Deceased was born in Fingertown, County Westmeath, Ireland, in 1818, and came to this country in 1842, settling in Honesdale, where she was married four years later. The family moved to this city in 1882.

Besides Judge Smith, she is survived by Dr. D. F. Smith, of Plymouth; E. F. Smith, of this city, and Misses Kate and Mary.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning with a solemn high mass of requiem at St. Paul's church, Green Hill. The remains will be taken on the noon train over the Delaware and Hudson road to Honesdale, where interment will take place at 3 o'clock p. m.

LOST IN NEW YORK.

Original Tank Drama at the Academy Shows Money Evening.

The original "tank" drama, "Lost in New York," comes to the Academy of Music next Monday evening, and our theater-goers, who enjoy an exciting drama full of thrilling climaxes and realistic features, will enjoy it.

While the play is sensational it is at the same time free from "blood and murder." There are no murders, fire nor obnoxiousness in the whole five acts. The scenery is very beautiful, and among the mechanical effects introduced are real yachts, ferries, rowboats and a practical steamboat, that runs at full speed.

OPENING A GYMNASIUM.

Stroudsburg State Normal School Will Celebrate Next Month.

Invitations were yesterday received in this city for the exercises attendant upon the opening of the new gymnasium at the Stroudsburg State Normal school May 15 and 16.

The exercises will consist of an exposition of school work on the afternoon of the 15th, a musical and literary entertainment in the evening and a gymnasium exhibition on Saturday. Superintendent George Howell, of this city, will be one of the speakers.

In St. Mary's Catholic church, Dunmore, a month's mind mass for the late Rev. Gerald McMurray was celebrated by Rev. M. B. Donlin. Rev. T. F. Comerford, of Archbald, was deacon; Rev. T. F. Coffey, of Carbondale, sub-deacon, and Rev. J. J. McCabe, of Avoca, master of ceremonies.

Pillsbury's Flour mills have a capacity of 17,000 barrels a day.

HE ADVERTISED TOO WELL.

Fortune Teller's Husband Gets Her Into Trouble.

Madame Florence, of Ninth Street, Recently from the National Capital, Told County Detective Leyshon's Fortune Tuesday Night.

Madame Florence, who held forth as a fortune teller at 201 Ninth street, West Side, was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant sworn out by County Detective Thomas Leyshon before Alderman Owen D. John, of the Fourth ward. The madame is a married woman. Her husband is in the city with her and his name is Fuller. They came here recently from Washington, D. C.

One day last week the husband started himself on the sidewalk near the entrance to the school of the Lackawanna on Jefferson avenue, as the students were coming out at the close of the afternoon session, and he distributed handbills right and left advertising his wife's talents as a medium of communication with the spirits.

One of the officers was brought to the notice of Judge R. W. Archbald who instructed County Detective Leyshon to investigate the case. Chief of Police Simpson had also had notice of the case and he made a personal investigation; he found that when the Fullers came to the city first they rented rooms at 215 Franklin street, and then, after a month's tenure of that place they moved to 201 Ninth street.

WAS ARRESTED YESTERDAY.

Improved Change in Hotelkeeper Weisenfluh's Condition.

There was a change for the better yesterday in the condition of Hotelkeeper John Weisenfluh, of Trenton, who was assaulted early Tuesday morning by David Davis and William Morris, whom he was ejecting from his place of business on account of their place of business on account of their place of business. His recovery is now pronounced.

HIS LOVE IT GREW COLD.

George Phillips Would Not Marry and Now He is a Defendant.

MISS MARVEL THE PLAINTIFF.

She Thinks $10,000 Will Be Necessary to Repair the Damage Done to Her Affections by the Conduct of the Man She Loved.

Miss Mary Marvel is one of Jessup's pretty young women. She is just budding into glorious womanhood and a perfection of face and figure that mark her as a person of unusual attractiveness.

Some time ago she met George Phillips, who is also a resident of Jessup. He was charmed by her beauty, youth and cleverness and wooed her so ardently that at length in response to his pleading she consented that his love was reciprocated and that she was willing to become his partner for life.

Last Saturday was the day fixed for the nuptials and several weeks prior thereto the young woman was deeply engrossed in the preparation of her trousseau. So intent was she in that most glorious task for woman that she quite overlooked the fact that her expected husband-to-be was losing some of his ardor and did not greet her so fondly as in the old days when they first murmured the "sweetest story ever told." Saturday, the day that Miss Marvel fondly expected to bring her so much happiness, brought instead a sad and bitter awakening.

NO LONGER LOVED HER.

Several hours before the time fixed for the marriage, Phillips called on Miss Marvel and asked for a private interview. He told the young woman that his love for her had been dying out until naught but the expiring numbers remained, and that he would be untrue to himself and to her if he went to the altar professing for her a love he did not feel. He closed with a painful interview by announcing as his ultimatum that he would not marry her.

At this distressing news Miss Marvel succumbed and Phillips retired. The bridal gown was laid away, the invitations to the wedding were recalled and the ill-fated bride retired to her room that no one might see her grief.

Then came the news that Phillips had given his heart to another and would soon lead her to the altar. That determined Miss Marvel and her uncle, John Crow, upon the course they should pursue. They came to this city and instructed Attorney John F. Murphy to at once begin an action against George Phillips for damages for breach of promise.

LARGE DAMAGES ASKED.

Mr. Murphy obeyed, and the declaration in the case was yesterday filed with Prothonotary C. E. Pryor. The amount of damages Miss Marvel asks as a claim for her wounded affections is $10,000. She was evidently much attached to Phillips, and her appearance indicates that she has suffered greatly since he flitted her.

Miss Marvel is not yet 21 years of age. Her parents reside on the other side of the Atlantic, and she has for years made her home with her uncle, Phillips, in his father's store, and she is quite well-to-do. They obtained a marriage license two weeks ago.

A capias was issued for Phillips yesterday and placed in the hands of the sheriff. It will be served today, and Phillips will be asked to furnish $1,000 bail or go to jail.
