WEST SIDE EVENTS.

It is Said That an Effort Will Be Made to Establish a Branch of American Volunteers.

There will be exciting times in local salvation army circles in a few weeks. Major Watkins, of the American Volunteers, is coming here and with her will come Miss Hannah Masland and Miss Nellie Green, late leaders of the Scranton Salvation army corps. It is noised about that the two young women will manage a local Volunteer corps, which will be organized when Major Watkins arrives. The nucleus for the new corps is to be drawn from the Scranton Salvation army. It is untrue that the Tabernacle Congregational church has been offered to Major Watkins. The meeting place has not been decided upon. There are at present about seventy-five members in the Salvation army corps. Of these perhaps a half dozen have signified their willingness to join the rival organization.

A prominent Scranton lawyer is acting in this city as the representative of Ballington Booth. He it was, according to rumor, who weaned the Misses Masland and Green from the Salvation army and caused them to join the new movement.

In New Jersey, New York city and in Chicago, Ballington Booth's influence is most felt. According to local Salvation army leaders the new movement is successful only because of the attractive personality of the younger Booth and his wife. One of the officers recently said: "The Volunteer movement will hurt us in this city. It will stimulate the work in which we are at present engaged in, but both organizations will suffer from financial wants. We have hard work now to keep the Price street barracks, and with the two children at the table the food will hardly go around. This is where it will do ill."

PRICE STREET WEDDING.

Miss Mamie E. Kromer, of North Hyde Park avenue, and D. W. Saunders were married last evening at the home of the groom's parents on Price street. Rev. W. M. Hillem, of Susquehanna, was the officiating clergyman. Mr. Hillem is a former pastor of the bride. At 8.30 o'clock the bridal party entered the lower apartments of the house and while they stood under an arch of green the ceremony was performed. The group presented an attractive appearance. Around the room were scattered potted palms and plants, with bunchings of flowers. The bridesmaid was Miss Annie Stevans, and the groomsman was Charles Bechtold. Miss Kromer was gowned in a lansdowne costume, with trimmings of Persian silk and lace. Miss Stevans wore a pretty garment. After the wedding a social time was enjoyed by the invited guests to the number of about 100 persons. The Columbian quartette made the evening pleasant with the singing of songs. The out-of-town guests were the Misses Anna, Margaret and Mamie Stevans, of Carbondale; Miss Lottie Lee, Mrs. Maria Kromer and Harry Shepple, of Waverly; Miss Florence Sayres, of Moscow, and Dr. Haltham, of Philadelphia.

The occasion was the celebration of his twenty-first birthday and was one long to be remembered. A large number of friends were present and passed the evening pleasantly in music, games and other social diversions which tend to make merry such affairs. Mr. Williams was the recipient of many handsome and useful gifts as tokens of the esteem in which he is held by his acquaintances. Several out-of-town visitors were present. ## NO FAITH CURE

ABOUT STUART'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

They Cure Stomach Troubles and Indigestion Anyway, Whether You have Faith in Them or Not.

All physicians agree that the element of faith has a great deal to do in the cure of disease.

Firm belief and confidence in a family physician or the same confidence and faith in a patent medicine, have produced remarkable cures, in all ages.

This is especially true in nervous troubles and no field offers so prolific a harvest for the quack and charlatan, as the diseases arising from a weak or run down nervous system.

Nevertheless, the most common of all diseases, indigestion and stomach troubles, which in turn cause nervous diseases, heart troubles, consumption and loss of flesh, require something besides faith to cure.

Mere faith will not digest your food for you, will not give you an appetite, will not increase your flesh and strengthen your nerves and heart, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do these things, because they are composed of the elements of digestion, they contain the juices, acids and peptones necessary to the digestion and assimilation of all wholesome food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest food if placed in a jar or bottle in water heated to 98 degrees, and they will do it much more effectively when taken into the stomach after meals, whether you have faith that they will or not.

They invigorate the stomach, make pure blood and strong nerves, in the only way that nature can do it, and that is, from plenty of wholesome food well digested. It is not what we eat, but what we digest that does us good.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by nearly all druggists at 50 cents for full sized package, or by mail from the Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.

LOW RENTS IN LONDON.

In the English Metropolis Living is Cheaper Than in New York.

The London Daily Graphic, in commenting upon a paragraph which appeared in this column some time ago concerning the pay of literary workers, smiles at the idea of $5,000 a year being regarded as a small income. I never said that it was a small income. What I did say was that it was small in proportion to the demands upon it. It would be good pay for a bachelor, but not for a gentleman of family. The Graphic closes its remarks by saying: "We know of scores of literary workers in London, who, in the historic phrase of the cabman, 'wish that they had half the complaint' of the new paupers of New York." From the Graphic's point of view, $5,000 a year is a good deal of money, for the Graphic is a London paper, and $2,500 a year in London is equal to $5,000 in New York. A family man with $5,000 a year in this city cannot afford to live in a house, as I have said before; in London he could afford a very good house. I know of one man of letters in London, for example, who has a house that I would be proud to live in, and all he pays is £50 a year. This may not include rates and taxes—I hope for the sake of the landlord that it does not—but even with those expenses added the rent would be pretty low. Where in New York could he get a house or even a flat for such a price?

