The friends will walk from the house to the church and depot in Green Ridge.

A souvenir badge has been designed for the local Knights Templar. It consists of a miniature section of a steel rail to the bottom of flat portion of which a ribbon is attached, containing a suitable inscription. From this a small piece of coal is suspended. The badge typifies the coal and steel industries that are such important factors in the industrial life of Scranton.

A "summer rest" has been provided for a women of our city by the "Young Women's" Christian association. The association has secured Sea Rest at Ashbury Park, N. J., which will be open for the Scranton women in July, providing applications are made before May 10. The terms are $2.50 per week in advance and the railroad fare $1.00 for the round trip. Those who wish to have a rest during the summer months will be wise in taking this opportunity of reduced rates at such an attractive resort as Ashbury Park.

Percival J. Morris and T. J. Lacey & Son have submitted water color perspective sketches of the proposed addition to the court house, which will raise it one story and give more room for court purposes and jury rooms.

MR. POWDERLY'S ADDRESS.

Delivered Last Night in Wood's College Before a Large Audience.

Hon. T. V. Powderly lectured last night at Wood's college for one hour and a half to a very large audience, composed of the faculty and students of the college, together with their friends and the public generally. "Labor and Christianity" was the subject of the lecturer's discourse.

It was the same able and eloquent address which he delivered at Vandling three months ago, but so simplified as to bring it within the comprehension of the average school boy. The speaker said:

"We live in a rapid world. This is the age of electricity and machinery. In politics, education and religion we move just as rapidly. The theories of today are practical operations tomorrow, or they give way to new theories. The subjects of arbitration, communism, the coöperation of labor and capital, free trade and protection have been discussed, tried repeatedly, pronounced failures, for the reason that man is imperfect. Yet they are very much alive again, today. Since their failures are due to man's imperfections, why not give our attention to man?"

Mr. Powderly followed out this line of thought elaborately and advocated pre-natal culture as the remedy in the case of the nation, as well as the family and individual.

THE CAUSES CONSIDERED.
The industrial and financial depression of the country at present was described very graphically by the speaker, and its causes very forcibly considered by him. To the extensive emigration of the past decade he attributed the present poor industrial condition of the United States. The methods used in importing foreigners to our shores, the conditions as to cleanliness, morals and wealth, their ignorance of our laws and customs, their aim and object in life were recited in detail; but the illustrations which sufficed to show the injurious effects to our country of unrestricted emigration as now carried on.

Five years ago while in New York the speaker observed a labor detective from the Lackawanna region escort a number of newly arrived foreigners. He followed them until they arrived in Scranton and then to Tricouburg and Dickson City where they expected to receive employment at $2.50 per day as promised, but were paid only 97 cents. The result was that they took the place of American laborers who usually earned $1.50, and removed 55 cents from circulation in the commercial business of our city.

Statistics of the labor saving machinery which has come into existence since 1880 were given to show how rapidly the laborer is being displaced. Self-binding harvesters invented in 1858 now do the work of one million men in the great northwest. The plow performs in a day the work of fifty men. The typewriter put upon the market in 1883 involves an investment of thirty millions of dollars, and cash registers fifteen millions. The machine which makes bicycles far exceeds any of these amounts. The McKay stitcher stitches one thousand shoes per day, and the average machine of the machine shop performs in 6 hours that which a decade ago required 60 hours.

GLIMPSE OF THE FUTURE.
From these evidences we can infer the possibility of the future in the working and factory. Woman with adept fingers will press the button that shall set in motion the countless machines of the industrial world while man, poor man, if he does not wake up, will have to content with looking on. The convict labor contract and its detrimental results to the wage earner was pointed out in a most convincing manner. The illiteracy of the emigrant and a large percentage even of native Americans in the mining regions as proved by the lecturer's words to the audience.

"The little red school house on the hill about which you have heard so much," said he, "is the panacea for all our ills. It will fill them and talk less about them."

He advocated the enforcement of the factory laws which forbid any child under fifteen years of age being employed therein. Immense sums of money should not be sent abroad to christenize the heathen when we have nearly 200 of them in the neighborhood of New York city. Religious differences should make no distinction between men, for in our prayers we all say "Our Father and he is our Father" and we are all children of the same God. Therefore should we all be firm believers in the doctrine of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man.

Labor organizations and labor agitators in all their movements have been laboring to better the condition of the laboring citizen, the American laborer, with reference to education, morals patriotism, love and respect for their fellowmen and their God, therefore they have been doing a truly Christian work.

FUNERAL OF MRS. LONA DAY.
Widely Beloved Young Woman Laid at Rest in Danmore Cemetery.

