ALL EYES UPON MAJOR M'KINLEY

He is Said to Be Silver and Against Silver.

MYSTERY OF MR. QUAY'S VISIT

The Senator is Received in a Cordial Manner at Canton--Evening Post's Wild Western Story--Boston Hopes for Gold.

Canton, O., May 22.—Senator Quay was met at the depot at 10.25 by ex-Governor McKinley and several Canton friends. Mr. Quay was accompanied by Attorney Brown, of Lancaster.

When the train bringing Senator Quay pulled in at the Fort Wayne depot, there were several groups of peo- ple waiting, their necks stretched to catch a glimpse of the famous Pennsylvania senator.

To a reporter he said he did not know what Senator Quay's mission was in Canton. He had been notified by telegram to join the senator and he had done so.

Senator Quay lunched with Mr. McKinley and afterwards was driven to the train in the McKinley private carriage, accompanied by the major.

When the senator boarded the 1.21 train for Beaver, Pa., there was a hearty grasp of hands and a cordial farewell from the major.

Attempts to get either Senator Quay or Major McKinley to talk on the occasion of the senator's visit, have been futile. Senator Quay said a few complimentary things about Canton and said he would go back to Beaver, but on other matters he was as silent as the Sphinx.

Ex-Governor McKinley left this evening for Cleveland, where he will be the guest of Mark Hanna and other friends until Monday.

WILL TALK LATER.

Beaver, Pa., May 22.—Senator Quay was seen at his home this evening shortly after his arrival from Canton and was asked to say a few words about his visit, but no amount of persuasion could induce him to discuss it.

Boston, May 22.—Tonight's Boston Record says that a communication was received today by an intimate Boston friend of Major McKinley in reply to a letter regarding the latter's position on the currency question.

This declaration was made at Thomasville, Ga., a year ago.

THE POST'S STORY.

New York, May 22.—The Evening Post today prints the following dispatch from a correspondent at Denver, whom it editorially refers to as "trustworthy":

A prominent citizen of Denver, an original McKinley man and a personal friend of McKinley, incidentally told your correspondent today that he has recently received several personal letters from McKinley in which he confidentially tells him he will not veto any silver measure that may be passed by congress, should he be elected president, holding the opinion of the people as expressed by congress as binding on him.

John G. Garrison, another personal friend, confirms the above as McKinley's present sentiments. "I asked McKinley two years ago," he added, "to come out for silver but he said, 'The silver people, from my record, know where I am located on the question. To come out now explicitly' would be to lose the east in my canv."

Mr. Garrison says that the west will be flooded with silver McKinley literature in the event of McKinley's nomination.

LAURADA'S RETURN.

The filibuster successfully dodges the Spanish Battleships.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 22.—The steamer Laurada entered the bay yesterday and was met at quarantine by a number of friends of Cuba. The Laurada's captain reported that he had landed safely on Cuban soil nine tenths of the munitions.

CUPID'S SLY TRICKS.

Reading, Pa., May 22.—Ex-Judge George W. Bruckman, nearly 80 years of age, applied for a marriage license here but his suit having failed a protest it was refused him. The bride was Conflict as to Which Should be Recognized--Report of the Committee on Sabbath Observance--A Plea for the Christian Bicycle.

Saratoga, N. Y., May 22.—The general assembly began business promptly this morning at 9 o'clock after the usual devotional exercises of half an hour. Moderator Withrow was in the chair. The most important matter of the day was the announcement of the standing committee, which he made up last night in a long conference with the stated and permanent clerks of the assembly.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

It is Decided That Bishops Shall Select Their Places of Residence in Order of Seniority.

Cleveland, O., May 22.—Bishop Andrews, the senior bishop of the Methodist church, presided at this morning's session of the general conference.

Portland, Ore., was selected as the place for the last of the Episcopal residences.

It was decided after much discussion that the bishops should select their places of residence in the order of seniority.

Bishop Goodsell was granted leave of absence in order to go to Europe on a tour of inspection. He will look after the consolidation of the two churches in Germany.

A memorial to thirty-two different nations and rulers on the subject of arbitration was adopted.

The following officers were elected: Secretary, W. S. Matthews, of New York; editor of the Christian Advocate, Rev. J. M. Buckley, of New York; editor of the Western Christian Advocate, David H. Crockett, of New York; editor of the Northwestern Christian Advocate, Arthur Edwards, of Chicago; editor of the Central Christian Advocate, Jesse Bowman, of St. Louis; editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate, J. C. Smith; editor of the Northern Christian Advocate, J. E. C. Sawyer, of Syracuse; editor of the California Christian Advocate, W. S. Matthews, of San Francisco; editor of the Apologist, Dr. A. J. Nast, of Cincinnati.

The amusement question will again come up in the Methodist general conference. Senator Quay said a few complimentary things about Canton and said he would go back to Beaver, but on other matters he was as silent as the Sphinx.

The conference then adjourned until tomorrow.

Plans will be submitted to the conference for establishing an insurance society, each congregation to insure its property for three years and pays the same premium as though the assurance was given by one of the standard companies, but only one-third of the premium is to be paid by the congregation. Notes are to be given for the other two-thirds of the premium and at the annual meeting of the board of directors, when the dividend is struck, each congregation's proportion of the profit shall be credited on the notes given by such congregation.