SHAVED AT HOME.

A Suggestion That Ladies Should Shave Their Husbands.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

"Do you ever notice how clean shaven that man is?" asked a young woman pointing to a merchant well known on Main street the other day. When she was answered in the affirmative the young woman continued:

"Well, that shows what a woman can do. His wife shaves him. I surprise you? I would surprise you more if I told you the names of a dozen more well-known merchants who indulge their whims and their wives' desires in this direction. It almost amounted to a fad for a time, and was at its height last summer. A Louisville woman who was visiting east saw some women barbers at work in New York, and as she noted the ease and grace with which the professionals removed the superfluous hirsute growth she concluded she would try it when she returned home. Her husband objected at first, but when he was finally induced to subject himself to the ordeal he congratulated himself on the result. After that he would not allow a regular barber to touch his face. The fad spread, and I couldn't tell you how many more followed suit."

PAINLESS, BUT NOT PROFITABLE.

The dentist was torturing his victim in the usual double fashion.

The story he was telling at that moment was on himself.

"When I was young in the profession," said he, "I was working in a country place for a few weeks to help a friend. One day a farmer came in—a big, muscular chap, full blooded—one of the sort whose teeth come like the roots of oak trees.

"As he sat in the chair, he asked, 'Will it hurt?'

"Feeling in rather a jocular mood, I answered, 'Well, if it doesn't it shan't cost you anything.' Then I fell to work.

"The tooth came even harder than I expected, so as the man got up from the chair and pulled himself together—he had not uttered a sound—I said, 'Well, did it hurt?'

"'Not a bit,' answered the countryman, and strode out of the office, leaving me minus a fee, completely nonplussed, and the laughing stock of my friend and the two or three patrons who sat about the office.

"I have never tried to be funny professionally since," said he, meditatively."—Chicago Tribune.

DIDN'T NEED A CLOCK.

Mrs. Yerger—"That's a very handsome clock you have there on the mantelpiece."

Mrs. Peterby—"Yes; it keeps very good time, too. It is very useful during the day."

"I should think it would be still more useful during the night. You can tell then at what hour your husband comes home."

"I don't need any clock for that purpose."

"Why not?"

"Well, you see, if he bangs the front door and makes a great deal of noise, I know then that it is quite early. If he does not make much noise, is very pleasant in his talk and says 'good-evening,' then I know that it is late. If he takes off his boots and goes to bed without lighting the gas, then I am sure that it is about 3 o'clock in the morning. As I said, the clock is quite convenient during the day, but I really don't need one at night."—Texas Siftings.

THE COURT COULDN'T DECIDE.

Judge Buck, of the Superior court, at Spokane, has for three days past been hearing arguments in the case of the state against John W. Considine, proprietor of a variety theater, who is charged with the crime of having violated a new state law called the "barmaid act," which prohibits females from being employed in any place where liquor is sold, and which was being attacked as to its constitutionality. The lawyers had all assembled in court this morning to resume arguments, when Judge Buck arose and said:

"Gentlemen, I learned for the first time last night that my wife was the author of that bill, and, that being the case, I will decline to pass upon the question of its constitutionality."

The arguments will not have to be gone over again before one of the other judges.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Father's Pride.

Conductor—"Did you see the man with the kid?"

Gripman—"No."

Conductor—"He's the proudest father I ever struck—insisted on paying full fare for the 6-months-old boy!"—Chicago Record.

Reform's Location.

Stump Speaker—"I say, we've got to have reform in our politics! It's in the air!"

Skeptical Auditor—"'Bout time it struck the earth, isn't it?"—Roxbury Gazette.

MARKET AND STOCK REPORT

Wall Street Review.

New York, April 28.—Trading at the Stock Exchange was light today, only 147,559 shares changing hands. During the early dealings the tendency of prices was upward and prices advanced anywher from ½ to 2 per cent., the improvement being most pronounced in the case of the Grangers, Consolidated Gas and the specialities. London bought the Grangers and local operators also purchased these stocks. The favorable earnings recently reported having had a stimulating influence. In the late trading business picked up, but the increase was at the expense of values. Foreign houses wer sellers of St. Paul and other international stocks, the developments in South Africa having induced foreign liquidations. In the aggregate it is to be said the sales for this account were light. Manhattan was rather heavy on sales of about 5,000 shares and fell from 110¾ to 108½@108¾. The decline in the active railway list ranged from ¼ to 1 per cent. In the Industrials Sugar was the feature. The stock ranged between 124@125⅝ and closed ⅝ per cent. lower on the day at 124¼. Tobacco first rose to 73¼ and then fell to 71½. In the specialties Albany and Susquehanna rose 2 to 182 on dealings of 225 shares. Speculation closed weak in tone. Net changes show losses to ½@1 per cent. Consolidated Gas was an exception, gaining 2 points on the day.

ROOF TINNING AND SOLDERING

All done away with by the use of HARTMAN'S PATENT PAINT, which consists of ingredients well-known to all. It can be applied to tin, galvanized tin, sheet iron roofs, also to brick dwellings, which will prevent absolutely any crumbling, cracking or breaking of the brick. It will outlast tinning of any kind by many years, and its cost does not exceed one-fifth that of the cost of tinning. Is sold by the job or pound. Contracts taken by
