IT WAS A BAD DAY

Hope Gives Way to Discouragement and Despair at the Twin Shaft.

FIFTEEN INCHES AN HOUR

That Was the Average Rate of Progress Yesterday—Rescuers Had Been Too Sanguine of Their Abilities—Everything is in an Uncertain State—Coroner Comes on the Scene.

Discouragement has taken the place of hope at the Twin shaft in Pittston. The bright prospects of the previous day are now shown to be a delusion, and the discouragement now is as deep as the hopes were high then. Yesterday the reports told of the probability of speedily recovering the bodies and the faint possibility of rescuing some of the men alive. Today the sad indications are that the bodies even will not be recovered for many a day, if ever.

The cause of this sudden alternation from hope to despair is explained by the now potent fact that the rescuers were over sanguine of their abilities as regards making headway. The wish that they might be father of the thought that they could, with no further impediment from "squeezes," push their way down the slope at nearly the same rate of speed in which they covered the distance in the kangway leading to the head of the slope. They did make encouraging headway down the first part of the slope, but as they came closer to the edge of the face they found that they had immense boulders of rock, as was the case when proceeding through the road leading to the slope.

The uncertainties that have all along existed still continue to exist. The men cannot tell what is ahead of them and can only find out by the slow and tedious method of tunneling, which is being pursued. No developments are expected today, as the slope has been explored as far ahead as it is possible to push the tunnel during the next twenty-four hours, and consequently it is not expected that anything new will be revealed. However, no one can tell what the morrow will bring forth.

DAY AT THE TWIN SHAFT.

Progress Made in the Work of Digging for the Buried Men.

There were no new developments yesterday, and the bright hopes of Tuesday are gradually fading away. From 7 o'clock yesterday morning until 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the rescuing gang succeeded in gaining only about eight feet headway. As they are yet hundreds of feet away from the men, it is not expected that any of the buried men are supposed to be in the works which branch out from the foot, opinions differing as to the distance, some saying 200 feet, others holding that they are in five times that far.

CANNOT BE REACHED.

It is now generally accepted opinion that the men cannot possibly be reached in a few days as was thought Tuesday. The rescuers have come upon the edge of the cave-in where the fall is very heavy and progress from now on must be painfully slow. The immense boulders of rock which choke the way have to be broken up with sledge hammers, as the utilizing of explosives is out of the question, and as only four men can work at a time two welding the sledges and two loading the rock it can be seen that the hundreds of feet which have to be traveled at this small pace will take away, many days. Some places are not as bad as others and at intervals clear spaces are encountered but while one shift may advance a rod the next may be able to gain only a yard.

DETERMINED LOVERS UNITED.

Their Fourth Elopement Successful After a Bloodless Duel. Jeffersonville, Ind., July 1.—Thomas I. Phillips and Miss Ollie Moore were the principals in a second elopement to this city. They came from Casey county, Kentucky. They had made three previous attempts to elope and had been thwarted as many times by irate parents. The fourth and successful attempt was not made until Phillips and Ollie Moore, a brother-in-law of the bride, had a fight. They drew revolvers and fired eight times at each other, but the balls went wide of their mark. Phillips was forced to retreat, leaving his sweetheart behind.

MRS. STOWE DEAD.

The Author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" and Other Noted Works, Passes Away at Hartford.

Hartford, Conn., July 1.—Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, the gifted author of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and other works of wide reputation, died at her home, 73 Forest street, at noon today without regaining consciousness. She passed peacefully away as though into a deep sleep.

Mrs. Stowe's body will be taken to Andover, Mass. The burial will be in the cemetery connected with the Andover Theological seminary, where Mrs. Stowe's husband, Professor Calvin E. Stowe, and her son, Henry, are buried.

Funeral services for Mrs. Stowe will be held at her late home at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The body will be taken to Andover, Mass., for interment on Friday morning.

Harriet (Becher) Stowe was the daughter of Lyman and Roxana (Foster) Beecher, of the town of Litchfield, Conn., June 14, 1811. She was the seventh in a family of children of whom the eldest was but 13 years older than herself. Her father was a Congregationalist, and her mother was a Unitarian. She was educated at her father's boarding school and personally teaching English, French, painting, and embroidery.

DEMOCRATS TRY TO GET TOGETHER

Silver Leaders, According to Harrity, Simply "Fenced for Points." ALTGELD AND STAFF ARE ACTIVE

They Have Enlisted the Bulk of the Bimetallic Support for the Abolition of the Two-Thirds Rule—Vice-President Stevenson Declines to Discuss the Situation.

Chicago, July 1.—The reconnoitre today of the skirmish guard of the silver forces upon the outskirts of the national Democratic committee as planted by its sub-committee was variously viewed by the participants after the former had retired to its own camp. According to Chairman Harrity, the dining delegation, composed of Senator Turpie, Daniel, Jones and Governor Stone and Altgeld, simply "fenced for points."

According to Chairman Harrity, the dining delegation, composed of Senator Turpie, Daniel, Jones and Governor Stone and Altgeld, simply "fenced for points."

BIMETALLISTS QUIET.

The bimetallic Democratic national convention dispersed with its closing day, the action of the Illinois delegation in determining to lead the attack for the abrogation of the two-thirds rule was a fruitful topic of discussion and during the day it developed that Governor Altgeld's scheme was in danger from an unexpected source and that Michigan rather than Illinois might become the pivotal state to wield the balance of power in the convention.

QUET DETERMINATION.

There was an attendance of 35 representative silver advocates at the adjourned meeting in the Sherman house tonight of the national bimetallic Democratic committee. Senator Jones of Arkansas, on behalf of the committee delegated to wait on the members of the national committee, reported the result of the conference this afternoon.

THE GOLD ELEMENT.

Among the gold members of the national committee who are being talked about in a way which betokens their retirement in favor of the ruling elements are Messrs. Cable, of Illinois; Sheerin, of Indiana; Prather, of Missouri, and Richardson, of Iowa.

WILL REJECT BLAND.

The People's Party Evidently Will Not Play Second Fiddle to the Democracy.

ST. LOUIS, JULY 1.—Chairman Taubene of the People's party national committee, when seen this morning regarding a published statement that Mr. Bland would be acceptable to the Populists if the Democrats nominating him for president at Chicago, said to the United Press representative:

"I made no such statement, nor will the People's party endorse Mr. Bland if he is nominated at the Chicago convention. The People's party has more voters who will stand up and be counted for free silver than any other party in existence. The People's party is the only party which has honestly contended for the renomination of silver at 16 to 1, and it is the only party in existence whose members are united for this demand. The People's party for the sake of a union of all the silver forces at the polls in the coming campaign, will not surrender our organization or individuality. If the Democrats cannot meet us half way on a man like Senator Bland, then that party is responsible for a division of the silver forces in the coming campaign."
