DETAILED WORK OF THE CONVENTION

Silverites Are Triumphant in Retiring Michigan Gold Delegates,

A DAY FOR ORATORICAL WIND-MILLS

Blackburn, Altgeld and Others Air Their Opinions -- Vote by States on the Motion to Substitute the Michigan M nority Report.

Chicago, July 8.-The Democratic national convention was in session two hours and three quarters but transacted no business beyond adopting a partial report of the credentials. There was no repetition, this morning, of the offensive scenes of yesterday so far as admission to the convention hall was concerned. By order of the temporary chairman, Senator Daniel, of Virginia, just before adjournment last evening. the doors were opened at 9 a. m., and all persons having the right of entrydelegates, alternates and holders of tickets, wer admitted as soon as they presented themselves. In that way the sergeant-at-arms escaped the curses which fell thick upon him yesterday from the thousands who were victims of his stupid order to keep the doors closed till the last moment. The rows of spectators' seats were easily filled. without pushing, confusion, or the display of ill-temper, and the delegates and alternates had no difficulty in reaching their several sections.

At a few minutes before 11 o'clock Temporary Chairman Daniel called the convention to order and announced that its proceedings would be opened with prayer by the Rev. Thomas Edward Green, rector of Grace church (Episcopab, Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The prayer called for a special "blessing on this convention gathered from all over our fair land" and asked that the families of the delegates should be dominated for good, for humanity, and for God" and that what they did might "tell in the years to come for the avancement and lifting up of our

Senator White, permanent chairmanelect, relieved Senator Daniel of the gavel and presided over the informal proceedings of the convention which followed, Mr. Daniel being in poor voice. The chairman announced that reports of committees were in order and called for the report of the committee on cre-

That committee not being ready Governor Hogg was given five minutes to address the convention. The committee not being ready his time was extended. Upon concluding, amid loud cries for Hill, who was not present, the chair recognized Mr. Money, who moved that Senator Blackburn be invited to stand.

BLACKBURN TAKES THE FLOOR. Mr. Blackburn, the first pronounced candidate to be heard, was received with great applause.

He said the Democratic party had opened the campaign in splendid style. They had swept over the skirmish line and their further duty was plain. Let us declare we are to promulgate a platform that shall not obscure or deflect public attention from the one great issue upon which the campaign is to turn, that we mean to unlock the doors of the mint and put silver back where it was before. (Cheers). Let us declare further that we do not approve the issue of interest bering bonds in times of peace, or of giving the option of purchase to the man holding the obligation, and that we oppose the retirement of the greenbacks. All those points were loudly cheered. He closed by advising them to be temperate and conservative, but manly and brave. Do not, he said, fall to gather the fruits of the splendid victory you have already gained, and let every man, whether he desired a single standard or a double standard, say above all things, "I am a Democrat." As Senator Blackburn sat down more cries were raised for Hill, without re-

A motion to adjourn for half an hour was voted down and the band was started up to drown the confusion which prevailed

ALTGELD TALKS.

After further calls for Byran and Hill reither of whom were in the hall. Governor Altgeld was called in requisition as a stop gap. His swarthy visage, as it appeared along side the chairman. was greeted with cheers, to which he responded by saving he did not come here to make a speech, but to assist in nominating a president and preparing a platform which should bring hope to people. He was listened to with attention as he proceeded to discuss the cause of the exciting conditions of distress which he summarized as the com bined action of the monied intersts of property and labor cheap. Shall we go on, he asked, paving interest in two hundred cent dollars or go back and pay in one hundred cent dollars? That was the great question before the convention and the response was a vigor-ous "No." Another point loudly cheered was when he declared: "We will have no straddling on platform and no strad-dling on candidates."

Mr. George F. Williams, of Massachusetts, was next called upon and was greeted with a cry of "Three cheers for George Fred Williams!" He combated the assertion that the seat of empire had been transferred from the Atlantic coast to the Mississippi valley.

VICTORY FOR BRYAN.

At this point the chair announced a partial report of the committee on credentials, recommending that each of the territories and the District of Columbia be granted six votes. Second, after careful comparison of the credentials, returned by the national committee, they found all of them correct, except those from the states of Nebraska and Michigan. In regard to Nebraska they were pleased to report that the delegates headed by Hon. W. J. Bryan should be admitted to seats. In regard to Michigan they asked further time. Mr. Mahoney, of Nebraska, rose in the body of the hall and gracefully of-

by the sitting members for the benefit of their successful contestants. At 1.10 the gold delegation from Nebraska retired to a march tune by the band and their silver successors took

Governor Altgeld then moved that the convention take a recess until five o'clock, here were loud shouts of disapproval but the question was put and leclared carried. Recess till 5 o'clock. The convention reassembled at 5.15 p. m. with a full attendance of delegates and with crowded galleries. Senator Daniel, of Virginia, was in the chair as temporary chairman. Senator Hill, ex-Governor Flower and Mr. Whitney were conspicuously absent, Mr. Perry Belmont hovered, around, as if he had no particular liking for his sur-roundings. There appeared to be no business ready for presentation and the hand had to fill up the time, which it did to general enjoyment and satis-

Senators Harris, of Tennessee, Cockrell, of Missouri; Jones, of Arkansas, and Tuillman, of South Carolina, with ex-Senator Regan, of Texas, moved around uneasily, from section to sec-

SENATOR HILL APPEARS.

