WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Fire Under Suspicious Circumstances in a House on Nealis Court Near Fairview Avenue.

A fire broke out under suspicious circumstances at 9 o'clock yesterday morning in a house in Nealis' court, between Robinson street and Farview avenue. The building is owned by Tween Addingent Street and Street avenue. The building is owned by Ferdinandi, the Penn avenue liquor dispenser. When Chief Ferber arrived he found that a hole had been made by some one in the top floor of the structure. Into this opening rubbish had been stuffed and this was saturated with been stuffed and this was saturated with kerosane of. The match was then applied but the neighbors entered the house and quenched the blaze before day. much damage had been done. Who is guilty of the incendiarism is not known. The Hyde Park companies responded to an alarm sent in from box 31 but their services were not needed. ARRESTED THE ARRESTER.

John Price, of the Fourth ward, at-tempted to act as constable last evening and in the end he was locked up by Constables Jones and Peters. A man owed a board bill and Price met him in the Lafayette house on North Main avenue. Price arrested the delinquent and started toward the West Side police station for the purpose of locking up his catch. A large crowd was at-tracted by the unusual scene and the excitement grew great when the prisoner broke away from Price and dis-appeared in a side court. Then Price was arrested. The hearing will be given today at police headquarters.

DARK HUED TROUBLE.

Gentlemen and women of color arc very much on the police and alderman's dockets these days, while Kelly's patch and Kelly's block are becoming innor-tal in West Side history. Last even-ing the often arrested "Pinkey" a black colored woman whose present husband is Albert Andrews, was arrested by Constable John Davis on a charge of assault preferred by Airs, Charles Johnson. The quartette live in Kelly's block. Mrs. Johnson tried to prove that "Pinkey" struck her in the face with a strap which was tied to a key. "Pinkey." in a tragle way, declared that 'twas an accident; that she was weingthen the law when Wrs. Johnson swinging the key when Mrs. Johnson, who was "always pokin' her noise in others' business," ran into the strap. The alderman was treated to an exhuberance of bad words which each woman claimed the other was the au-thor of. He dismissed the case, each side paying half the costs.

Wall Street Review. New York, May 8.—There was considerable pressure to sell Sugar, To-bacco and St. Paul at the opening of business at the stock exchange and over 12,000 shares of these stocks changed hands right at the start. To-bacco was the special feature, break-ing from $65\frac{1}{2}$ to $62\frac{3}{5}$, the indictment of the managers having led to selling for both accounts. Coid engagements to the extent of \$1,500,000 also had an ad-verse influence, and London houses and local operators sold fairly large amounts of the leading issues.
