consequences of the killing. from the consequences of the killing. He cried and pleaded that it was acci-

He cried and pleaded that it was accidental.

Chief of Police Henry McGarrity and Constable Max Koehler located the two Prebliski boys and took them to the office of 'Squire Shivinski until Coroner S. P. Longstreet arrived at 5 o'clock. The body had not been removed except a few feet from where it had fallen until Dr. Longstreet came, and assisted by Dr. E. M. Pennypacker, held an autopsy. They found that the charge was mostly deposited in the upper part of the right lung and they removed several grains. It was No. 8 removed several grains. It was No.

A jury comprising William E. Moses, Dr. W. P. Kennedy, E. J. Burke, Professor M. J. Lloyd, John Miller, of Priceburg, and John T. Brown were present during the autopsy and adjourned to 'Squire Slivinski's office to hear the testimony. The boy who did the shooting was the first one examined. He denied point blank that he had the gun in his hands when it went off and said he was outside. The only thing he did admit was that he had got the gun for the deceased to look at.

VERDICT OF THE JURY. VERDICT OF THE JURY.

Michael Prebilski, the other brother, was sworn. He saw the two boys handling the gun in the dining room and went out in the yard to look after a two-year-old baby while the old woman was gone for the beer. Chief of Police McGarrity found the gun in a closet unstairs. The shell was taken out of it. Dr. J. J. Bilhelmer was also sworn, but his testimony threw no light on how the sheating occurred. The jury's verdict was as follows: "We, the undersigned jury, find that Frank Libudzeski came to his death from the effects of a gunshot wound in the chest Libudzeski came to his death from the effects of a gunshot wound in the chest inflicted by Frank Prebilski, while carelessly handling a gun."

The testimony of the witnesses before the coroner served for the hearing before 'Squire Silvinski on the charge of murder preferred by the mother of the deceased. On account of the conflicting stories told by Prebilski the squire decided to send the case before squire decided to send the case before squire decided to send the case before the grand jury.

The body was removed to his par-ents' home after the autopsy. At the hearing his mother was present and she cried as if her heart would break. The deceased is the youngest of a family of six. Prebilski is a son of Michael Prebilski.

PILGER'S DESPERATE DEED. After Celebrating the Christening of His

Child He Kills Himself. Petersburg furnished its quota to the exciting events of yesterday. William Pilger, of Richter avenue, about to clock in the evening blew his head open with a shot gun the same as if it had been split with an ax. He went into a small bedroom, took the gun along, sat down on the edge of the bed put the muzzle in his mouth and pulled the trigger with his big toe of the right foot.

The charge went directly through the brain center and split the head through the medial line. His brains were scat-tered about the room and when his horrifled family went to see what had hap-pened he was dead. A strange feature of the rash act was the fact that there was a christening at the house in the morning and during the day a number of friends called and entered into the spirit of celebrat-ing the baptism of Pilger's youngest child, so that there was no occasion for any despondency to arise. While liquid refreshments were partaken quite freely, yet there was no intoxication. It had not got beyond the degree of exhilaration. Pilger appeared to be the happiest one in the party. He joked and laughed and made himself busy that those present would enjoy themselves. And when he left the room where some of the guests were he was light-hearted any cherry. A few minutes later when his corrse was gazed upon they were thunder-struck. He had giv-en no sign nor word to indicate his intention, and no one in the house saw him get the gun, which was in another Dr. A. H. Bernstein was immediately summoned, but though he arrived at the house promptly nothing could be done, as death was instantaneous. Pilger was between 40 and 45 years old. A wife and six children survive him. He was employed in the Dunmore mines of the Pennsylvania Coal company as a miner, and was an industrious citi-

He lived happily with his family and no cause can be assigned for the rash act. Dr. Bernstein notified Coroner Longstreet, who decided to investigate the case today.

ARE A VERY BAD TRIBE. The Kelly's Patch Disturbers Again in

Charge of the Police. The notorious Fallon-Boylan family, of Kelly's Patch, brought the police down upon themselves again Saturday night. About 2 o'clock a. m. two of the Fallon children rushed into the West Side police station and told Lieutenant Williams that their mother, who was in bed with her three-days-old babe, had been struck on the head with a hammer by her brother-in-law, James Boylan.

Lowry and Lewis, hastened to the scene and found the famous quartette almost stupefied with drink and on every hand evidences of a riotous time.

Boylan made his escape but his wife, the famed "Cyclone Kate," and James Fallon, quite equally as famous, were taken into custody. The "Cyclone" had a gash on her forehead which she claimed had been inflicted with a file in the hands of the sick Mrs. Fallon. The latter woman was not injured. #### MICHAEL STROGOFF REVIVAL

William Morris Gives an Elaborate

Production at the Frothingham. William Morris' production of "Michael Strogoff" at the Frothingham Saturday was an elaborate affair, but Saturday was an elaborate affair, but not the kind that appeals to the regular theater-goer. There are few companies that carry finer scenery and settings and the members of the cast are all competent actors, but there is something lacking in the story as it is dramatized to keep the audience interested throughout, consequently it was not received with any great degree of warmth. warmth.

Morris himself is a very fine actor possessing a superb stage presence and good voice. Of the large company which the play demands Miss Florence Gerald and Criffith Evans do the most effective work.

The richest picking and the quickest selling we've had this season. In all the country there are no brighter, shrewder, better posted women than right here in Scranton, and the crowds that have visited our store means something.

The possibilities of trade are simply wonderful when such novelties and values are represented. All new goods, no old stock, with our facilities for buying it would be worse than folly to deal in trash. That's when good management shows itself, and no day without something newer and more tempting. That's why this store will always lead.

We have twice over what any other store in Scranton can show, and we question whether any stock anywhere represents better values for the money.