At 5.40 Senator Hill, followed by many members of the New York delegation, came into the hall, and was immediately recognized and greeted with cheers, and shouts of 'Hill," "Hill." At 5.50 p. m. the committee on cre-lentials presented its completed report, admitting to seats the contesting dele gates from the fourth congressional district of Michigan, Messrs. Chamberlain and Hart, also admitting the contesting delegates from the ninth con-gressional district of Michigan, Messrs. Hoyt and White, and recognizing the right to their seats of all the other dele-gates from Michigan.

Mr. Crosby, of Massachusetts, said the minority felt it should be known that in their opinion the report was a great injustice. He closed by offering an amendment to retain the four unseated members in their seats.

Mr. Brennan, of Wisconsin, advocated the adoption of the minority report and said they feared the effect of the adoption of the majority report upon the country.
Mr. Stevenson, a member of the National committee, from the state of Michigan, opposed the majority report. "The convention," he said, "has no right to sit on credentials at a state convenion." The only safe Democrat doctrine is to stand by precedents and to seat the delegates who hold the only edentials that have been issued from those districts.

Ex-Lieutenant Governor Sheehan, a nember of the national committee dislosed the secrets of the committee room by saying that at first the majority of the committee favored unseating all our of the delegates at large. But wiser counsels prevailed, and the delegates at arge were retained. But the district delegates had ben unseated and what was the purpose. To make the delegaion 15 silver to 13 gold and thus open the way to the overthrow of time honered doctrine of the two-thirds rule.

STEVENSON EXCITED

Mr. McKnight, of Michigan, also a nember of the committee on credentials asserted that the state of Michigan elected a majority of 200 to their convention if for silver, and when the adminstration in Washington found this out Mr. Stevenson was sent to Washington to upset the will of the people.

"There is not one word of truth in all that" said Mr. Stevenson from his seat, as Mr. Blake proceeded further with his statement of alleged facts, Mr. Wealock, me ofthe delegates at large seated in the front row immediately facing the speaker, said in an audible voice:

No notice was taken of this interrup-

Mr. Blake closed by saving that if the majority report was adopted the Democrts would carry Michigan by at least 25,000 majority. Mr. Brucker, of Michigan, declared that he had always been a free silver man, and there were enough silver delegates in the convention to nominate a out the necessity of committing highway robber. (Applause and laughter.) Mr. C. S. Thomas, of Colorado, a member of the national committee, warned them that they could not af-ford to strike down the state of Michigan simply for the purpose of obtaining two-third majority. Mr. Powers, of Utah, a member of the committee on credentials, argued in support of the majority report of that committee on the ground that the title of sitting delegates from the Fourth and Ninth district of Michigan was tainted with fraud. The discussion was closed by two more speeches-one by Mr. Wedlock, of Michigan, and the other by Mr. O'Donnell, of Colorado. Little or no attention however, was paid to these speeches, as the crowd in the galleries was quife turbulent and could not be kept in order. The convention itself as well as the spectators in the galleries were in a hurry to come to a vote, and Mr. O'Donnell assisted that view by moving the previous question on the report.

The previous question was seconded. CHEERS FOR NEW YORK.

When New York's 72 votes were announced aye in favor of the minority report, a tumultuous wave of cheering broke over the assembly. The first efforts of the chairman to repress the manifestation by the use of his gavel were met by a counter demonstration on the part of the gold delegates, who rising and turning their backs to the chairman and their faces to the immense crowds in the galleries, waved hats and handkerchiefs and stood on their chairs and gesticulated. The galleries evidently strongly anti-silver in sentiment, were not slow to respond and unearthly sounds from fifty thousand throats filled the vast space of the great hall. The Tammany yell was plainly heard in every temporary luli. The band tried in vain to compete with the babble of noise. Every rap of the chairman's gavel only seemed to start it again as it began to quiet down. Shouts for Hill, yodel calls and shrill whistles added to the confusion. Then the silver men began to hiss and stamp their feet and this made matters infinitely worse. Senator Daniel's powerful voice, much worn with its service yesterday called the next state "North Carolina."

