PARSONAGE QUESTION HAS BEEN SETTLED

First Presbyterian Manse to Be Separated from the Church Lot.

CONGREGATION DIVIDED ABOUT IT

Matter Was Decided at a Meeting of the Congregation Last Night—Isaac Post and George H. Catlin Resign from the Board of Trustees—Successors Not Chosen Yet.

The Presbyterian church will not build the parsonage on the lot recently purchased at the corner of Olive street and Madison avenue from the Scranton Gas and Water company. This was decided at a special meeting of the congregation last night. It was further decided that the trustees purchase a house and lot separate from the new church lot.

The resignations of Isaac Post and George H. Catlin from the board of trustees were made known at last night's gathering. Ex-Judge H. A. Knapp and L. T. Sartin were respectively chosen chairman and secretary of the meeting, and prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. James McLeod. D. D. Soon after the meeting began it was apparent that the parsonage site, which has really been no unsettled question since the congregation decided to build a new edifice, was received in three different ways. One element approved building the parsonage alongside the church and on the lot; another element disapproved that idea, but was opposed to building anywhere until the necessary funds were in hand; and a third element, successful division advanced the action which was finally taken.

A letter from A. W. Dickson, who was out of town, was read by W. R. Stors. The writer expressed himself as opposed to locating the parsonage on the church lot, but willing to abide by the action of the meeting. Mr. Stors seconded Mr. Dickson's opinion and expressed the belief that the church structures ought to cost $50,000 more than the amount decided upon, and, as the congregation might eventually think as he did, he disapproved any step toward parsonage building until the funds were provided. He did not think the lot sufficiently large for the two structures.

READ FROM THE MINUTES.

Judge Hand read from the minutes the past actions of the congregation on the matter. The minutes showed that the last action was during September of last year, when it was decided to build the parsonage on the church lot, but to defer operations until the money was raised or until the building committee was instructed to let the contract, the plans and specifications having been already approved by the committee.

WILL MAKE BICYCLES.

Such an Establishment is Promised to Scranton in the Near Future.

Those Interested in It.

If you wait till the first of August you can ride a Scranton bicycle, made in Scranton by Scranton manufacturers, and bearing the typical Scranton name of the Anthracite.

F. S. Barker, of the firm of S. G. Barker & Son, the seventh street scale manufacturers, returned yesterday from New York, where he spent the past week closing the arrangements for the equipment of a first-class bicycle factory.

The machinery, tools and material are now on their way here and will be immediately put in place in the company's plant on Seventh street.

The bicycle factory will, for the present, be run in connection with the scale works, but before another year has passed they expect to erect separate buildings of such capacity as the trade will warrant. An expert who was for years a foreman in one of the leading factories of New England, has been engaged and will be in the city this week to superintend the erection of the machinery.

The "Anthracite" they claim will be a high grade wheel, which will compare with the best on the market. The first to be turned out will be of the '97 pattern and will contain all the improvements and new ideas which the company controls by purchase or invention. By Aug. 1 they expect to have the wheels on the market. Just to what proportions the industry will grow is a matter of conjecture, they say, but if merit will count for ought they have every hope that it will yet be one of the leading industries of the city.

LIVELY RACE OF PONIES.

It Was Not One of the Advertised Features of Parade.

Two small ponies in the Norris Bros. parade at noon yesterday gave a pretty exhibition of running powers as the line of march was going down Franklin avenue toward Lackawanna. The performance was not on the programme. A Scranton messenger boy, in a suit of startling hue, was driving the dwarf horses. The tiny wagon on which he sat became partially loosened from the ponies, and, frightened at the accident, they scampered ahead at an exciting rate.

After running over the other ponies in front, the two quines rushed into a wagon at the Valley house. There they stopped. One attempted to keep the road; the other wanted to round the sidewalk. The big wagon was in between and the halt was as startling as it was complete. The two ponies were thrown off his seat early in the race. He escaped with skin-pared knuckles and a frightened feeling. The parade moved on in a few minutes.