The funeral of Mrs. Lona B. Day was attended yesterday from the Epworth League room at the Park church, where there assembled to pay a last and tribute to the widely beloved young woman, and to express sympathy for the sorrow-stricken husband, a large throng, composed of a large part of young girls, who were companions of the deceased.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Richard Horns, who conducted a short service at the house before the departure of the remains, was also in attendance. Appropriate and affecting music was rendered by a quartette, consisting of Mrs. Watres, Mrs. Prendergast, G. F. Whittemore, and Gustave Grunberg.

The flower-bearers were six young ladies, dressed in white: Marion Smith, Ella Brown, Christie Zenke, Myrtle Fisher, Lettie Evans and Sadie Smith. The burial was at 10 o'clock at Danmore, A. & R. Foots, D. L. Wilson, John Carlson, W. N. Curry and A. F. Bush. Interment was made in Danmore cemetery.

THEY GAVE A BANQUET.
Pleasant Event in Royal Aramun Circle Last Night.

Scranton council, No. 923, Royal Aramun, held a meeting last night in their rooms in Odd Fellows' hall, Wyoming avenue, after it was over a banquet was enjoyed on the third floor. The members and many visiting brethren were present. D. E. Neeld presided.

Speeches were made by Howell Harris, A. E. Vorhis, Edward P. Henwood, John Proud, and others. Vocal and instrumental music was furnished by Professor Dorey and a colored quartette.

John Welsenfluh is recovering.

John Welsenfluh, the Taylor hotel-keeper, who was assaulted and had his skull fractured early Tuesday morning in a row with a man named Davis, Davis and Morris have not yet been apprehended.

ENDAVORERS' FIELD DAY

Rev. Dr. F. E. Clark, Founder of the Y. P. S. C. E., in the City.

FORETASTE OF CONVENTION
Lecture at Frothingham and Reception at Y. M. C. A. Building—The Flag of '96 and the Convention Choir Make Their Appearance.

This year which is destined to be ever memorable in the annals of Scranton Christian Endavorers will probably be day to which they will look back with more pleasure than yesterday when the first gun of the state convention was fired by the committee.

Rev. Dr. F. E. Clark, founder of the Christian Endavorer society, was brought here to stir up the enthusiasm that is kindling throughout the city for the coming convention. That he succeeded will be attested by the success which awaits the fall gathering.

Dr. Clark arrived in the city at 3 o'clock in the afternoon and was quartered at the Jermyn. After a short rest he was escorted about the city by the committee, who rode to the hotel and gaily decorated with the special flags of this year's convention. In the evening he addressed a large audience at the Frothingham and the reception at the Young Men's Christian association, where he added hundreds to the almost countless number of those who have already met throughout the whole world.

He had been a lesser personage than Dr. Clark, he would have been a being considered an incident of the evening meeting because of its magnitude and importance. For the first time the choir of 150 voices who are training for the convention made its appearance in public, and for the first time the Endavorers were given an opportunity of seeing the flags which are being carried to the convention by G. H. Chandler and is already singing with admirable power and unity. The flag is a very appropriate creation. It has two colors, one red, one white, and the lower, white. In the upper corner, next to the staff, is a keystone containing the Christian Endavorer monogram. The center of the keystone is the white bar printed in blue letters, "Scranton '96." The colors, red, white and blue are emblematic of the nation; the keystone is emblematic of the state; the lettering is indicative of the cause.

MR. DANIELS' ADDRESS.
Chairman C. E. Daniels, of the committee of '96, presided over the meeting and made a most able and interesting address in displaying the flags, which was one of the numbers of the programme. Rev. Dr. James McLeod opened the meeting with an invocation and the songs were rendered by the choir. Rev. Dr. Clark was then introduced in fitting words by Mr. Daniels. As the speaker came to the front the choir sang in grandest the Chautauqua salute and continued applause.

He began by recounting his former visit to the city and what he saw at a state convention of the Endavorers which was held here. The vestry of the Second Presbyterian church was large enough to hold all the delegates and spectators and the room to accommodate it requires two or three large buildings to accommodate the average state convention. Then there were only a few scattered churches in the city. They were scattered over the whole world. The United States is, of course, the stronghold, and Pennsylvania is the banner of the Endavorer society in this country. These statements, he said, were not made by way of boasting, but were merely a contrast prefatory to his subsequent remarks. Continuing he said: "What is God's purpose in this work? No one can claim to be responsible for it. No one could have hindered it. God is in it all. It is of His consequence when our critics more or less kind may think of the Christian Endavorer society. The question is, what is God's purpose in it? It is found in the Book of Job. 'For ye shall say: 'Your sons and daughters shall prophesize; young men shall see visions, and old men shall dream dreams.' It prophesizes that in the hour of tribulation, to stand up for Jesus. In four times ten thousand churches throughout the whole world are young prophets. In their modesty they would not claim to be prophets but in the sense of the text they are prophets, standing up fearlessly and without timidity for Christ."

