NOW FOR THE FOURTH.

Have a Balloon Ascension Other Features.

The ever glorious Fourth is now rapidly approaching and the people of Carbondale may look for the biggest day in the history of this city, for the preparations to celebrate the day are so elaborate that hundreds of out-or-town people will come to witness it.

The committee reports everything as progressing in a most satisfactory manner, and are well pleased with the success with which the canvassing committee are meeting. The people who have been approached so far on the subject have been very generous and nearly $300 has already been subscribed. This sum should be doubled to make the celebration entirely successful.

The programme for the day is now nearly completed and will afford many different kinds of amusements. There will probably be a balloon ascension. progressing in a most satisfactory man-will probably be a balloon ascension, but arrangements for this have not yet been completed. The Peroria, Ill., firm wanted such an exhorbitant price that terms could not be made. A colored aeronant has offered to make the ascension and he will probably be secured. The various bands and drum corps of Carbondale and vicinity towns have been secured for the big parade.

FRIGHTFUL RUNAWAY.

G. W. Cowperthwait's Team Dash

Down Belmont. runaway occurred yesterday on A runaway octared yesterday on Belmont street, and though no one was injured, several persons had a narrow escape and much damage was done. G. W. Cowperthwait had been out de-livering milk and left his team standing near the Whitelock residence. Be-fore he returned the team became frightened at some object and started down the street at terrific speed. The wagon was thrown from one side of the road to the other and the milk and cans distributed along the road. At Moore's store the tongue came out and the wagon ran to one side into a telegraph pole, where the horses broke loose.

Down the street one of the horses slipped on the street car track and was thrown down, the other horse breaking its harness and continuing its mad flight. The one that fell was captured

The new plot of land for building purposes recently opened by Giles & Rogers will undoubtedly soon be sold out. Already several persons have sig-nified their intentions to buy and build. The lumber for the first cottage is already on the ground at Elk Lake. It will be erected by the owners of the land and when not used by themselves will be rented to parties. It will be completely fitted up so that the only thing that is needed by the renters will be crockery and bedding.

Wreck at the "Lookout."

A wreck occurred on the gravity rail-road yesterday just before I o'clock and though it was not serious the loss to the company will be quite heavy. The wreck was caused by a car on a trip being thrown from the track by a defective latch. Before the rapidly moving cars were brought to a standstill five more cars left the track, and were piled together at the side. A wrecking gang quickly cleared the road and traffic was not delayed long.

The Park Opening.

The first of a series of concerts and other attractions which will be held at Anthracite park this summer will occur Saturday, May 30. Byrne Brothers, the lessees of the place, have made arrangements with the Mozart band to give several concerts during next month. On Saturday evening a bicycle parade will take place on the track. A prize of $10 and one of $5 will be given for the best decorated wheel.

A New Locomotive.

The Dickson locomotive works at Scranton are building a engine which will be used between the Coal Brook breaker and the Wilson Creek tunnel. The new opening which was opened recently gave such a large amount of coal that another engine was needed to take the supply to the breaker.

IMMIGRATION FACTS.

The Proportions of Foreign Born to Total Population for Forty Years. Density of Settlement -- High Tides in Immigration.

