ENUMERATION OF PUPILS.

The Assessors Have Not Furnished an Accurate List.

As shown by the returns certified to the county commissioners by the vari-ous assessors of the county, there are 4.200 children between the ages of 8 and

12 years in Lackawanna county, but this is not accurate, for the reason that some of the assessors failed to make the enumeration as provided by the Farr Compulsory Education act,due no doubt to the fact that it was the first time the assessors have been required to do this work. They have not performed it in a systematic way and therefore it will be some time before the commissioners can obtain statistics from the enumera tion which would be of interest; for in-stance, many of the assessors have not recorded whether or not the children in their district attend public, parochial, or private schools.

Purely a Social Gathering and Without Any Other Significance .- Company Composed of Men Represented in the City's Best-Known Business and Professional Element.

William Connell gave a dinner last night to nearly fifty of his business and professional friends at the Hotel Jermyn. The occasion was only a so-cial one and had no other significance, Mr. Connell's guests were collectively a body which nearly represented the city's best known and most influential element. The dinner was served begin-ning at 8.30 o'clock in the main dining room of the hetel day morning.

He had a warrant in his pocket for one Theodore Knittle, who, on May 4, broke into Clara Welchel's house on Center street and beat the proprietress, room of the hotel.

MISSING FROM HOME.

Relatives of Joseph Parr, of Cedar Avenue, Worried About Him.

Nothing has been heard of Joseph Parr, of 316 Cedar avenue, since Wednesday morning, and his absence from home is causing his relatives much uneasiness. He lived with his son-in-law, Henry Smith, and was employed as gardner on the Matter estate. He is 55 years old and of German nationality.

What makes his folks worry is the fear that he may have taken his life. They are inclined to this supposition. for the reason that the old man has not been in good health recently, and sickness has made his mind troubled. The police were notified yesterday, but no trace of his whereabouts had been obtained last night.

WHAT THEY THINK OF THE ORDINANCE

Wheelmen Not Pleased at First With Councilman Lansing's Measure.

UNDERSTAND THE SITUATION NOW

Know That It Was Intended only as n Ground Work on Which to Construct an Ordinance That Will Meet the Requirements of the City -- Conference Has Been Suggested.

Mr. Lansing's bleycle ordinance, as was expected, raised a big howl among the wheelmen. It was the only subject of conversation around the cycle stores or where a group of wheelmen chanced to meet.

The purpose of the ordinance, in the main is all right, they say, but many of the details are decidedly objectionable. The provision relating to permits they claim is the most objectionable. According to this section a wheelman from outside the city would have to hunt up the city clerk or chief of police or some other official and take out a ten cent permit before he would be able to ride on the street. to ride on the street.

While doing this scouting he would have to push his wheel through the street, as another section of the law forbids pushing a wheel on the side-

Another feature which meets with great objection is the one requiring wheelmen to have a metal number of a prescribed size attached to the handle bars of his wheel. This, they contend, would not be so bad on the early comers but when the numbers commence to run up into the thousands the late comers will have a pretty good sized plate to carry around.

They also consider the section taxing bicycles as a discrimination against bicycles as a discrimination against wheelmen and will object strenuously to its adoption unless all vehicles are

Towards the latter part of the day when discussion and injury had devel-oped the fact that the ordinance as presented is nothing more or less than a groundwork on which to build a suitable ordinance and that it has gone into a committee's hands for modification, there was a better feeling among cyclists and without exception the movement was heartful approved.

clists and without exception the move-ment was heartily approved.

One of the best propositions put for-ward was to have a committee com-posed of members of the bicycle clubs to wait upon the councilmanic commit-tee and offer to assist in drafting the proposed ordinance.

This it is thought a measure could be gotten up that would properly regulate cycling and prevent any unjust and uncycling and prevent any unjust and un-necessary annoyance to the wheelmen.
