Our citizens all felt a just pride in the splendid appearance our local Knights made in their handsome uniform and their military learing. manderles are stopping at the Jermyn. The Hugh de Payens bring with them the famous Conturler band of Easton. the famous Conturier band of Faston, which will head them in the parade with thirty-two pieces. The command-ery came in about fifty strong but their number was increased by several new arrivals during the evening so they ex-pect to take at least sixty swords into the parade. The commandery has about a dozen ladies in the party.

The De Molay, No. 9, and the Reading, No. 42, commanderies, both of Reading, also came in shortly after noon yesterday and put up at St. Charles. Togeth-er they are about one hundred and twenty-five strong. The Hospitalers, No. 46, of Lock Haven, were early afternoon arrivals and stopped at the Conway house. They number about forty and have brought with them their own band.

Baldwin IL, No 22, of Williamsbury at 5.22 p. m. They were joined at Sunbury by five members of Gethse-mane. No. 75, of York, and also four members of St. John's, No. 8, of Carlisle. Sir Knight M. J. Wertz, of Continental commandery, No. 56, of Chambersburg, also came on with the party. These three commanderies are quartered in Hotel Terrace. St. John's of Carlisle, and Gethsemane had their ranks increased by late arrivals last night. The Baldwins 11 are twenty-six strong and had in their party ten ladies. This commandery brought with it the wellknown Fisk Military band of Williams port, which discoursed delightful music during the early part of the evening much to the pleasure of the guests of the hotel and the residents of that por-last night known to only the Grand commandery officers, is the pres-ence at the Hotel Jermyn of Right Eminent Sir Warren Larue Thomas, grand master of the United States. He is the most exalted officer of the Mascale order in the country and is in general command of 110,000 men. Grand general command of 10,000 men. Grand Master Thomas reached here at 10 o'clock, having come via Philadelphia direct from his home in Maysville, Ky., and was accompanied by Right Eminut Sir James H Hopkins, of Pitts-

HONORS THE OCCASION.

It is not all state Masonic organizations that can secure the presence of the national grand master, and his presence is considered no less an honor to the city and state than to the Grand commandery. For obvious reasons it was not made known last night, even to prominent Sir Knights, that Grand Master Thomas was in the city. He was somewhat fatigued and while he mingled with the grand officers late in the evening there was a successful effort to keep his presence unknown. He will probably accompany Right Emin-opt Sir Grand Commander Spencer in this morning's parade and will be one of the reviewing party. The extent of the crowd already in the city was not fully appreciated until after 8 o'clock. From that hour until 11 o'clock the streets in the business section and especially in the hotel dis-trict were fairly choked with Sir Knights and their fair companions. bands and commanderies in bodies. The coming and going was incessant and it was with difficulty that carriages could driven through the streets. One could not turn a corner without run-ning into a band. Women were everywhere, Not a few of them were in evening dress. The presence of so many on the streets was particularly due to the receptions, from one to three being held in each of the large hotels.

Neither yesterday nor last night saw the real beginning of the conclave which starts with the parade and review at 10 o'clock this morning. The evening however, was given over to the order as there was a big reception by th the rand officers in the parlors of the Hotel fermyn and an elaborate "at home" the two Scranton commanderies, Melita and Coeur de Lion, in the Scranton Rowing club rooms on Spruce street. In addition there were individual commandery receptions at the Wyoming, House, the St. Charles, the Valley House, and the Hotel Jermyn and a band concert at Hotel Terrace

Throughout the day the headquarters of the grand officers at the Jermyn and the local executive committee in the Frothingham arcade were thronged with visitors. At the former place the those who had business with Grand Recorder Mont H. Smith or with the other grand officers relative to grand commandery matters, while at the local headquarters there was a volume of inquiries answered and other business done concerning the more general and detailed conclave arrange-

From the time the commanderles first began to arrive there were many expressions of compliment and approval concerning the welcome accorded them, the decorations, the detailed plans and Scranton rendered concert selections everything that had to do with the conclave. During the day and night not a hitch occurred nor did an ar-rangement miscarry. At midnight all the grand officers had arrived and by 9 o'clock this morning to is likely that the following past grand commanders will be here. General J. \mathbb{P} S. It required some expert engineering and a great deal of fast traveling on the part of the Sir Knights and their ladies to attend all of last night's receptions and at homes. And the crush at each was so great that when it was all over there was many a ruffled tollet which had been fair to look upon when the reception tours began, and there was many a tired Sir Knight who had cartier felt equal to the task of escort-ing a dozen wives if need be. The throng centered in the vicinity of Wyoming avenue and Spruce street and was at times so dense that foot traffic was only possible along the pavement. It was an orderly crowd and one of good quality and consisted mostly of the reception callers. The reception by the Grand officers took place in the Hotel Jermyn parlors.

Grand Commander Spencer and the other fifteen grand officers were attired other fifteen grand officers were attired in evening dress, and, excepting grand commandery badges, wore nothing to denote their rank or Templar connec-tion. TODAY'S PROGRAMME.

This Morning's Parade and Tonight's Ball Are the Chief Features.

Thirty-seven commanderies and nearly as many bands will participate in the parade. It will start promptly, at 10 o'clock on Lackawanna avenue, and after traversing the pre-arranged route will pass down Wyoming avenue and be reviewed from the stand at the Wyoming house by R. E. Grand Commonder Svencer and the other grand officers and by eight or ten past grand commanders. The line of march is as follows: On Lackawanna avenue to Washington avenue, to Spruce street, to Jefferson avenue, to Pine street, to Washington avenue, to Linden street, to Adams ave-nue, to Spruce street, to Washington avenue, to Linden street, to Wyoming, avenue, passing reviewing stand at Wyoming hotel, to Lackawanna avenue, to Penn avenue, to Spruce street, and dismiss. The parade will form in three divistons, the First on Franklin avenue, the Second on Linden street, and the Third on Spruce street, the First facing South and the two latter facing west.

Grand Captain General E. Sir Henry H. Kuhn, of Johnstown, will lead the parade and will be attended by Chief of Staff E. Sir Ezra H. Ripple, of this city, and aids with the mounted Corin-thian Chasseurs, of Philadelphia, as the Grand commandery escort. Then will follow R. E. Grand Commander Edward B.
