He is happily possessed of a naturally rugged constitution, and may withstand the attack. Though he is speechless yet a more rapid circulation of the

IN HONOR OF THE DAY.

Clarke Brothers have decorated their main windows in a way which is after he patriots' own heart. In one window miniature monument with a suitable scription reverences the soldier dead is is environed in green and the nare is a reproduction of the tomb o General Grant. The effect of this dis-play is especially pleasing. In the third window is collected a number of war relies, with guns, a cannon, and other of the soldiers' outfit. The decorations were suggested by George Clarke.

PROVIDENCE.

Thursday morning the home of Mr. and Mrs. Price Davis, of Cayuga street, was the scene of much rejoicing over the arrival of a new born babe. The was the scene of much rejoicing over the arrival of a new born babe. The time of rejoicing, however, was of short duration. The condition of the mother rapidly became alarming, and Drs. Donne and Bentley were summoned, who remained at her bedside throughout the day. Everything known to medical science was one to stem the tide, with no avail. Mrs. Davis rapidly grew worse and death was momentarily expected. Her sufferings were ended by death at an early hour yesterday morning. Funeral announcements will be made later.

Julia Hannis was arrested yesterday

Julia Hannis was arrested yesterday afternoon on a warrant issued by Alderman Roberts at the instance of Mary Dougher on the charge of threatening to kill. The face of the plaintiff was strong evidence as to the in-tent of the defendant. At the hearing Mrs. Hannis was held under $300 bail in default of which she was committed.

Thirtieth Anniversary of St. Peter's German Society Next Month-Book Agents Suspected of Larceny.

St. Peter's society of St. Mary's German parish are making ready for their thirtieth anniversary next month. The celebration will be in session two days, on the 25th and 26th. The first day will be taken up with business, and an entertainment in the evening in the parochial hall; and on the second day a picnic will be conducted at Central Park.

Invitations sent to German societies of Honesdale, Wilkes-Barre, and Allentown have been answered, accepting the compliment and promising to be present. The members of St. Peter's society expect to receive upwards of 500 out of town guests on the occasion, and they are arranging to make the anniversary a memorable one.

TWO SLICK BOOK AGENTS. For three or four days two well-dressed young men have made an in-dustrious canvass through the South Side in the interest of a New York publishing firm. It is the common bepublishing firm. It is the common be-lief that the purpose of the agents is not so much to introduce any literary works as it is to purloin valuables that might chance to be lying around handy in the residences at which they call. They visited a house in Minooka yes-terday and after they left a gold ring, which had reposed on a shelf near where one of them sat, was fond to be missing.

MR. FUCHS FEELS ALL RIGHT. After his thrilling experience Thursday morning George Fuchs, of Cedar avenue, felt well yesterday, and beers no trace of injury except a few scratch-es on the head. In order that nobody else will tumble into the beer vault, the building will be barricaded. Mr. Fuchs now considers it unlucky to raise chick-ens, and he gave the brood away to a

With the appearance of the sun this

DEATH FROM INJURIES.

John Plank and Miss Clara Herman died today from the effects of injuries sustained in the cyclone. The young lady, her father and mother were buried beneath the house they occupled. Mrs. Herman was instantly killed and Mr. Herman was so badly injured that his death is only a matter of time. There are no other members of the Herman family.

The death list in East St. Louis is being increased by the finding of bodies crushed and mangled almost beyond recognition. The following additional list of dead in St. Louis was given out at police headquarters this morning: Mrs. Emma Sullivan, H. Governor Altgeld is in command of sist in the work of rescue and to protect the city from vandalism and being looted by swarms of thieves who are reported to be on their way to East St. Louis. The public buildings were thrown open for the accommodation of the destitute, and these places were crowded to their capacity. Food for the hungry was furnished liberally by citizens and keepers of restaumorning thousands surrounded the temporary shelters. All night and this morning thousands surroundedthe temporary morgues and heart rending scenes were enacted as relatives came to take away the remains of their loved ones and parties seeking to identify some of the unknown dead, made the rounds of the silent forms. Hundreds of furniture wagons, carts and in many cases buggies and private vehicles were brought into requisition this morning to move away whatever of the personal property can be dug out of the ruins, or, at the risk of lives of the salvage corps can be gotten from the lower rooms of residences, the walls of which are tottering and threatening every moment to bury those beneath. Fortunately the weather is fine and there are moment to bury those beneath. Fortu-nately the weather is fine and there are no indications of a rainy spell.

ALTGELD'S MISTAKE.

The published statement of Governor Altgeld that he did not believe the city was in need of outside aid has not been met with a kind reception. Mayor Bader and the rest of the townspeople here feel that they are in most urgent need of all assistance they can get. There are hundreds of persons here with no homes, no money and even without a stitch of clothing of their own to be provided for, and assistance from other cities will be required. Governor Altgeld is not blamed, but the citizens believe that he did not thoroughly grasp the gravity of the sit-uation owling to the shortness of his stay here. Mayor Bader, in speaking of the situation, said: "As near as we have been able to count up nearly 600 houses have been destroyed, with not less than from three to six people in each of them. Their clothing in great part was destroyed, blown away, if you please. So was their furniture and bedding, and few of them have any money to buy more. "We have been obliged to appeal to the outside world for aid, and I hope that it will be responded to readily for the emergency is dire and pressing."

John Gibbons has built an alley ball court in the rear of his hotel on Oak street. The court is one of the finest in this region and is already being put to a this region and is already being put to a test by a horde of players. Contractor David Davis built the structure. Mr. Foley has worked earnestly during the term.

Wall Street Review.

New York, May 23.—There were no traces of the weakness which characterized yesterday' stock market. In fact, speculation throughout presented quite a firm undertone. The change for the better was due principally to the desire of shorts to cover up their contracts over the double holiday, although Judge Wheeler's decision in the Joint Traffic association case is beginning to be beter understood by the street and this had not a little to do with covering movements. Beside the engagement of gold for shipment to Europe tomorrow fell below estimates, $1,500,000 belong engaged for export. Against this withdrawal a national city bank turned in $1,000,000 of the metal to the sub-treasury in exchange for legal tenders. A good deal has been said of late about heavy shipments in case treasury officials should decide to lower the premium on fine gold bars. Today the local assistant treasurer received notice to sell bars at $\frac{1}{2}$ premium, but there was no rush for bars as anticipated. Now that the banks, however, are showing more disposition to turn in their gold and strengthen the government, less anxiety is felt about the efflux. The improvement in prices ranged from $\frac{1}{2}$ to $0\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, and was well distributed. Sugar was notably firm, brokers connected with refining interests being among the largest buyers. Rubber stocks were heavy and lower, the common falling 2 to $21, and the preferred 2\frac{1}{2}$ to $0\frac{1}{2}$. It was rumored that there were fresh dissensions among the insiders, but the stories could not be confirmed. The common subsequently railied 1\frac{1}{2}$ and the preferred 1 per cent. Toward the close the dealings in Sugar assumed large proportions and the whole list developed more animation. Speculation closed firm in tone. Net changes show kains of $\frac{1}{2}$ to $0\frac{1}{2}$ per cent, in the general list and 2\frac{1}{2}$ in Consolidated Gas. Total sales were $2,775$ shares.
