SLEEPING ON THE TRACK.

Is Now in the Hospital as a Result of His Ill-Timed Snooze.

The long list of fatalities which have ocurred on the street railway came very nearly being increased by one name late Sunday night. The fault this time cannot be put upon the employes of the company, for it was the person's own fault that the accident occurred.

Richard Blight, of Clark street, had not been spending the Sabbath in a way exactly commanded in the bible. To ward night he was well under the influence of liquor and could hardly walk home. In some manner he lost his way and wandered up toward Anthracite park. Here he was suddenly overcome by a tired feeling and lay down. As it happened he lay down across the street car tracks. The last car down came in sight about the time Blight was dreaming pleasant dreams. Fortunately, however, the motorman saw the figure lying on the track and managed to have his car pretty well stopped when it

The unfortunate man was then placed upon the car and brought to this city, where he was ling the politicians, taken to Dr. Balley's office. Dr. Balley and Dr. Jenkins decided that it would be best to take the man to the hospital which was accordingly done. Here it was found that the hip had been dislocated. The body is also covered with bruises and it is feared that there is internal injuries.

The directors of the park have worked hard and gone to considerable expense to bring the park into prominence. The building of the grand stand and race track necessitated the paying out of quite a little sum. To liquidate this debt several ladies of the alumni have arranged tonight's programme They have gone to a great deal of trouble and deserve a good attendance. The programme is high-class, Carbondale's best talent appearing in the numbers. It is as follows: Plane duet, Miss Alice Chase and B. L. Singer; recitation, Lila Connolly; whistling solo. William Di-mock; vocal duet, Misses Powderly; recitations, Master Joe Locke; mandolin and guitar, Messrs, Hunt and Wilson; recitation, Miss Gertrude Collins; vocal duet, Mrs. Leonard and Miss Snyder: violin duet. Professor Thomas and D. R. Crane; recitation, Lizzie Cavanaugh; bass solo, Mr. Church; plano duet. Misses Boylan and Gilhool: Benjamin L. Singer, accompanist.

NEARLY FINISHED.

The Artesian Well Has Been Sunk 239 Fect.

The work of sinking the artesian well in Brownell's swamp is nearly finished, the men hoping to get through this week. The dril! has gone down about 240 feet and there is yet ten feet of hard sandstone to go through.

The work was delayed somewhat last week by a drill being lost, which took four days to recover. All the strata with the exception of the sandstone. which were met with last year, have been passed through. This sandstone being very hard will take more time than the other strates. Under this water is expected to be found. The pressure will be considerable and the water will be the purest quality. It will add much to the present excellent system which the city is now enjoying.

When Shaffer was convicted his attor neys, E. F. McGovern and John Shes at once filed reasons for a new trial. Judge Bennett this morning in a lengthy opinion overruled the motion for a new trial and arrest of judgment. Young Shaffer, who was present in the court room was at once called before the court. After briefly reviewing the case Judge Bennett said:

"The sentence of the law is, that you. Frank Shaffer, be taken hence to the Luzerne county prison from which you have been brought, and be kept there until the time is appointed by the executive of the state of Pennsylvania for your execution, and when that time, so to be fixed, shall arrive, that you be taken hence to the place prepared for your execution within the walls or yard of said prison and iail, and that you, Frank Shaffer, then and there suffer death by hanging by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy upon you."

The Judge's voice trembled at the concluding words and Shaffer bowed his head and walked back to the prisoner's corner. He looks pale and worried and is much thinner than at the time of
