QUAY'S BOOM UNDER WAY

Receives the Hearty Endorsement of Harrisburg Convention.

McKINLEYITES TURNED DOWN

Jack Robinson's Efforts to llave the Ohio Man Named as Second Choice Are Fruitless - An Exciting Scene. The Platform.

Harrisburg Pa., April 23.—The presidential boom of Senator Matthew Stanley Quay was formally launched today and the impetus it received by the Republican state convention was of a strong character. The Quay nu-herents controlled the convention by a ratio of 3 to 1, and a desperate effort made to have McKinley endorsed as the second choice failed, although there was a stormy scene. The convention re-elected Senator Quay as state chairman, and elected the following as presman, and elected the following as presidential electors-at-large: Joseph Wharton, Philadel; hia; Alex F. Patton, Clearfield; William Witherow, Allegheny, and Peter L. Kimberly, Mercer.
The presidential electors as chosen in the different congress, hal districts were also ratified The, are: First district, Dr. John S. Pearson, Philadelphia; Second, Allen B. Rorke, Philadelphia; Second, Affen B. Rorke, Phiada-phia; Third, Frank P. Henley, Phila-delphia; Fourth, William M. Taggart, Philadelphia; Fifth, Leonard Myers, Philadelphia; Sixth, Joseph H. Huddell, Delaware; Seventh, William F. Soley, Norristown; Eighth, John Fritz, Beth-lehem; Ninth, Henry L Johnson, Read-ing; Tenth, John H, Landis, Windom; Eleventh, Everett Warren, Scranton; Tweifth, E. W. The delegates of large to the pation

The delegates-at-large to the national convention were chosen as follows: Governor D. H. Hastings, James Elver-Son, Philadelphia; Frank J. Torrence, Allegheny; James S. Beacom, West-moreland; T. L. Flood, Crawford; Jo-serh Hosler, Montgomery; W. W. Griest, Lancaster; F. H. Barker, Cam-

The alternates-at-large are Charles A. Miner, Luzerne; State Senator Boies Penrose. Philadelphia; State Senator Arthur Kennedy, Allegheny; State Senators J. M. McCarrell, Dauphin; Frank E. Hoffer, Cumberland; Charles W. Miller, Venango; James B. Raymond, Blair; Charles M. Plank, Berks.

GROW AND DAVENPORT. Samuel A. Davenport, of Erie, and Galusha A. Grow, of Susquehanna, the present incumbents, were nominated as congressmen-at-large by acclama-tion. Delegate Robertson, of Allegheny, placed William E. Harrison, of McKeesport, in nomination for this office, but he withdrew his name while the vote was being taken, and upon his motion the nominations of Davenport and Grow were made unanimous Ex-State Treasurer Henry K. Boyer, of Philadelphia, was temporary chairman of the convention, and Auditor General Amos H. Mylin, of Lancaster, was the permanent chairman.

The convention met at 10.30 o'clock.

took a recess from 11.55 until 2.05 p. m. and adjourned sine die at 5.15 o'clock. The most interesting incident of the convention and a most exciting one, oc-curred this afternoon after Senator Quay had been endorsed for the presi-dency, and when Congressman John B. Robinson, of Delaware county, endeav-Robinson, of Delaware county, endeavored to put through a resolution favoring McKinley as the second choice. The endorsement of Quay is contained in the first plank of the platform, and the McKinley resolution reads thus:

"In the event of the retirement of the Pennsylvania candidate for president endorsed this day, Hon. Matthew Stanley Quay, after all honorable means have been exhausted to promote his nomination, the delegates-at-large his nomination, the delegates-at-large from this state are hereby instructed to vote for and support the candidacy of that Napoleon of protection and ad-vance agent of prosperity, Hon. Will-iam McKinley, of Ohio."

The committee on resolutions had turned down the McKinley boom at its meeting, during the recess of the con-vention, but this did not deter Mr. Robinson from again bringing it up on the floor of the convention as an amendment to the platform.

SCENE OF EXCITEMENT. The introduction of the resolution created a genuine furore. Cries of "Quay." "Quay," filled the air, and Chairman Mylin tried in vain to restore order. Robinson finally mounted the stage and, after demanding protec-tion from the chair, he made an im-passioned address. He started off by telling what he had done for Quay in the senator's fight last year, and said he wanted the national delegates to first support Quay, but after that, in deference to the feelings of the people who love Quay, there should be the support of William McKinley. He did not want the delegation to go where it did not belong on second choice. Last year Quay was for Reed or McKinley. Hon. Boies Penrose declared for Mc-Kinley some time ago, the speaker said, as did also Senator Andrews, and the speaker had no doubt McKinley is today their second choice. Senator Boles Penrose, who replied to Congressman Robinson, said he had considered the name of McKinley as available and good, but he was not here to work any scheme of personal aggrandizement. He was not here to make Quay's endorsement ridiculous and yeak before the country. Quay has weak before the country. Quay has frequently been misunderstood, he has always been victorious and today he is the foremost Republican in this broad domain. He has won his spurs by gallant fighting and last summer he showed himself a master of political control. He is the most likely candid.

control. He is the most likely candidate of all those before the St. Louis convention, and a nomination there means his election. Shall we, his friends, permit any person to introduce any amendment to our platform that would weaken or belittle Mr. Quay? (Loud cries of "No," and

The outcome of the tumultuous affair was the rejection of the McKinley amendment by a vote of 65 ayes to 178 amendment by a vote of sa ayes to 118 nays. This was regarded as a test of the respective strength of the Quay and anti-Quay elements.