"North Carolina declines to vote till she can be heard" replied the chairman of the delegation. State Chairman Hinckley, ex-Mayor Hugh Grant, and other prominent New Yorkers vainly tried to stop the demonstration. It went on uninterrupted for fifteen minutes and was barely silenced when the roll call was resumed.

PENNSYLVANIA "AYE."

When Pennsylvania was reached and Chairman Harrity, mounting a chair, said: "Pennsylvania casts her 64 votes aye." an attempt was made to renew the demonstration, but it died away in a few seconds, spectators and delegates being almost tired out. The vote was taken on the minority amendment, which retains the sitting members from fered to vacate the seats now occupied the ourth and Ninth districts of Michigan in their seats.

The vote resulted in the rejection of the minority report, yeas 368, nays 558, absent 4. "The noes have it," said the chairman, "and the amendment is lost." It was now the silver men's turn and they yelled and waved hats and handkerchiefs and displayed Bland pictures and made the night hideous for nearly as long as the gold men, the galleries impartially assisting. During the jubilation by the silver men, two stout Kentucky delegates danced a breakdown in the aisle at the rear of the delegates seats, others patting time, as the southern phrase is, amid the wildest laughter.

MONTANA'S SILVER GAVEL. Mr. Clark, Montana, rising in the oody of the hall, produced a silver gavel from the mines of Montana, which he tendered to the presiding officer in the name of the delegation from that state. The chairman remarked that the absence of objection he would feel com-pelled to accept this handsome token from the Montana delegation. No obection being heard the silver gavel was passed up to the chairman. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, chairman of the committee on resolutions, announced that the committee on platform and resolutions would meet tomorrow morning at 9.30 o'clock. This was taken by the heated and excited audience as an indication of an immediate adjournment and for the second time in the course of the day an incipient panic was partly developed. People in the galleries began to move out with a rush and a corresponding movement was started on the floor. The means of exit from the building are so utterly insuflicient that trouble might have followed but for the sergeant-at-arms, realizing his big voice, commanded his deputies to "stop those men." When some degree of order had thus been restored, a motion to adjourn till 10 o'clock tomorrow morning was put at 9.38 p. m. and was declared carried and the second days' convention ended.

SLAIN IN A MEADOW.

Tragic Mystery at Bell evue---Belle of an lowa Town Murdered in a Barbarous Manner.

Dubuque, Iowa, July 8.—Bellevue, 32 miles below Dubuque, has a murder mystery. The victim is Minnie Keil, 18 years old, the beautiful daughter of a widow living on a farm four miles below town. She left home alone Saturday afternoon to go to Joseph Ginter's farm, two miles away, and thence with the younger members of the Ginter family to a dancing party at Peter Huff's house, two miles beyond. She did not appear at Ginter's, nor at the party, and dld not return home that night, which led her mother to suppose she was staying with the neighbors, until Minnie's older brother and sister, who keep house themselves, appeared at her mother's Sunday morning and reported that they had not seen her at the dance. Then a search was instituted. Her way to Ginter's led through Kilburg's meadow, a mile and a quarter from home, and to avoid soiling her ballroom gown in the high grass she carried it in a market basket with the intention of donning it on reaching Ginter's.

The searchers, about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, found her body lying in this meadow, with the market basket and its contents undisturbed, resting five feet away. Her face was badly mutilated, and a report that she had been gored by a bull reached town, but it soon transpired that this was impossible, as the meadow contained only yearlings and no footprints of cattle appeared near-by. On the contrary, there was present the evidence that the girl had a terrible struggle with a murderer. The grass for ten feet in one direction was beaten down. Her skull was fractured in several places, and the edges of a bloody stone, found by her side, fitted into the wounds on her forehead and scalp. Lying by also were the broken pieces of a limb of a tree which had been used as a weapor These pieces bore blood and the hairs of a man and woman, leading the coroner's jury to the theory that Minnie, a powerful girl, had struck the murderer on the head with this weapon, and that he had snatched it from her and broken it over her head.

She was found lying sideways on her crossed arms. Her hair had fallen over her face, and when this was lifted it was seen that she had been choked and pounded in the face. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of murder by some person unknown. She was the belle of the neighborhood, and the authorities are working on the theory that her preference for Joseph Ginter's son excited the jealousy of other young men who had sought to pay her attention. Two of these young men, neighbors sons, are under survelliance. The authorities have asked Pinkerton to undertake an investigation.

FATAL QUARREL AT CROQUET.

Mallet Is Used with Deadly Effect by

Anderson, Ind., July 8.-John Lock, aged 18 years, and his boon companion, Frank Ross, were today engaged in playing croquet, when a quarrel arose and Lock struck Ross with his mallet. Ross turned and dealt his companion a fearful blow on the side of the head with his mallet. Lock fell, went into convulsions and soon died. Both young men are of good families.
