ALUMNI OF HIGH SCHOOL BANQUET

Enjoyable Event at the Bicycle Club House Last Night.

BUSINESS MEETING FIRST HELD

All Officers of the Association for the Year Were Chosen--Session of Speech Making--John P. Kelley's Interesting Discourse on the Subject of Capital Punishment--Dancing Followed Banquet.

The annual alumni banquet of the Scranton high school held last evening at the rooms of the Scranton Bicycle club will be memorable in the history of the association as an epoch mark for a more successful career. Last night the attendance was lamentably poor but there were present some of the best workers in the organization and the suggestions given as to the welfare of the alumni were referred to the new officers and executive committee. These officers and committee members were chosen with more care than has been the method of late years. They are: George B. Davidson, '89, president; Miss Leah Heath, '89, vice president; Miss Emma Falkowsky, '94, secretary; John McCourt, '96, recorder; Executive committee: 77, J. C. Vaughn; 79, Miss Josie D. Lees; '80, Frederick Crippen; '81, M. J. Donahue; '86, James T. Gettes; '87, Mrs. J. C. Lange; '88, Miss Josie Batters; '89, Eli Harris; '90, Merian Miller; '91, Andrew Fine; '92, Miss Clara Neimeyer; '93, John Keater; '94, Miss Margaret Schimpff; '95, Miss Rachel Powell; '96, Miss Lulu Belle Warren.

The officers were selected by the following committees, as appointed by the chair: Professor, J. C. Lange, R. J. Beamish and Charles E. Daniels. Their recommendations were unanimously adopted. In the early part of the evening retiring President David Owens asked for a report from Attorney John M. Harris, who, at the last meeting, was delegated to look after the securing of an alumni room in the new high school building. Mr. Harris stated that arrangements have been made for the desired quarters. The committee was continued. After the selection of officers and the executive committee the session went into a long discussion of the condition of the alumni. Miss Leah Heath suggested that the association devote its time and expenditure of money not to pleasure alone, but to the furtherance of education in the city of Scranton. Miss Heath's thoughts were expressed in a brilliant address and the effect will be felt. The suggestion was referred to the executive committee. In concluding he called upon John McCourt, who in a pleasing effort, spoke of the class of '96, the juveniles of the association. Mr. McCourt made a plea for the alumni with all its sentiment. "Sentiment rules the world," he said. A vocal selection was sweetly sung by Mrs. Irene Kann, who so well pleased her audience at the '96 commencement exercises of the high school.

Following Miss Kann, Emerson D. Owen talked on "The Old Woman." The conception of the subject was that the "old" is preferable to the "new;" that man, who by marriage, wants a wife, not a private secretary. Attorney John J. Murphy spoke on "What a High School Graduate Can Not Tell About the Law." As the toastmaster afterward said, Mr. Murphy aptly told him what he did not know. But Mr. Murphy entertained the alumni with a number of humorous stories, though Mr. Kelley claimed, in a speech following, that he it was who originated the stories. "And," said Mr. Kelley, "I'm glad 'twas Mr. Murphy who told them. They failed to take, anyhow." At this point in the exercises the most charming of before Mrs. Irene Kann, Miss Davidson, Kelley, Beamish and Murphy delighted the others in a period of informal repartee.

MR. BEAMISH'S REMARKS.

"Class Fulfillment" was the subject on which R. J. Beamish, private secretary to Mayor Bailey, attempted to base his remarks. The intention of the programme makers was that Mr. Beamish should tell of the whereabouts of his classmates of '98. Mr. Beamish forgot this. He occupied his time in delivering a series of humorous and witty effusions which led his auditors astray and the class of '98 went down into history unlearned, unconfined and unknown. A recitation by Miss Bertha Conger upon a subject of interest to students generally, and teachers in particular.

This followed the most pretentious response of the evening. It was on "Capital Punishment," and the speaker was John P. Kelley, formerly district attorney. Mr. Kelley opened his remarks with the remark that the subject was a "grave" one and that a man was liable to "lose his head" over it. Then, in a serious vein, he gave his views on the great question. He upheld the law, he favors the death penalty when the crime is premeditated. He believed that the time has not come for the entire abolishment of the scaffold. Mr. Kelley referred to the fact that in olden time the crimes punishable by death were vastly more numerous than now. He told of the law bearing upon the subject in Pennsylvania and altogether gave an address which teemed with intrinsic value.

