"Tribune Ink" is the recognized journal for advertising rates. The Scranton Tribune is the best advertising medium in northeastern Pennsylvania.

THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE, issued every Saturday, contains twelve business pages, with an abundance of news, fiction, and weekly market information.

THE TRIBUNE is for sale daily at the D. & W. Station at Hoboken.

SCRANTON, MAY 23, 1896.

The Tribune is the only Republican daily in Lackawanna County.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

Congressmen-at-Large. GALUSHA A. GROW, of Susquehanna. SAMUEL A. DAVENPORT, of Erie.

Senator Quay undoubtedly knows his own business best, but there are many good friends of his who would not shed tears if he were to give Tom Platt the shake.

A Singular Delusion.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, has contributed to the June Forum a paper in which he undertakes to prove that the election of United States senators by direct popular vote will (1) afford an efficient remedy for the many evils resulting from the present system...

The New Immigration Bill.

The bill to further restrict immigration, which passed the house on Wednesday by a vote of 195 to 26, excludes from admission to the United States all male persons between 16 and 60 years of age who cannot both read and write the English language...

How Spain Fights.

Some interesting testimony was given last Wednesday before a sub-committee of the senate committee on foreign affairs by Rev. Alberto J. Diaz, a native Cuban who had for many years been a Baptist minister in this country...

The Suggestion is Made that when Tom Reed goes to New York to practice law he ought to form a partnership with Grover Cleveland.

The suggestion is made that when Tom Reed goes to New York to practice law he ought to form a partnership with Grover Cleveland. But who would be the head of the firm?

The New Flying Machine.

The recent test, at Ocoquan, Va., of Professor Samuel P. Langley's flying-machine—an apparatus upon which his inventor has been at work for nearly six years, and in the development of which he had expended $50,000—was noted at the time, somewhat briefly, in The Tribune...

soldiers killed six or seven men, non-combatants. Then the Spaniards went into different houses and gathered seventeen men. They tied these together two by two, among them being Ladislao Quintana, an American, twenty-one years old, of Key West, who was found sick in bed. They were taken to the street and commanded to kneel down. The soldiers fired at them, killing all except the American. This occurred on February 22, in the immediate presence of the wives and children of the unfortunate men. Anadar, to whom Quintana was tied, was not killed by the gunshot wound and one of the soldiers rushed forward and beat him to death. Dr. Diaz saw the entire proceeding. But this is not all. The report continues:

On the 12th of March, in Havana, he saw a crowd around a prostrate man, and as a member of the White Cross society he went to render him aid. The man was dead. He had seventy-one bayonet wounds, seven of which were through the heart and several through the eyes. The dead apparently was unprovoked, and the murdered man was unarmed. Dr. Diaz says in March the Spanish troops under General Inclan, bombarded an insurgent hospital at Artemisa. They killed over fifty wounded men. An insurgent hospital in Pazo Real was also destroyed by the Spaniards killing all the wounded inmates. Two hundred Cubans were reported as having been in B. Dr. Diaz gives other instances of alleged cruelties by the Spaniards. He asserts that the approach of the Spaniards to the interior towns brings great confusion and fear, as they destroy everything that comes in their way, take complete possession of the houses, and violate women in many cases. When the invading forces are insurgents there is great tranquillity, as they do not destroy anything unless Spanish forces are located there. Again he tells of the assassination, on the 13th of April, of a number of persons after being forced by the Spaniards to dig their own graves. The statement asserts that over a hundred persons were shot within a radius of ten miles of Havana and within a period of fifteen days, all non-combatants.

Rev. Mr. Diaz added that while Campos had command, the rules of civilized warfare were strictly enforced by his orders, but as soon as Weyler assumed command, he (Diaz) and others were instructed not to treat or otherwise care for the sick and wounded soldiers of the insurgent cause. This and much similar testimony was given in a manner which is said to have carried conviction. Anyway, it would seem as if the word of a clergyman in good standing ought to go as far with our government as the special pleading of the Spanish minister, who naturally tries to earn his salary by making out the strongest possible case for his employers.