HE PITTES THEM.
"Your young men shall see visions. I pity the young man who never sees a vision. Many of the glorious visions of better days to come have come to our young people through the medium of the Christian Endavorer society. It is a vision of better citizenship. If the spirit of true patriotism should die in this country, then would our doom be at hand. In Japan, I found that by appealing to the patriotism of the young man I could make the best impression. Do it for Japan's sake was my cry, and the result was that I was able to do it. The government at Pekin was to them only a succession of rotten and tyrannical dynasties. They owed their country nothing. What was the result when the test of patriotism came? Japan was placed among the foremost nations of the world and China was beaten into the dust.

"The time has come for the rousing of patriotism in America. I realized this in my travels and had it forcibly brought to my mind in continental Europe, where an American would have to remain silent when they would speak of our moral stock was low and point out the 10,000 murders, 200 lynchings, riots, bloodshed and political corruption that distracted the country. They come to Americans as a desire to throw off this deplorable condition. An instance of this was the uprising that overthrew Tammany and the government of New York and which is overthrowing Tammanyites throughout the whole country. Now we are beginning to realize that these were but sores on the body politic and we find that there is a sound substratum beneath. Christian Endavorers can truthfully contend that they, by the influence of their young men, had shown this.

"Another vision is world-wide missions. It is used to be 'Our State for Christ.' Now it is 'The World for Christ.' At the state convention in year in Iowa, Michigan, when the leader of the closing meeting asked that any who would be willing to go to the end of the world to carry the gospel of love, should stand up. Four hundred people were counted on their feet. In the state convention at Tennessee sixty young people expressed a like willingness. You will see this thought exemplified next fall in your convention."

THE THIRD VISION.
"World-wide fellowship is a third vision. Our society is interdenominational as well as international. We do not break down the barriers of difference between the various denominations, but, as some one has truly remarked, we take the bars off the wire fences so that we can shake hands with our neighbors. You will see this thought will come to understand this better. You will not know or inquire whether the person sitting next to you is a Presbyterian or a Baptist or a Methodist. All you know or will care to know is that he or she is a Christian. 'Bless Be the Tie that Binds Our Hearts in Christian Love' and 'God Be with You and Us' are the two most popular songs in the world. This blessed, God-given, world-wide fellowship is the delight of us all. We are in creed and polity, but we can array ourselves in love and loyalty against the common enemy in this common light. This is the world-wide fellowship of those who love the Lord.

"Then there is the vision of splendid heroes. The world-wide fellowship overcome their timidity and bashfulness, who have crucified their feelings for love of Christ. We have examples of young men who have walked miles to keep their promise to attend the meetings. In these piping times of peace there is no opportunity given for the exercise of heroism. But go to Armenia, where our Endavorers are giving up their lives sooner than deny their God. In Tarsus, the birthplace of Paul, which he declared was his home city, but which was under Turkish rule, has greatly degenerated, established by the late Elliot F. Shepley, a young man who has joined the societies of Christian Endavorer. The spirit of splendid heroism is ripe in this audience. You have seen this vision. It is the vision of a world-wide fellowship that you would under such circumstances.

DEEPER SPIRITUAL LIFE.
"Then there is the vision of a deeper spiritual life. This will be the keynote of the coming international convention in Washington. If we get this vision of a deeper spiritual life, we will be able to do more for our country than we are doing now. You can have this vision. You can cause it to permeate your convention. You can give it to your visiting delegates. You must have this vision. You must see God. We may say, and truly too, that we have enough machinery and organization. But that we want more is my message to you. Whatever he saith unto you, do it."

At the close of the meeting the entire audience went across the way to the Young Men's Christian association building where they were given an opportunity of meeting Dr. Clark, also H. J. Manning, of Pittston, state transportation agent. During the reception Conrad's orchestra rendered the following programme: "The Buffalo on the midland train."

THE TRIBUNE HAS SENT A STAFF TO REPORT ON THE CONVENTION. THE COMPLETE REPORT OF THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION WILL BE PUBLISHED TOMORROW.

PROF. F. F. KOFF DEAD.
He Was One of the Leading Musicians of the Country.

Professor Frederick F. Koff, musical director of the Scranton Liederkranz, died at his residence at 10 o'clock yesterday morning at his home, corner of Adams avenue and Linden street. His death has deprived the realm of music of one of the most successful teachers of his time in this country and as a warm-hearted, wholehearted citizen, always ready to lend his talents for the use of every good cause, he was recognized and appreciated.

