PUTTING UP THE COLORS.

Decorators from This City Reinforced by Others from Abroad Find an Abundance of Work.

The work of decorating the city's business structures in anticipation of the convalescence of the grand commandery Knights Templar, here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is being pushed along rapidly. Local decorators already have orders sufficient to keep them busy almost to the first day of the convalescence, and decorators from other cities are here and have found plenty to do.

At present not much of the bunting is being put in place but it is being served and sorted and a great deal of time is being consumed in measuring the buildings and in devising original and unique designs. From present indications there will be very few stores and office buildings which will not display a mass of colors and probably not one will be devoid of at least some simple recognition of the Templar event.

In many quarters it has been suggested that the county and city officials arrange to have the court house and city hall decorated. This is done, it is argued, in other cities and it is believed that Lackawanna county and Scranton will not be behind in anything which will show the thousands of strangers that a welcome is extended them by the county and city.

For the information of households it is announced that a black and white flag, the Templar colors, or the stars and stripes, or both will be a suitable decoration. Temporary salesrooms where flags and bunting may be obtained have been opened on Lackawanna avenue, and nearly all the large retail dry goods stores contain a special assortment of decorative material.

ARE NEW WOMEN WITH A VENGEANCE

They Make Good Their Absent Husbands' Threats.

SHOVELLED HARD AND FAST TO DO IT

In the Attempt to Prevent Construction of an Objectionable Sewer They Throw Back the Dirt as Fast as the Laborers Throw It Out—Joe Church Led Them.

Providence. It would seem, can raise more money to build a sewer than all other parts of the city combined.

With the Bright & Love and subsequent West Street street difficulties scarcely out of mind along came some belligerent Park Place property holders with a by far more novel disturbance than either of the quite novel preceding ones.

The spectacle of a gang of laborers shovelling dirt out of a trench and a crowd of women shovelling it back again is what this latest trouble presents.

When the Griffin estate was plotted out a street which was the prolongation of Short avenue was laid out and put on the maps, although never formally accepted by the city. In time, the lots abutting on the street were built up and a sewer became a necessity.

A majority of the people were opposed to the construction of a sewer of the kind which the cost of such an improvement would be a hardship to them and out of consideration of their claims, Select Councilman Wade M. Finn, who proposed the sewer, was defeated.

Yesterday morning a gang of men under Contractor Flash set to work to dig the trench. The laborers made it their business to shovel the dirt back into the trench as fast as they could.

The women, who were led by Joe Church, a well-known laborer, began to shovel the dirt back into the trench as fast as they could.

THEY WERE VICTIMS OF SUDDEN DEATH

Two Men Who Were Called to the Great Beyond Found in This City.

ALCOHOLISM AND HEART DISEASE.

Moses H. Harriman, a Traveling Painter, Dies From the First Cause and Aged Leonard Korn From the Second—Two Persons' Gruesome Finds—Inquests Held by Coroner.

Two persons in this city yesterday had the nerve-shattering experience of stumbling over a dead body. One was an inmate of the boarding house at 313 Mulberry street, who found his fellow boarder, Moses H. Harriman, lying dead at the foot of the basement stairs. The other was Mrs. Leonard Korn, of 231 Second avenue, who stumbled over the cold and stiff body of her husband lying on the floor of the barn.

The first case occurred at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. One of the boarders, who is a musician, and is in the habit of rising at that hour, went into the basement to get something to eat, and at the foot of the stairs stumbled over the prostrate body of Harriman. He was still warm, showing that death must have occurred a short time previous to the finding.

Coroner Longstreet was notified and a jury consisting of Joseph M. Cassidy, C. E. Hamlin, W. H. Hallett, J. Winkler, R. T. Mellon and Edward Reming came to the conclusion that death resulted from alcoholism. It is presumed that Harriman came in about 1 o'clock and wandered down into the basement in search of eatables. A fall and the consequent shock to his badly shattered system is the supposed immediate cause of death.

Harriman was a painter and had been in the city only a few weeks. His home was in Philadelphia. N. J. A telegram was yesterday sent to his wife, and while awaiting an answer the remains are being cared for by Undertaker Hazlett.

DEATH OF LEONARD KORN.

The death of Leonard Korn was due to heart disease. He is an old man, past 65, and had been under treatment for some time for heart trouble. Yesterday afternoon he went to the barn in the rear of the house to make some repairs. When he had been there about half an hour his wife, who was working about the house, had her fears alarmed by the fact that the blows of his hammer had ceased suddenly, and going to the barn she found him stretched cold in death.

Coroner Longstreet made an investigation and decided that no inquest was necessary. Korn was formerly employed in the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western coal docks and was a popular man with his fellow employees and all who knew him.

Pitiful Case Unearthed Yesterday by Mrs. Duggan.

Martin Dean, a middle-aged man residing at 840 Birch street, was found dying yesterday, destitute of help and the necessities of life by Mrs. Duggan, agent of the Associated Charities. He was taken to the Lackawanna hospital and his four small children, one of them only a year old, were removed to a charitable institution.

Dean's second wife, who is the mother of the youngest child, deserted him about five months ago, leaving her infant to be cared for by the father. She returned about a week ago, but finding him in a dying condition, again left him. Nothing is known of her whereabouts.

Samuel Saville, of Priebrue, Not Seen for Two Weeks.

Samuel Saville has disappeared from Priebrue. He was foreman at Johnson's mine and has not been seen for two weeks.

As Saville was a responsible, sober and industrious man, his disappearance is only explained by the fact that he had been subpoenaed as an illegal voter to testify in court concerning a contested election case. That he contemplated leaving is indicated by his having collected rent from tenants and purchased clothing.

The man's domestic relations were most happy and his employment considered him one of the most trustworthy men. They are employing Mrs. Saville in every way possible to find her husband.

Plans of Liquor Dealers.

Changes in the Laws They Are Anxious to Secure.

The Scranton Liquor Dealers' association, a branch of the State Liquor League, held a largely attended meeting yesterday afternoon at 301 Penn avenue. Several matters affecting the interests of the trade in the city and county were considered, and a number of new names were added to the roll of membership. The association is increasing rapidly in membership and will soon be one of the strongest branches in the state. Handsome certificates of membership were given to those present.

The work of the State League was fully explained by National Organizer Nolan. Among the many things proposed by the state executive committee is a bill to permit hotels and saloon bars to be open before and after the closing of the polls on election days, as it is now illegal for them to pay a high license should be allowed to do business after the polls are closed.

An effort will be made to secure a graded license fee at the next legislature. The State League, through Charles T. Andrews, chairman of the legislative committee, has issued a circular to the trade showing how every representative and senator voted on all liquor bills at the last session.

The dealers will not ally themselves to any political party, and will support only such candidates for legislative honors as will pursue a fair and liberal policy on these matters. The minor law existing on the statute books is not entirely satisfactory and steps will be taken to secure a modification of the same.

Meetings will be held throughout the county during the week at the following places: Thursday afternoon at Stetter's hall, Hyde Park; Friday, 2 p. m., Eagle Hotel, Turnmore; Saturday, 10 a. m., Regan & Flynn's hotel, Providence.