Professor J. C. Lange spoke to the pupils on "Advice." He complimented the several speakers on the ability shown and expressed his pleasure at the development of high school graduates. Dancing followed the exercises. The celebration was one of the best enjoyed since the forming of the association. Those present were:

CLOSING EXERCISES
OF ST. CECILIA'S

They Were Held in St. Thomas' College Hall Last Night.

IT WAS AN ELABORATE AFFAIR

Those Who Received Diplomas and Prizes--Musical and Literary Numbers of Surpassing Interest--Bishop O'Hara and Many Priests in Attendance--Pupils Do Credit to Themselves and Their Instructors.

The young masters and misses of St. Cecilia's Academy had an immense audience at St. Thomas' College hall last night, before which to display the excellent training they receive at that institution of learning. Rt. Rev. Bishop O'Hara who evinces the deepest interest in the Academy occupied a seat on a platform just in front of the stage. He was attended by Rev. T. F. Coffey, of Carbondale, and Rev. P. J. McMannus of Green Ridge, and on either side the following priests occupied chairs: Rev. D. J. McCarthy, John Loughran, James McAndrew, D. J. MacGoidrick, J. Snoultier, D. A. Dunne, J. Jordan, P. Quinlan, J. W. Maloney, J. J. B. Feeley, T. J. Comerford, Arthur M. E. Lynett, Jermyn; J. Moffit, W. O'Donnell. Every foot of space on the main floor and in the gallery was occupied, many people standing up in the aisles and in the rear of the hall.

WAS NOT FOUL PLAY.

Verdict of a Coroner's Jury Sets Aside Suspicion Connected with Hungarian's Death at Dickson City.

A violent death which had aroused suspicions of foul play was decided by a coroner's jury in Dickson City last evening to have been caused by drunkenness and accident. The inquest was on the death of Max Matrysson, a Hungarian, aged 42 years, who was found early Monday morning lying on the ground beneath the second-story bedroom window of his boarding house. He died yesterday morning.

Matrysson roomed with his brother. He went to bed drunk Sunday night. The brother awoke during the night and heard himself without a bedfellow. He heard groans outside and discovered Max lying unconscious on the ground and bleeding from a wound on the head. A physician was called. He pronounced the case concussion of the brain. After Matrysson died the case was reported to the local authorities who notified Coroner Longstreet. He went to Dickson City yesterday morning and impaneled a jury. A post mortem examination made in the afternoon showed that Matrysson's skull had been fractured.

The inquest was held in Twiss' hall. The jury consisted of James Twiss, William F. Lyndon, John W. Roehler, James Wilkinson and C. W. Wilkinson. About ten witnesses were examined, including the brother of the deceased. There seemed no doubt that death was caused by an accidental falling from the window and a verdict was rendered accordingly.

FIGHT AT JOHNSON'S PATCH.

Resulted in a Badly Cut Head and Two Arrests.

There was a fight up in Johnson's Patch Monday night and George Kostli was badly cut about the head by Herman Fish. The men had been drinking and Fish went into Kostli's house and created a disturbance. He was thrown out and badly used by the householders, but returned in a few minutes with a keen edged knife and an equally keen desire to be revenged. When he left the house a second time Kostli's head was a sight to behold.

The cutter was arrested by Special Officer John Tierney and yesterday Alderman Miller requested him to furnish $500 bail for his appearance at court, which he did.

When Officer Tierney went up to Johnson's Patch Monday night to make the arrest a certain Mascon Steinwitz interfered. Tierney was not able to place him under arrest then, but determined to get Steinwitz at another time. What was the officer's surprise to see the interfering walk into Alderman Miller's office yesterday to attend the hearing of his friend Fish. He presently found himself a prisoner and when the case against Fish was disposed of Steinwitz was arraigned and after severe reprimand by Alderman Miller was given the alternative of paying a heavy fine or going to jail for thirty days. He chose the former.

SOME TWO OF THESE THREE.

Will Be Named as Patrolmen One Week from Tomorrow Night.

It was not Mayor Bailey's intention yesterday to aid in nominations for the two vacancies on the police force at Thursday's special meeting of select council, but it is possible that he may.

Although he does not directly state whom he has selected, it is given out from the inside of the Police Department that Mr. Murphy, of the Twelfth ward, and Charles Yoes, of the Fifteenth, are the slated men. John C. Roche may, however, be named instead of Yoes. Either Roche or Yoes is to be mounted officer and Thursday night will decide which will get it.

Clark is championed by Select Councilman Manley.