GRAND LODGE ADJOURNS.

Appointments Made by Grand Master Hall--Williamsport Selected for the Next Meeting in May, 1897.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 22.—The seventy-third annual grand lodge of Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania adjourned shortly after noon today to meet at Williamsport for May, 1897, at the latter place.

The features of today's session was the consideration of the resolution instructing the grand representative to use every effort to secure a repeal of the action of the grand sovereign lodge in excluding from membership saloon-keepers, bartenders, and professional gamblers.

The resolution was unanimously passed, instructing the grand representatives to use every effort to secure the election of Robert E. Wright, of Allentown, to the office of deputy grand sire of that body.

Another resolution ordered the institution of a home at Sunbury for orphans.

The installation of officers was among the final business. It is generally understood among the delegates that the protest made by Herman Becker against the election of Samuel B. McKeever, as grand warden will be pigeon-holed by the committee and never seen again.

Grand Chaplain, Charles S. Tinker, Sharon, grand marshal, R. H. Graham, Philadelphia; grand conductor, R. T. Loomis, West Chester; grand guardian, James Montgomery, Philadelphia; grand herald, John N. Neenan, Philadelphia; assistant grand secretary, August Pfaff, sr., Philadelphia. The appointment of various committees was also announced.

CYCLONE VICTIMS.

No Far as Reported Ten Persons Are Killed.

Guthrie, Okla., May 22.—So far as reported ten persons were killed and many injured by the cyclone and water spout which descended on this part of the territory Wednesday night.

Eight cyclones have passed over a radius of fifty miles in this section during the last five days, but Guthrie has always escaped owing to its location.

SPARITED DEBATE ON BOND BILL

Measure Denounced by Mr. Hill as an Act of Repudiation.

MAJORITY REDUCED BY TALK

Labor Commission Bill Discussed in the House--Mr. Bartlett Objects to McBride's Historical Publications, Which He Designates as Cheap Charts.

Washington, May 22.—An important senate today on the bill introduced several months ago by Mr. Butler (Rep., N. C.), prohibiting the issue of government bonds without the consent of congress. Mr. Hill (Dem., N. Y.) spoke for nearly three hours in condemnation of the measure as an act of repudiation; and it was also denounced in most emphatic terms by Senators Sherman (Rep., Ohio), Hawley (Rep., Colo.), Lodge (Rep., Mass.), Baker (Rep., Kans.), while it was defended and advocated by Senators Mills (Dem., Tex.), George (Dem., Miss.), Clark (Rep., Wyo.), Teller (Rep., Colo.), Allen (Pop., Neb.), and Stewart (Pop., Nev.).

The test vote on taking it up again in the first instance showed a majority of fourteen in its favor; but when it was discussed by the calendar after two hours' discussion, and a new vote was required to take it up again, the majority had dwindled down to two.

The final conference report on the river and harbor bill was presented and agreed to a satisfactory compromise having been reached in the matter of deep sea harbor in Southern California.

LABOR COMMISSION BILL.

The labor commission bill, discussion of which was begun yesterday, has apparently failed for this session. The rule providing for consideration of the bill exceeded conference reports on appropriate bills from its operation and today's session was exhausted by measures of this character.

The first was the report of the partial agreement on the river and harbor appropriation bill. It met the vigorous opposition of Messrs. Dockery (Dem., Mo.) and Hepburn (Rep., Iowa), but despite their eloquent denunciations of the inquiry bill, the report was agreed to by a vote by yeas and nays, but Mr. Hepburn was able to muster sufficient strength to effectively second his demand.

Next came the sundry civil appropriation bill and upon the plea made by Mr. Bartlett (Dem., N. Y.) the house voted 150 to 50 not to agree to the conference report.

OBJECTS TO CHARTS.

His objection was to an item appropriating $12,500 to pay General James D. McBride for 2,500 sets of his historical publications, which he said were merely charts, and "cheap, poor, imperfect and faulty."

The report voted to insist upon its disagreement to all the senate amendments except those relating to public buildings and upon these separate votes were taken. As to all that were reached before the house agreed to the report, a recess until 8 o'clock. It voted to insist upon its disagreement. These were public buildings at Boise City, Ida.; Camden, N. J.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Helena, Mont.; Kansas City, Mo.; Little Rock, Ark., and postoffices at Fortness Monroe, Va.

The conference report was agreed to fixing the date of the inauguration of General Joseph P. West, formerly United States senator from Louisiana, at 475 a month.

The house committee on public buildings today ordered a favorable report on the bills providing an appropriation of $60,000 each for public buildings at Shamokin and Bradford, Pa.

BOND INVESTIGATION.

It is likely that the proceedings of the sub-committee of the senate committee on finance to investigate the recent bond sales will conduct its hearings in secret. Certainly that will be the programme of Senator Harris, the chairman, has his eye on the matter.

He said today that the voice of the people would be against an open session, for he did not care to have the press discuss the matter in piecemeal.

"I shall vote," he said, "to have the proceedings conducted in secret, and if my influence can prevail this will be done. Then if the news is secured it will be through the process of leavening."

The other members of his family, who had been in the city for several months, left for their homes in Clearfield, Pa., last Tuesday, thinking that the ex-senator would live for a long time yet. A notification was sent them of his death. His wife has been an invalid for several years at their home in Clearfield.
