MORE SUBSCRIPTIONS.

The Bicycle Cider Path is Now a Sure Thing.

Despite a few discouragements which the Carbondale Cycle club have had in their efforts to build a cider path between Scranton and Crystal Lake, they have not given up the work and things look a little brighter. A meeting was appointed for last Friday evening, but as few delegates from down the valley put in their appearance, it was postponed. The boys think that some point between here and Scranton should be selected for a meeting, and accordingly have secured a hall in Oliphant, where all who are in the valley interested in the movement will meet Friday evening. All those who desire to go from this place should meet at the hall at 6.30 sharp, from whom they will go to Oliphant on their wheels.

A little impetus and encouragement has been given to the work by the fact that already, without any soliciting on the part of the club, $250 have been subscribed for the path. The latest to subscribe were Frank Hubbard and George Patterson, the former giving $25 and the latter $5. Subscription blanks are now being printed and will be circulated among the wheelmen as soon as ready.

SENSATION AT COURT.

Irregularities That May Save the Neck of Frank Shaffer.

A sensation occurred in the criminal court here yesterday when the district attorney announced that Peter Wasell, alias "Terrible Pete," would be the first to be tried on the list, the charge being murder in the first degree. It was alleged that he killed a countryman of his named Peter Kupersavage some two months ago. Eugene Ward, his attorney, asked for a continuance of the case, which was refused.

Mr. Ward at once filed objection in a report to crush the array of jurors drawn to serve next week on the ground that the recently elected jury commissioners, Taylor and Dahl, had failed to take the oath of office as required by law, and claimed that all of the panels of jurors drawn were irregular and void, and that the whole show this to be the fact and prove it by the jury commissioners themselves.

Judge Bennett then continued the case until 10 o'clock tomorrow to give Mr. Ward a chance to bring the jury commissioners into court. If he can prove his charge the entire panels of January, March and April grand jurors, common jurors and quarter sessions panels of jurors will be illegal and all prisoners convicted by them will have to be retried. Frank Shaffer, who is charged with the murder of a woman, would be acquitted, because he was tried by an irregular jury and the law says a man cannot be tried twice for his life.

THE NEW PASTOR.

Rev. W. H. Stone Addresses His New Congregation.

One of the largest congregations ever assembled in St. Clement's church greeted the new pastor, Rev. W. H. Stone, Sunday morning and welcomed him to his new charge. Many were obliged to stand during the services, but the sermon delivered amply repaid them. Rev. Mr. Stone took for his text the words of St. Paul: "The night is far spent and the day is at hand." He laid particular stress upon the fact that many people postpone their entrance into a Christian life until it is too late. The music of the morning service was the same as that at Easter and was well rendered. A new feature was added to the musical programme, when Miss Emily Daniel played a prelude at the commencement of the service and a postlude at the conclusion. In the evening Rev. Mr. Stone preached on "Watchfulness."