The original platform was then adopted.

Resignations Announced in the Chamber of Deputies-Statement by M. Bourgeois-Reported Refusal of President Faure to Endorse a Bill for Constitutional Revision.

Paris, April 23.-Almost immediately after the reassembling of the chamber of deputies today, M. Bourgeois an-nounced the resignation of the cabinet. The chamber of deputies was crowded. M. Bourgeois and his colleagues withdrew as soon as the announcement was Bourgeois, in announcing the resignation of the ministry, read a statement contesting the right of the senate to overthrow a ministry, or to be the sole interpreter of the constitu-tion, but he said that in view of the impossibility of securing proper mili-tary reliefs for Madagascar the cabi-net was compelled to resign.

The premier was frequently interrupted with cries from the Extreme Left of "Down with the senate," and when the ministers filed out of the house there was loud applause from the Right and Center, to which the Left replied with loud cries of "Turn out the senate," "Down with the senate." A prolonged tumult followed.

According to the newspapers here President Faure has declined to countersign the bill providing for the revision of the constitution which the premier, M. Bourgeots, wished to sub-mit to the chamber of deputies today. It is also said that in view of the presi-dent's refusal the members of the Radical Left rarty have decided to intro-duce a motion denying the senate the right to be the sole interpreter of the constitution, and demanding that a meeting of the national assembly be called to decide the question in dis-

WEYLER'S PROCLAMATION.

Havana, April 23.—Capain General Weyler tonight issued a proclamation which he expects will result in many of the rebels laying down their arms. The proclamation says in substance that the insurgents in the province of Pinar del Rio have been demoralized by the obstacles which prevent their passing the military line extending from Mariel to Majana, and by their constant persecution by the troops.

It being known that many of the insurgents are desirous of surrendering but fear to do so, believing they will be shot, he therefore orders that all rebel leaders and their followers who during the next twenty days shall present themselves with their arms to the military authorities in that provthe military authorities in that prov-ince will be pardoned. #### WEALTH OF A HERMIT. John Riley Dies Amid Squator Leaving

Washington, April 23 .- A few days ago an old man named John Riley, who had been living as a hermit in an old house near the river was found lying in his squalid quarters. He was removed to the almshouse, where he died. The body was interred through the efforts of railroad men who knew little of the circumstances of the old man's life. Since then his identity has been disclosed as John Riley, who was a millionaire in St. Louis only a few years ago, and owned property valued at between seven and eight millions of dollars, the greater part of which, however, has disappeared. The old man left St. Louis some years ago with about $300,000 in cash, none of which has been found. Riley was a promin-ent steamboat man on the Mississippi river during the war, and rendered valuable service to the government in transporting troops and supplies, for which he had a claim against the gov-ernment for $95,000. In Spite of the Heavy Sea the Vessel Rides the Waves Gracefully-Will Earn Her Builder a Bonns of $100,000.

Boston, April 23.-The battleship Massachusetts was given a preliminary run by the builders over the official course today. The trial was so satis-factory that only two-fifths of the dis-tance was steamed over. The ship was speeded for a little less than two hours, and in that time she averaged 15.59 knots an hour, which is .59 of a knot above her contract speed. If the vessel carries out the expectations raised by her performance today, she should make a full 16 knots on her official trial

Saturday and earn her builders a bonu of $100,000. It was a perfect spring morning as the sun ever rose upon when the Massachusetts headed down the bay for the open sea, but there was a heavy swell rolling in from the ocean. This swell soon made itself apparent to those aboard the ship. Several sailors were forward securing the anchor. The Massachusetts poked her nose into a roller and a small sea broke over the bows. This was followed an instant afterwards by a torrent of white crested foaming water, which swept the men at work along the deck like nine pins.

SAILOR INJURED. It was a perfect spring morning a SAILOR INJURED. All but one of them escaped with good drenching, but one sallor was thrown against an anchor fluke and his leg was badly cut. The vessel plunged continually under water. Two sailors were sent forward to cover the forward were sent forward to cover the forward ventilators with tarpaulins as the lower deck was being flooded out. While they were tying the canvas around the ventilators a particularly big sea came over the boat. As the wall of water came at them both men hung on for their lives. The sea lifted them from their feet and swung them into the air, both had a good grip, one on a ventilator and the other on a backstay, and both had a good grip, one on a ventilator and the other on a backstay, and both held on, but as the sea dropped them back on the deck one of the men was dashed with such force upon the planks that his ankle was sprained.

It was necessary to bring the vessel broadside onto the surge before the ventilators could be secured.

After the Massachusetts got out to sea, the swell was not so heavy, but nevertheless the surge was big enough to materially reduce the speed of the ship. Despite the heavy swell the Massachusetts hardly rolled at sea, and
