SCRANTON, MAY 25, 1896.

REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET.

Congressmen-at-Large. GALESHIA A. GROW, of Susquehanna. SAMUEL A. BAYENPORT, of Erie.

It looks as if there might yet be a vigorous contest of Mark Hanna's claim as the original McKinley man.

Pave Mulberry Street.

A journey from the central city to Nay Aug falls, made in this beautiful springtime, will convince any thoughtful man that the key to the development of that inviting portion of the city lying between Taylor and Arthur avenues, and also the key to the ultimate improvement of Nay Aug park, consists of the proper grading and paving of Mulberry street.

An Ideal Vacation.

Although Scrantonians have not for the past two years been directly in touch with the University Extension movement, they will nevertheless be somewhat interested in the arrangements which have been completed for the fourth summer meeting in the buildings of the University of Pennsylvania, July 6-31.

The Butler Bond Bill.

It is expected that a final vote will be taken in the senate today on the Butler anti-bond resolution, a measure upon which considerable time has already been wasted. The bill prohibits the future issuance of interest-bearing United States bonds without further authority from congress.

WHAT MCKINLEY DID.

From the Chicago Times-Herald. Of the 134 provisions in the McKinley bill as finally passed 95 were in the bill as originally submitted to the house committee by McKinley.

WHAT IT HAS COST.

From the Philadelphia Press. This measure of Democratic incompetency in the interest of the national debt and the interest of the country is like a man—more debt means bad management in administration.

of honesty and fair dealing. This present bill is merely one of the minor consequences.

Queen Victoria.

Yesterday marked the 77th anniversary of the birth of Victoria, "queen of Great Britain and Ireland, and empress of India."

AND LOOK CHEAP.

From the Philadelphia Press. There are several favorite sons at present writing who carry the expression of high glee and patriotic phlegm and sit down in the caustic pie.

TRUE AS PREACHING.

From the Washington Post. A good, stiff line, accompanied by a workhouse sentence, will, after the remedy has been applied in a few cases, put an end to bicycle coaching.

CONTRAST.

No cutter sent too narrow seemed for them a year ago. Squeezed side by side, of bills they dreamed.

THE WHOLE TRUTH.

"Here is your dime," said the kind-hearted man. "But tell me the truth, how-would you like when you said that you wanted it to buy food with?"

OUR DEBT TO FOREIGNERS.

From the Chicago Times-Herald. It is impossible to even approximately calculate the debt of immigrants who have shared in the matchless development of our country's resources.

LIKE OUR OWN SIBS.

J. H. Embury, in Washington Post. Nature formed and endowed Cuba with all the freshness, bloom, and beauty of a mountain garden, and here in the tropics, where mellow sunlight and balmy breezes make perpetual springtime.

by walls which would not circumscribe the executive director of the training of 200,000 school children.

UNPRECEDENTED SITUATION.

From the Philadelphia Press. For the first time in the history of the Democratic party in national convention is approaching without a canvass for a presidential nomination by any candidate whose name comes conspicuously before the country.

A TRUE WORD.

Every country has its peculiar conditions which must be recognized by its lawmakers. Each nation must legislate for its own, study its own interests, take care of its own industries and its own people.

power to tax and to spend. It is now three years and one month since the Democratic party took control and every act under which revenue is collected and the expenditures provided for is of making.