According to the New York Sun, careful and detailed records of immigration have been kept since the year 1820. Those of previous years were relative ly unimportant, since not until the year ending Sept. 20, 1824, are 10,000 arrivals in a year recorded. The most famous decade in immigration was the one from 1881 to 1890, inclusive, for which from 1881 to 1890, inclusive, for which the figures were, in the aggregate, 5-246,613, whereas the previous decade had shown only 2,812,191, and the decade from Jan. 1, 1861, to June 30, 1870, only 2,314,824. Another famous decade of high tide in immigration was the one from 1851 to 1860, when the total of alien passengers and immigrants was 2,598,-214, whereas the previous decade had seen but 1,713,251, the decade from 1821 to 1840 only 599,125, and the one from 1821 to 1830 only 143,439. So far as can be judged from its first half, the current decade will not quite come up to its predecessor, the reckening up to 1895 showing a total of 2,289,674. may be another flood tide before 1900. Up to the end of the last fiscal year the statistics showed an aggregate, since 1820, of 17,708,331 persons. It is to be remembered that these included allen passengers in the carlier years not immigrants; but, on the other hand, immigrants from British North Amer-ica and Mexico have not been included since July 1, 1885. Perhaps in round numbers we may expect the figures up to the fiscal year 1890 to show nearly 20,000,000. But it is noteworthy that while the immigration of the last fifteen years has been prodigious, the percentage of foreign born to total population has not greatly increased during the last thirty-five years. That is to say, while the actual number of foreign born was 9,219,547 in the census year 1830, or more than double as much as in 1860, when it was 4,138,697, yet the percentage to the total population was only 14.77 in the former case, against 13.16 in the latter. During the two intermediate census years the percent ages were 14.44 and 13.32. DENSITY OF POPULATION. Excluding Alaska and Indian territory, the country has an average of 21.31 inhabitants per square mile. This is a little greater density than that of Norway, but quite as great as that of Sweden. It is one-fourth that of Spain or Greece, a little more than one-sev-enth that of Denmark, Portugal, or Scotland, about one-seventh that of Ireland, and rechans about one-twenty. Ireland, and perhaps about one-twenty-third part of England. We still have therefore, for the right kind of immigrants.

During the last fiscal year 279,948 immigrants arrived in this country, ex-clusive of those from British North America and Mexico. Some published America and Mexico. Some published figures say that there was an actual increase of 16,073 immigrants from Ireland, 6,217 from England and Wales, 16 from Scotland and 122 from Finland, whereas all other countries in Europe showed a decrease, that of Germany amounting to 21,816, and that of Italy to 7550. But during the courset year. amounting to 21,816, and that of Italy to 7,559. But during the current year there has been a great increase in immigration from Italy. As an offset the debarring of these immigrants has been carried on to an unprecedented extent, the result being a decided check upon immigration from this source of late.

Mention has been made of the fact that, prior to 1820, no exact statistics of immigration were kept. It has been esthat, prior to 1820, no exact statistics of immigration were kept. It has been estimated, however, that between 1873 and 1820 about 250,000 immigrants may have settled in the country. The figures also, since 1820, are not as accurate as could be desired, from the causes already mentioned, and also from the lack of taking account of immigrants who have landed as were little and the set of taking account of immigrants. who have landed a second time after a visit to their native homes. Still, it is obvious what an influence has been had upon our present population by this in-flux from foreign lands.

FURTHER ANALYSIS. Of the 62,622,250 who formed our population at the 1890 census, 53,572,703 were natives and 9,249,547 foreign born. But of the native born 8,085,019 had both parents and 3,418,656 had one parent foreign. This gives a total of 20,753,222 either foreign born or of foreign parentage on one or both sides. Taking as probable a total of 18,022 785 eliens arriving up to Ja vary 1 196. Mr. Nelson gives these results in classifying by countries and by reces. Germany sup-plies 4,976,036 of the number, or more than one-fourth. Next comes freland, with 4,035,118, then Eugla: r1, with 2,370,-326,and fourth Scandinavia, with 1,319,-559. The immigration of British North America is put at 1,040,925, and then comes Italy, with 628,611, followed by European Russia, outside of Finland

Scandinavia, British North America, and the Netherlands are lumped ra-cially as Germanic This is not exacfor various reasons, but taking it as it for various reasons, but taking it as it stands, the Germanic immigration thus turns out to be 19,219,204, or much more than half of the whole. The Germanic-Celtic, which includes treland, Scotland, and Wales, comes nexf, with 4,442,631. Third on the race list is the Latin, comprising Italy, France, Spain, and Portrant with 1,325,64. Then comes Portagal, with 1.426,494. Then comes a rather heterogenous group called "Poles, Slavs, Hungarians, and kindred races," a painful accident while visiting her daughter in Hyde Park Tuesday.
