WEST SIDE EVENTS.

Surface in the Neighborhood of Luzerne Street is Settling Again-Number of Houses Damaged.

For the past few days the surface settling in the much affected region on Luzerne street has been greater than at any other time. On Main avenue near Rock street there is a crevice about eight inches wide and the depth is enough to hide a man's leg. The open-ing is on the east side of the road and reaches from the street car track across the road and sidewalk and under a small office, owned by Richard As-well. This building has suffered from the settling and, in fact, every struc-ture in the vicinity is more or less

In front of the Main avenue home of John Gaffney the portion of the gate shows the disturbance of the surface. The gate has sprung fully seven inches and it seems to have never been in-tended to close as an ordinary gate. The plastering in this house is cracked in every room. Doors cannot be closed, or in some cases opened and the car-penters have been repeatedly called in to refit the different windows, doors,

On lower Luzerne street water bub bles from the centre of the road and runs down the street, and on upper Lu-zerne the road resembles a storm-swept lake. Monday evening when Police lake. Monday evening when Police Officer Evans discovered the big crev-ice on Main avenue he feared that pass ing horses might be injured by a step into the opening. Stones were cropped into the hole and a board placed on the top. The rain of Monday afternoon has greatly increased the settling. Yes-terday the earth was constantly shift-ing. The house of Mr. Thomas on lower Luzerne street has also suffered greatly from the disturbance. Many other buildings are affected but no great danger is anticipated.

AMATEUR THESPIANS. St. Cecilia's Total Abstinence and

Benevolent society gave a very pleasing entertainment in Mears' hall last evening. It was the third annual effort and the house was crowded. There is considerable dramatic ability in many of the members of the society, and last evening, with the assistance of several male friends of the society, two short plays were given. Miss Margaret Gibbs, the talented young West Side lady, who has delighted hundreds by her elever recitations in the past, had charge of the rehearsals and the success of the two dramatic efforts last evening is due in a great part to her instruction. The entertainment opened instruction. The entertainment opened with a pretty curtain riser called "The Plot That Failed." Miss Nellie Delmar in the leading character of "Grandincther Stiles," showed excellent ability; as also did Miss Nellie McAuliffe as "Lena Stiles," a proliceome miss. The part of "Mary Taylor" was well spoken by Miss Sadle McHale, and as "Minnie Sprague" Miss Margaret Horn was acceptable. "Dim." a colored cook, was well impersonated by Miss Lettie Thompson. As "Bridget O'Flaherty," a servant girl after a situation, Miss Nellie Gibbons was responsible for much of the fun. At the conclusion of this little sketch Miss Loretta Cannon recited bleasingly and John Har-Borist's store of Miss Harriet J. Davis, non recited bleasingly and John Har-rington sang a solo in an entertaining way. Miss Nora Gerity was accomway. Miss Nora Gerity was accom-panist. The Misses Anna Rose and Lucy Faust gave a clever exhibition of club swinging, accompanied by music played by Miss Nan Eagan, Accompanied by Miss Margaret Gibbs her brother, Charles, entertained at castinets. After this came the play a farce comedy called "Lend Me Pive Shillings," The farce is an old one and in it the character of Mr. Golightly has successfully impersonated by Joseph Jefferson, Frank Brady played the part last evening in a way that was passing fair. "Mr. Moreland" was handled by James Gavin. The distinct hit of the evening was made by Daniel Regan as "Captain Phobbs." He had a very good conception of the character and his acting was unusually non-amateurist. Michael Culkin played "Captain Spruce," and Edward Early looked after "Sam, the waiter." The two Phobbs women were impersonated by Misses Laura Grimes and Maggle Delmar. Miss Mary McHugh was in the cast but the Mary McHugh was in the cast but the death of her father last evening com-peled the substituting of Miss Delmar. The entertainment was a great success

DEATH OF PATRICK M'HUGH. Patrick McHugh died last evening at his home on the corner of Luzerne and Sixteenth streets. Mr. McHugh was about 53 years of age at the time of death. He has lived on this side for many years and a family of ten chil-dren mourn the death of a good par-ent. Mrs. McHugh also survives.

FALSE WAS THE CALL. An alarm of fire was sent in at about 8 o'clock last evening from box 35, corner of Jackson street and Main avenue

Both the Franklins and Columbias responded but the glarm was false. Starner, the photographer, was taking a flash-light picture in Sam Davis' pool parlors and a passer-by, seeing the flame, ran to the box, and, after finding a key, sent in the call.

NEW OFFICERS CHOSEN. The West Side board of trade met last evening and elected the following officers: E. M. Clarke, president; C. F. Struppler, vice president; Charles, beniels, secretary; William Farrell, treasurer. It was decided to request the Traction company to push their Washburn street line as far as Van Buren avenue for the accommodation of those going to and from the Washburn street cemetery. The board will banquet before the next meeting.

Rev. A. J. Kilcoyne, of Florida, Danger ously lil at His Mother's Home on This Side.

A few weeks ago Rev. A. J. Kilcoyne, who is pastor of a parish in the dio-cese of St. Augustine, Florida, came here to visit his mother, Mrs. Mary Kilcoyne, of Cedar avenue and Breck street. The trip was for the benefit of his health, which has not been well the past seven or eight years. He has been affected se-verely with stomach and liver troubles. The change of climate seemed to do him great good, but a few days ago he was stricken with a severe attack of bilousness, and he is now in a very se-rious, in fact in a dangerous, condi-tion. His death would not be unexpected.