Kerr Koff, as he was familiarly known, was born in 1862, thirty-four years ago, in the city of Hanau, Germany. He was devoted to music since boyhood, and at an early age began his studies under the direction of the famous teacher, Heinrich Spohr one year, and took a final course of three years at the Berlin conservatory under the direction of Joachim. He was afterwards concertmaster in Dresden for a few years.

The deceased came to America 12 years ago and on June 20, 1884, was married in New York city to Miss Pauline Keller, whose father had been in Germany and induced him to emigrate hither. She and two boys survive him.

Three years ago he was stricken with a severe attack of pneumonia. Last Monday evening he became ill and he developed into pneumonia, but his recovery was not expected. His announcement of it caused sad surprise. Drs. Ives and Wehler attended him.

A funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon. At 1.30 the remains will be borne to the Second Presbyterian church and services will be conducted by Rev. Charles E. Robinson, D. D. The remains will be removed to New York on the 3.43 train via Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, and interment will be made in New York on Sunday. Members of the Liederkranz and the Scranton Chess and Checker club, of which he was an adept player, and many Scrantonians will accompany the remains.

DAVIDOW'S NEW STORE.
One of the Most Attractive Clothing Establishments in the City.

The handsome new clothing and gent's furnishing store of Morris J. Davidow, at 222 Lackawanna avenue, was formally opened yesterday, and until the doors were closed in the evening the throngs of people who were called to examine the numerous and varied stock and admire the elaborate and tasteful manner in which the store has been fitted up, were not able to get the cut of the various garments, show that they are from the shops of the best manufacturers, who keep abreast of the times and the styles.

Mr. Davidow was met by a throng of the hundreds of callers yesterday by his efficient force of clerks, P. J. Griffin, Gus Edwards, John Collins, Louis Allen and H. T. Halman.

BLUES WON THE CONTEST

Membership Contest in the Y. M. C. A. Ended Last Night.

CAPTAIN ATHERTON A WINNER
Blues Had a Majority of 23—The Result Was 207 to 184—Losers Will Serve a Banquet to the Victors.

Great was the joy of the Blues when the announcement of their victory was made at the close of the membership contest in the Young Men's Christian association last night. The result was: Blues, 207; Reds, 184; and when it was made known by Colonel F. L. Hitchcock, one of the judges, the cheering and shouts of exultation that greeted it soared to the rafters of the building.

D. B. Atherton, captain of the victorious Blues, was nearly pulled apart in the exuberance of the large measure of his many contests that he has figured, he has never come out second best.

The narrow margin of twenty-three majority places Captain William B. McClave, of the less fortunate Reds, in a position to be well pleased with his efforts and those of his lieutenants. It was a battle of two well selected rivals, and the result was a most happy termination of a vigorous and spirited struggle for victory. The association has been benefited in a large measure by the recruiting of 291 members.

The contest opened on March 15. The period that both sides had for doing their work ended last night at 9.15. The Blues were placed in the hands of Colonel P. L. Hitchcock, J. A. Linn and Edward Buck, the three judges, and they retired to a room on the third floor to complete the count. W. W. Ingalls was present in the room with the judges in the interest of the Blues, and Captain McClave personally represented the Reds. General Secretary George J. Many was in the room to measure the reading room, office and corridors of the building were crowded with young men from 8 o'clock in the evening, and the great rivalry that existed between both sides was exemplified in the conduct of the younger ones while awaiting the announcement. They jostled each other and tore the badges away from one another.

At 9.30 the audience that had greeted Dr. Clark at the Frothingham theater began to file into the Young Men's Christian association building, where he was tendered a reception in the left parlor. A majority of these people were present when the announcement was made. Conspicuous among the ones who tendered congratulations to the victors were the leaders of the Blues.

ATHERTON'S LIEUTENANTS.
Captain Atherton was reinforced by the following lieutenants: H. P. Simpson, W. W. Ingalls, C. E. Daniels, John J. Murphy, Charles Gunter and F. H. Barker. E. P. Ford was chief of staff.

The conditions of the contest were that the side bringing in the most members within the specified time, would sit down to a banquet which will be served by the other side. Captain Atherton said last night that the Blues will enjoy the feast within a week or so. The date will be decided later on, so as to suit the convenience of all concerned.

ADDRESS TO PAINTERS.
Grand President Sullivan, of Boston, Will Be Here Tonight.

Grand President Sullivan, of the Painters and Decorators' union of America, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, will arrive in Scranton today at noon from Boston, where he resides, and this evening at 8 o'clock will address the painters of this city at Durr's hall, on Lackawanna avenue.

Mr. Sullivan's visit to Scranton is by invitation of Union No. 118, with a view toward implanting among the painters here the spirit of union, which will be served by organization. The lecture will be public.
