WATER SUIT IS CLOSED

Judge McPherson and the Attorney: Will View the Dams.

THEY WILL GO TO GOULDSBORO

Trip to Be Made This Morning-Evidence for Defendant Taken-The Court Went to W. W. Scranton's Residence. The Closing Arguments.

This morning Judge McPherson, with the attorneys and others interested in the equity suit of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company, and others against the Scranton Cas and Water company, will go to Gouldsboro and take a view of the Lehigh river, the take a view of the Lehigh river. The dams built by the defendant, and they will also take a survey of the watersheds of the Roaring Brook and Le-high. The dams are about 2,000 feet from Couldsboro station of the Delaware, t ackawanna and Western.

The case is ended with the exception of this trio today. The defendant's case was opened in the morning by ex-Judge Hand. W. M. Marple, civil engineer of the Cas and Water comrngineer of the Gas and water com-pany, was the first witness examined. After him was called ex-County Sur-veyor A. B. Dunning, jr., and what they gave evidence concerning was with reference to the dimensions and volume of the dams built by the tas and Water company on the Lehigh river. Robert Reeves, general superintendent of the company, explained the uses of the dams on the Lehigh that they were used only in cases of emergency, when the other dams along the Roaring Brook run low. The capacity of the Lebigh dams is sufficient to supply Scranton for 100 days. Scranton has now a negulation of 100,000 approximately and 80 terr cent are sumofied by mately and 80 per cent, are supplied by the defendant company. Mr. Reeves said that last summer it almost became necessary to draw from the emergency dams. These dams are not filled except in times of freshet and high water.

MR. DUNNING RECALLED. Mr. Dunning was recalled and gave some statistics about the population of the city and county. The city of Scranton in 1880 had only 45,000 inhabitants and in 1890 the census was doubled. At present, he thought, the city has reached the 100,000 mark.

George E. Schaffer, county surveyor of Monroe county, gave testimony concerning the dimensions of the dams on the Lehigh, and so did E. L. Jenks, another engineer. Isaac Case and E. L. Harvey, of Gouldsboro, were sworn, and they testified that the Lehigh is

The court then adjourned to the residence of W. W. Scranton, president of the Gas and Water company, who is ill and could not come to the hearing. Mr. Scranton said that the Roaring Brook, Stafford Meadow Brook and Lehigh are the only sources of supply for the city of Scranton. He testified to the number of dams built by the company along each of these streams.

ATTORNEY PEPPER'S ARGUMENT. When court returned Attorney George Wharton Pepper began his argument or an injunction. He said it could not denied that the legislature has the power to grant to a corporation or company the exclusive right to the waters of any navigable stream in the state to use or sell the water. This is what the commonwealth had done in 1818 for the Lehigh Coal and Navigation company with respect to the Le-pany did not estop the riparian owners along the Lehigh from using the water for domestic purposes or a rea-sonable amount of it for manufacturing oursess; But the riparian owners could not take water from the stream and divert it to non-riparian use, such as the Gas and Water company is dopumping it through a pipe line to the Rearing Brook, adown which it flows twenty miles for use in Scranton. The argument the defendant makes that the dams are filled during winter freshets when the water would anyway go to waste, he said, was about on the same principle as the case of the man who excused his taking a handful of thekels from a bag and diverting them to his own use because it was over-flowing and the owner would not miss

Ex-Judge Knapp and ex-Judge Hand argued their side of the case, and in substance they said that what the Scranton Gas and Water company has done in the matter of taking water from the Lehigh is only in pursuance of its charter rights. It was chartered to supply pure water to the people of to supply pure water to the people of Scranton for drinking and other do-mestic uses, and this is a solemn re-sponsibility,

They argued that the Gas and Wated company's dams on the Lehigh river are storage reservoirs to be used only in case of necessity, and they are filled only during the freshets common on the Lehigh in the winter and spring, and that in this way the supply of the plain-tiff's stream is not diminished a particle, as the water otherwise would go

AMERICAN VOLUNTEERS. Movement Will Be Launched in This City Next Sunday.

Next Sunday.

The American Volunteer movement will be launched in Scranton next Sunday. Meetings will be held in First Presbyterian church. Washington avenue, at 3,30 p. m., and in Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, Hyde Park, at 7,30 p. m. Colonel Pattie Watkins, Captain Lindsay, of Ballington Booth's staff, and Captain Masland and Lieutenant Green will address the meetings. It is probable that the outgrowth of these meetings will be the organization of a branch of the Volunteers in the central city. Those who are at the head of the Volunteers say that their field of labor will be somewhat broader than that of the Calvation army.

that of the calvation army. It will be their aim to make an effort to get the artisans and mechanics interested in the movement and to reach the great army of Americans who rare-ly ever attend church.

for a Charter. Attorney A. D. Dean filed a petition yesterday in court for a charter for the Lackswanna County Agricultural society, having for its purpose the improvement of agriculture in this county. The society of the same name as the proposed one, which was in existence until a few years ago and conducted business at the Driving Park, now being a thing of the past, it is the object of the petitioners, who are interested in farming, to organize and promote agriculture by holding county fairs.

