question categorically. I am of opinion, however, that if the property owners should refuse to pay and successfully defend against the assessment for paving by reason of irregularites in the levying of the assessment, for which the city is to Archbald on the train which leaves alone responsible, that under the author ity of the Barber Asphalt company against the city of Harrisburg, decided in the United States court, the city might be required to pay the contractor for the amount of als

Such of the irregularities as are alleged to exist in the letting of the contract seem to me to raise very different questions from those raised in the Harrisburg case, where the ordinance making the assessnent was wholly void. In this case, so far as I am informed, there are no irregularities charged with reference to the substance or the manner of passage of the ordinance providing for the pave-ment. As to the letting of the contract, the law requires only that it should be let to the lowest responsible bidder, and the ordinance in this respect follows the law, esponsible bidder, I do not see how any echnical question could be raised as to the manner in which it was done so as to constitute a defense to the collection of the assessments. Moreover, I am informed hat a large majority of the property ownrs upon the street proposed to be paved have requested the councils in writing to let the contract as is proposed by the res-olution. Certainly these owners would e estopped to raise any objection to the nethod by which the contract was let to he way they may favor.

I have gone somewhat beyond the terms of your request for an opinion, not with any desire to volunteer advice as to the exercise of your discretion in letting the contract, but under the impression that my direct answer might be misconstrued inless accompanied with some explana. Very truly yours, James H. Torrey,

City Solicitor. The resolution now requires but the signature of Mayor Bailey to make it perative and unless court intervenes Dunn Bros. will pave Monroe avenue.

BIDS AND CONTRACTS. Bids for paving Ninth, Robinson and

The blank form attached to the letter contained three spaces each for the Hart & Gibbons, pave, $1.77; curb, 45 cents; resetting old curb, 7 cents; circular curb, $85 cents. The proposals were referred to the streets and bridges committee with instructions to award the contract to the lowest responsible bidder.

The streets and bridges committee recommended that the contract for grading Ninth, Robinson and Jackson streets be awarded to Max Phillips for $2,683.34, this being the lowest bid. The contract for constructing the Capouse avenue lateral sewer between the Fourteenth district main sewer and New York street was on the recommendation of the sewers and drains committee, awarded to P. J. Thornton for $1.84 per lineal foot. The ordinance for paving Mulberry street from Mifflin avenue to Prescott avenue was favorably reported by the pavement committee.

BICYCLE ORDINANCE IN DANGER. Mr. Chittenden made a speech against Mr. Lansing's bleycle ordinance, alleging that it is not applicable to this city and should be simplified. A majority of councils rhought so, too, and it was referred to the committee on streets and bridges for revision. The common council resolution directing the auditing committee to meet on the first Monday of each month in order to hasten the payment of the wages of city employes, particularly laborers, was referred to the committee on rules:

THE END OF SARAH GRIMES' CAREER

Sufficated by Gas in Hattle Barnes House, Wilkes-Barre.

WAS A FAMILIAR FIGURE HERE

Had Been in Police Court Times Without Number -- For the Last Year Her Headquarters Was in the Neighborhood of Olyphant -- Sad Ending of the Life of a Former School Teacher.

Mrs. Sarah Grimes, an unfortunate oman whose name is dotted all over the police records of this city, was found dead yesterday morning in a house kept by Hattle Barnes on Canal street, Wilkes-Barre. She was well educated, intelligent and bore evidence of refine

One of the inmates smelled an olor of gas, and going up stairs went into me of the rooms where she found a man and woman lying on a bed dead. They had been suffocated by gas dur-ing the night which had escaped from an open jet.

The police were notified and took charge of the premises. They found the victims almost naked, their faces drawn and discolored, the scene being a shocking one. The woman was heavy set and weighed about 170 pounds and from appearances she was about 40 years of age. Pinned in her dress was found a pawn ticket from the pawn shop of Joseph Green, Scranton, which read: "Mrs. Evans, your note for 50 cents will be due May 23, 1896."

IT WAS MRS CRIMES No papers were found on the clothing of the man or woman that would dis-close their identity but one of the police officers of Wilkes-Barre identified the woman as a person who was arrested in that city a few weeks ago under the supposition that she was e. Mrs. Connors wanted in this city. She proved that she was Mrs. Grimes and not Mrs. Connors and was released. Last evening it was shown beyond doubt that the dead woman was Mrs. Grimes who is so well known in police circles

She was about 40 years of age, rather below medium height, and although dis-sipation had played sad havoc with her of recent years she still retained some of the evidences of the rare beauty that must have been hers during the earlier and happier years of her life. England was her birthplace and after finishing her education she became a school teacher, devoting herself to that calling for several years until she married a Mr. Sillman. It was not a fortunate venture, but whether it was the divorce court or death that again gave her freedom is not known. She married a mun named Grimes for her second husband and for a number of years they lived in time they resided on West Lackawanna avenue hill and became a nuisance to the entire neighborhood. Then they went to the lower flats, where they fed the same kind of an existence. six children were taken away from them and placed in local institutions, but Mrs. Grimes did not reform, on the contrary she seemed to get into police court oftener than ever.

WENT TO OLYPHANT.

Her last appearance in police court here was three months ago. Apparently she spent some of her time recently she was seen in the company of the man with whom she was found dead. He was David Arnett, a widower, 40 years of age, who resided on Custer street, Wilkes-Barre. They went to the