AND STILL CLEVELAND HESITATES.

The interesting news is published that Major Handy expects to get the consul generalship to London when McKinley is president. Major Handy was the first and the ablest McKinley journalist, and that $35,000-a-year remuneration would be not a whit beyond his deserving. But how will Brother Scranton like Handy's candidacy?

EDWARD LAUTERBACH, CHAIRMAN OF THE NEW YORK COUNTY REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE.

Edward Lauterbach, chairman of the New York county Republican committee, is credited in an interview with these singular words: "Owing to his quibbling on the money question, if Major McKinley is nominated at St. Louis he cannot carry the state of New York, and cannot be elected president of the United States." Mr. Lauterbach's opinion fortunately is not of sufficient weight to make its expression dangerous to anybody but himself.

Weyler's tobacco embargo may embarrass the Havana trade but patriotic Scrantonians will continue to use Clark & Snover.

The convention of German Catholics which met at Pittsburgh the other day had a perfect right to condemn compulsory education if it wanted to; but we question its wisdom in urging that its membership refuse to send their children to the public schools. The public schools could get along just the same; but any attempt to discredit or oppose them would be likely to create more evil than good.

THE WILLIAMSPORT SUN FOR WEDNESDAY COMPRISED TWENTY-EIGHT PAGES AND THE WHOLE OF IT WAS PREPARED BY THE WOMEN OF THE BOOM CITY FOR THE BENEFIT OF THE WILLIAMSPORT HOSPITAL.

The WillamSPORT Sun for Wednesday comprised twenty-eight pages and the whole of it was prepared by the women of the Boom City for the benefit of the WillamSPORT hospital. The edition is a credit to all connected with it, and proves anew that the fairer sex possesses a decided aptitude for capable newspaper work.

AN ORATORICAL GEN.

The following beautiful words were spoken recently by Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll at a reunion of his old regiment, the Eleventh Illinois cavalry, at Elmwood, Ill. "Today we remember the great leaders who have passed the realm of silence to the land of shadows. Thomas, the rock; Chalmers, self-poised, firm, brave, faithful; Sherman, the reckless, the daring; Grant, the grand old man of the west; Lincoln, a soldier in the ranks, the unquenchable, and rising over them all, Lincoln, the wise, the patient, the merciful, the grand old man of the west. We remember them all to-day and hundreds of thousands who are not mentioned, but whose names, equally worthy, hundreds of thousands of private, deserving of equal honor with the plumed hosts of the great army."

curves, sweeping steadily upward in a spiral path, the spirals with a diameter of perhaps ten yards, until it reached a height of 400 feet above the air, at the end of a course of about a half-mile, when the steam gave out and the propellers which had been revolving, then to my further surprise, the whole, instead of tumbling down, settled slowly and gracefully to the water, without any damage and was immediately picked out and resily towed to the pier, where it was the first, except that the machine went in a different direction, moving in one continuous circle like a great soaring bird. At one time it seemed to be in danger of a collision with the water, but the propellers were lowered, and the machine was towed to the pier, where it was the first, except that the machine went in a different direction, moving in one continuous circle like a great soaring bird.

Weather and Other Predictions for the Coming Week.

Sunday, May 24.—Wind Sunday. Weather fine and mild. A child born on this day will be very quiet in anger and will be careless, slovenly and unaffectionate unless properly directed when young. It will be more fortunate in business for itself than in the employ of others. Buy, speculate and seek employment before 9 P. M.

TOLD BY THE STARS.

Daily Horoscope Drawn by Aeneas, The Tribune Astrologer. Astrological chart: 255 a. m. for Saturday, May 23, 1896.

It will be apparent to a child born on this day that if this currency war is continued much longer, gray-haired men will soon be sought for as half-braids in order to avoid metallic combinations that might be suggested by "Silver Threads Among the Gold."
