THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 1, 1896. In regard to coaching, the umpire may allow two men on the line if there are no objections raised, and a man is on bases. If the opposing teams object, but one coacher can be left on the line. If a batter strikes out of his turn, and two men are out, the side is out. to a finish. The time and place meeting will not be divulged but it CARROLL, THE TAILOR. CHICAGO. Opening of the Eastern League Base SADDLE AND SULKY. WYOMING AVENUE. One reason for the light fields at Washington is said to be the fee of $15 to run for a $25 purse. The day and night meeting near Baltimore, which will open May 2, has been labelled the gathering of the "Shadow Dancers." For tomorrow's games he assigned Kelley to Providence, Doescher to Springfield, Gaffney to Rochester and Swarthwood and Linden to Syracuse. Speaking of this season's prospects, President Powers said that the indica-tions were that every team in the Ball Season. A western dispatch states that Willie Martin and Pat Dunne have parted company; cause, Martin's suspicious riding of some of Dunne's horses. A Louisville future book recently refused an offer from the east of $500 on Ben Brush for the Derby at 2 to 1. The book would only lay 8 to 5. A Washington correspondent writes; "About 500 persons (some say less) attended the races today, while trains of five cars carried thousands to the ball game, which is the chief attraction here at present." tions were that every team in the league would make money. President Powers will attend the opening game at Rochester tomorrow. Yorks Anyhow. Boston, April 39.—The Bostons were out-batted nearly 2 to 1 by the Baltimores, but their superb base-running and perfect fleading pulled them out. Score: Today will witness the opening of the Eastern league season. Every "fan" in the circuit is eagerly awaiting the outcome of the first day's hostilities, that he may form an estimate of his club's strength. There is not a city in the league but what has a lurking idea that its team is going to win the pennant. One village is not saying a word. That village is not saying a word. That village is season, it has a manager whose name is a synonym for success. It has a team that this successful manager is perfectly satisfied with, and one which he is willing to risk his enviable reputation on. This ought to be enough to give the local cranks heart for the fray. Wilkes-Barre claims to be able to whip any team in the country, conditioned that it wears a Scranton uniform. It claims that it can beat not only Scranton's team this year but every other team in the league. Syracuse which sent its address to the pennant manufacturer before the snow was fairly off the ground is not as boastful now owing to a few reverses on the trial trip. Buffalo and Toronto have good teams and are making all kinds of claims. Providence, Springfield and Rochester are favorites with themselves and are also generally conceded by disinterested parties to the most eligible for pennant honors. The fact that there are so many new men in the league and that few of the teams are constituted as they were last year makes an estimate the merest matter of conjecture. Scranton opens at Springfield, Wilkes-Barre of Providence, Buffalo at Rochest and Providence. Buffalo at Rochest and Providence. Buck Freeman, of Wilkes-Barre, who is with Toronto, made a pair of home runs in Wednesday's game with Williamsport, Jimmy Dean is doing great work for Toronto. In a game with Williamsport on Wednesday the Scranton boy allowed but four hits from his delivery. The score was 15 to 3 in Torontos' favor. Herman Westervelt, the ex-Glant, said that he was willing to pitch for the New York team in any of the home games, but he did not care to sign a contract because he didn't want to travel on the road. Frank Reese, the West Sale hall player, has been turned down by the Portland, Ore., club, with whom he had signed a contract.