Mrs. Berry says she did not sign over this deed, but her signature is attached to it and she explains that it was procured in this manner: Some of her other children had been taking steps to have her declared incapable of managing her estate and she relied upon the defendant to combat the effort. Certain papers were drawn up to be sworn to before a justice of the peace and they were presented to her for her signature. The deed complained of must be among these papers, she verily believes, and that is how she signed it.

THE AMERICAN IDEA.

Editor of The Tribune.

Editor of The Tribune.

Sir:—I have read in your columns during the past week, under the head of West Shie News, several items which, judging from their tenor, eminated from some persons or persons strongly in sympathy with the Salvation Army. I would not notice the items referred, to, but for the fact that they reflect apon those who favor the new organization known as the American Volunteers. Among other things, it was stated that several of those favoring the latter organization had been present and created a disturbance at the meetings, in the barracks, on Price street, and exin the barracks, on Price street, and ex-cept such actions were discontinued they would be refused admittance.

There are no grounds for such a statement. There has been no misconduct on the part of any one who favors the Volunteers. On the contrary, the only misconduct there was, has been on the part of the adherents of General Booth and his non-American methods. Some twenty members of the Salvation Army tendered their resignations and before said resignations had bren acted upon, the doors were slammed in their faces and all manher of abuse was heaped upon them by mations had been neted upon, the doors were slammed in their faces and all manner of abuse was heaped upon them by the worshippers of the "genral." This seems to be the recognized manner of dealing with all who fail to fail in with their ideas and objects.

The treatment accorded the late captain (Masland and lieutenant (Green) by the loyal (2) members of the Scranton corps, after their determination to join the new movement became known, was harsh, intolerant, fanatical and unworthy of civilized beings, much less those professing the name of Christ. Charity forbids going into detail and I will draw the veil over these un-Christian-like actions.

But the old adage holds good, "Like daddy, like child." The Scranton corps is only following the example of those higher in authority, in their bigotry and fanaticism and the carrying out of their petty persecutions. Duplicity and double dealing seem to be the only stock in trade left to the followers of General Booth in this country. An instance of ble dealing seem to be the only stock in trade left to the followers of General Booth in this country. An instance of the new methods in vogue in the Salvation army might be cited in relation to the late flag presentation to the corps in this city. The terms of the competition set forth that Brigadier Evans and saff would present the flags to the successful corps free of all expense. Did he do as agreed? Oh, no, his purposes had been served, so he sends Mrs. Evans in conjunction with a mountebank from Wilkes-Barre to present the flags and taxes the expenses, some $11, upon the local officers. Why? Because the news had reached headquarters that the captain and lieutenant had resolved to cast in their ict with the American movement, and they must be humiliated before the public at any cost.

lieutenant had resolved to east in their let with the American movement, and they must be humiliated before the public at any cost.

It is not nor the purpose of stirring upstrife I write, but it is high time that the public be made aware of these matters. The Salvation Army appeals to an American people for support; then let them not show such an exhibition of antagonism to those who love this country before all others if they expect to receive it. No un-American institution can live long here when its true character is known. Even in spiritual affairs we have no use for a dictator. Humanity revolts at the idea of one man ruling the whole religious world. With the army, judging from the recent actions and utterances of its leaders, the "genral" is just a little bit above his Lord, and those under him have no right of conscience save his will. The conduct of the soldler must be bilind obedience to the "genral," right or wrong, and if any dare to exercise the right of conscience such an act is treason and the guilty one must be branded as a traiter. Absolutism has no place in the United States, the principle is foreign to our ideas, we acknowledge no headship save that of Christ in spiritual matters.

Should Ballington Booth attempt to establish a one-man movement in the Volunteers, he will find the same fate awaiting him as the general has met with here. We believe, however, that experience has taught him better. It has been evident for some time past that a national movement in the army was inevitable and now that it has come in the American Volunteers, let every one who has American Institutions at heart, with it God-speed and a glorious future for the salvation of souls and let us not only give it our benediction, but let us as far as in our power lies aid it by our means.

Yours for God and America,
Samuel L. Morgans, Seranton, Pa., May 6.
