WILL NOT DISBAND.

We Expect to Hend the List at the End of the Season,

The report that the Carbondale base ball team will disband is entirely without foundation and the probabilities are that we will have a club representing this city throughout the season. York disbanding will necessarily bring about a new schedule, but if we can help it we do not intend to be thrown out of the league. Of course, if we are voted out it cannot be helped, but it is thought now that Shamokin and Hazleton will combine and thus keep the number of clubs even. This seems to be the only way of solving the question at present, for we dont' intend to get out.

The people have gone too far in this city to let the club go now, and it only needs the carrying of a club through safely this season to assure us a position in the league next year. The directors have sent two men to Shamokin to learn the true state of affairs.

WEDDING BELLS.

Miss Agnes Allen and William M.

Howell United in Marriage. The wedding of Miss Agnes Allen to William M. Howell, which took place Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Salmon, on Gilbert street, was one of the prettiest witnessed in this city for a long time. The ceremony was performed at 8.30 o'clock by Rev. T. E. Jepson. The bride has been in this country but a short time, having come from England two weeks ago. During her stay here she has made many friends and is a great favorite. Mr. Howell is also very popular. He is employed at the Hendrick Manufacturing works. The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Italy and Switzerland. Henry Allen. About sixty guests were present at the ceremony. An elaborate wedding dinner followed. Mr. and Mrs. Howell will not take the usual wedding tour and will go to housekeeping at once on Gilbert street.

FIRST STEEL CARS.

Passed Through This City En Route for Saratoga.

Many people were attracted to the Delaware and Hudson yard yesterday, where three steel cars, en route for Saratoga, lay over for the day.

The cars will be on exhibition at the Master Car Builder's convontion which is convened there. They are made by the Carnegie Steel works and are a decided improvement over the old cars, and beside present a neater and more substantial appearance.

One of the cars is loaded with iron ore. and the flat one with steel rails. The capacity of the godolas is 50 tons. They are much larger than the ordinary car which holds about 30 tons. Their weight is also nearly twice as great.

The Graduating Honors.

UGLY FACES ARE MADE BEAUTIFUL

Windowless Rooms Become Luminous, Objects in the Night Stand Forth in Startling Prominence -- A New Illuminant of Wondrous

Chicago, June 11.—Scientific circles are awalting to hear a few details from M. Henry, a French savant who announces that he has discovered a combination of chemicals and minerals that ecomes luminous in the dark. M. Henry thinks so much of his discovery that he refuses to reveal the combination. When he finally discloses the secret, and the luminous preparation becomes a staple article of merchandise. there will be a revolution of things generally.

M. Henry's discovery is being exploited through the French papers at great length without requiring the services of a press agent. His new illuminant is on exhibition in Paris in a mansion on the Rue de Longchamps, where a windowless suite of rooms is lighted with it. The lady of the house receives ner friends at 5 o'clock in these apartments, without the aid of gas or electricity. The rooms seem bathed in noonlight, the curtains gleam like sheets of pale light, and the furniture shines as though rubbed with phosphorus

It is easy to foretell what will be the consequences of M. Henry's discovery, should it ever become public. He states that the composition is used with the best results when mixed with rice powder, such as is used as a tollet by ladies. STARTLING EFFECTS POSSIBLE.

Henry's composition, and sprinkled with discretion, the bloomer girl will transform herself into a pillar of fire by night, without attracting more than the ord nary amount of attention by day. Men of convivial instincts will also be glad when they can buy a dime's worth of the illuminating powder to carry home after spending an evening at the club or lodge or the office. Sprinkled on the doorsteps it will light the weary way to the door, and a dash in the vicinity of the door knob will reveal the keyhole that always tries to hide from the key. Once inside the house, a liberal application of the powder in all directions would be sure to disclose many pieces of unnecessary furniture, and thus preserve peace in the family in the morning.

Old and wrinkled visages, by the same process, lose their unnttractivespending this week at Dalton, as the ness by night, while a red nose can be made to shine as a beacon from afar. M. Henry has tried his discovery on dogs with great success, producing effeets that are bizarre enough to satisfy any Frenchman. Black-and-tan dogs have been found to be best adapted to treatment with the illuminant in spots, while the greyhound takes on stripes very nicely. Long-haired dogs, such as skye terriers, are said to be especially striking at night when the hairs of their shaggy coats are dusted with the powder. Bulldogs, with their faces painted, become doubly useful as guardians of the night. Charles E. Billin, secretary of the Technical club, would not hazard an opinion on the discovery until he had witnessed a practical test of the illuminent. "Of course it is possible," he said, "to find something which will minsie with rice powder and produce such results, but without full proof of the matter I would be inclined to doubt it very

SCHOOL FOR MONKEYS. They Are Taught to Spell with Let-

A young monkey is taken This makes it easy of application in a and before him is placed a set of blocks multitude of ways, and renders possible on which are painted in capitals the let-the production of some startling ef- ters of the alphabet. These blocks are, on which are painted in capitals the letfects. In fact, the possibilities are tre- in fact, exactly similar to those which children play with in every civilized country in the world and they are used in precisely the same way as if the monkey were a young specimen of the human race.

There is one professor for each monkey and the monkey is taught by means of blocks to spell certain words. If the word is "fruit," for example, the monkey, after having been taught to arrange the blocks so as to spell the word quickly and without error, receives a bit of fruit as his reward. The same exercise is repeated with other words and it is hoped that in time the simians will learn how to read and spell and understand English if they can not speak it. Only young animals are taken. There is no danger of this queer school lacking for scholars, for there are thousands of monkeys to be found in that part of India where Calcutta is situated. An effort will also be made, it is said, to educate these beasts so that they may become fairly efficient domestic servants. The school is so young as yet, however, that what it will accomplish is entirely a matter of speculation. Its "professors" are enthusiastic about their novel work and seem to think that a new field of usefulness will be opened up for these chattering little beasts .-Paris Journal des Debats.
