Little Lots at Little Prices, Bigger Lots at Less Than Cost

Today we speak of wash goods, particularly, but it might as well be about any other department where summer goods still linger...

It's Clearance We're After

and as you know, we usually manage to make a clean sweep as each succeeding season closes.

Today We Single Out Wash Goods

Tomorrow it may be something else, but anyway, you can take your price cue on anything summerish from what follows.

Swivel Silks

In a pattern range almost as complete as when first opened for the season. In quality they are the highest grade produced...

BANK PRESIDENTS BOLT THE TICKET

Democratic Gold Standard Leaders Have Not Fixed Upon Date of Conference.

HILL AND WHITNEY OPPOSE BOLT They Desire to Ignore the Presidential Ticket and Elect Gold Standard Congressmen--New Jersey Democrats of Prominence Oppose the Silver-Plated Chicago Ticket.

New York, July 12.—The Democratic gold standard leaders have not yet decided on the date and place of the conference at which, it is expected, a manifesto will be issued defining their attitude towards the national ticket nominated at Chicago.

One of the Tammany leaders said today that the conference would probably be held at Long Branch on Wednesday, and that it would be attended by Democratic leaders from New York and several other states. From the talk of the Tammany leaders and the followers of Hill up the state, it appeared today that the organization Democrats are generally opposed to the nomination of a third ticket. Hill and Whitney are believed to be opposed to a bolt, and the machine men in their talk appear to be reflecting the sentiments of these leaders.

According to a statement made this morning by a friend of Mr. Whitney, the conference of New York leaders is likely to result in a decision to ignore the national ticket as far as possible, and call on sound money Democrats to help to elect congressmen opposed to Free silver coinage and to join in an effort to carry New York for the Democratic state ticket. By refusing to bolt, it is said that the organization can maintain its "regularity" and at the same time work effectively against Bryan and Sewall. The organization men seem to fear that a bolt would result in the establishment of another state organization which would be recognized as "regular" by the Democratic National committee, and to make a great deal of trouble for the present state leaders. Senator A. P. Gorman, of Maryland, arrived at the Fifth avenue hotel today. He said he would be in the city a few days, but he would not give any information about the conference of the gold standard men or say anything about the Democratic National ticket. Mr. Gorman had a talk with Senator Murphy at Long Branch yesterday.

BRICE ON THE FENCE. Calvin S. Brice, senator of the state of Ohio, was seen in this city today, and asked whether he would repudiate the Chicago ticket and platform. In reply Mr. Brice said: "I am not ready to be quoted on that subject, and shall not be until I have had my own convention, that is, until I have heard from my friends in Ohio and learn what they are going to do or recommend."

All the leading Democratic bank presidents in this city repudiate the Democratic platform and ticket. E. D. Randolph, president of the Continental bank, and a life-long Democrat, said: "I repudiate both the platform and the nominations and so far as I can judge from the present circumstances shall vote for McKinley, bitter though it would be to do so."

J. T. Woodward, president of the Hanover National bank, repudiates both the ticket and the platform, but whether he will vote for McKinley is not known.

J. Edward Simmons, president of the Fourth National bank, was one of the first to repudiate the Democratic ticket and platform, and announced his intention to vote for McKinley.

Ex-Congressman Joseph C. Hendrix, president of the National Union bank of this city, repudiates both platform and ticket.

NEW JERSEY KICKERS. The most prominent Democrats of New Jersey openly repudiate the Chicago ticket and platform. Among those who may be mentioned are Secretary of State Henry C. Kelsey, G. D. W. Vroom, R. M. Anderson, ex-Senator J. H. Blackwell, ex-Comptroller W. P. Heipenheimer, Samuel Walker, Jr., who resigned as a member of the Democratic state committee on Saturday, ex-Senator George W. Paterson, and a long list of others all over the state. Just how many silver Democrats there will be in New Jersey cannot be stated.

Sussex reports a good many of them, including a former congressman and an ex-judge, Samuel F. Bigelow, and William P. Daly are among the prominent Democrats to pin on the Bryan badge in the eastern part of the state.

GOLD DEMOCRATS ACT.

Illinois Sound Money Men Call for Another Convention. Chicago, July 12.—The honest money Democracy of Illinois through its executive committee, issued an address tonight to the Democrats of other states calling upon them to nominate another national ticket and adopt a platform of "sound money" principles upon which the nominees can appeal to the people of that opinion. This address was authorized at a meeting of the executive committee Saturday night and a committee of three was appointed to write and issue it. This committee met today in the law office of Henry J. Robbins, president of the Illinois Democratic Sound Money League and agreed upon the address, which is as follows:

To Our Fellow Democrats of Other States: A national convention, convened under the constituted authority of our party, has just closed its session in the city of Chicago. It entered upon its work by electing to the Democratic of other states a distinguished Democrat as its temporary presiding officer. It deprived a sovereign state of a voice in its deliberations by unconstitutionally and without cause or legal justification, delegates elected with all the regularity known to party organization. It refused to adhere to the honesty and fidelity of the present national Democracy. It adopted a platform which favors the free and unlimited coinage of silver by this country, alone, at a ratio of 16 to 1, and thereby repudiated a time honored Democratic principle which demands the strict maintenance of a sound and stable national currency. Finally, to make still plainer than, although in name, it was not in fact a Democratic convention, nominated for president one who is not in his political convictions, and has not al-

HANNA NAMES HIS COMMITTEES

Names of His Co-Laborers in the McKinley Campaign Announced.

SENATOR QUAY HEADS THE LIST William Osborn Is Made Secretary of the Committee--Mr. Quay Resigns the Pennsylvania Chairmanship--General John P. Elkin Successor.

Cleveland, July 12.—After nearly a month of careful consideration, Chairman M. A. Hanna, of the Republican National committee, has named the executive committee which will be his co-laborers and advisers in McKinley's campaign. The list was furnished to the press today. It contains the names of M. A. Hanna, of Ohio, chairman; M. S. Quay, of Pennsylvania; Joseph H. Stanley, of Maine; H. C. Payne, of Wisconsin; Cyrus Lehigh, of Kansas; Powell Clayton, of Arkansas; C. G. Dawes, of Illinois; W. T. Durbin, of Indiana, and N. B. Scott, of West Virginia. William M. Osborn is made secretary of the committee and J. A. Dix, of this city, is named as its treasurer. The committee will meet in this city Wednesday of this week. "I am now preparing for the fight," Mr. Hanna said today with an air of a man who is confident of winning a prospective battle. "For there is going to be a fight, and I have no doubt that we will win it. We think that the western and southern states are debatable ground, and we shall go into the contest with that idea. The Dakotas should go Republican, Nebraska should be Republican and the same is true of Alabama and Louisiana."

"I have not fully made up my mind as to the conditions political, of the people of the border states, but think we have a fighting chance there. In the campaign there are more issues than the tariff and the money questions, which are of fully as much moment to the other two and which, if anything concern the maintenance of our government more than the two issues which now hold the public mind. I am particularly of the stability of the gold standard system, which is threatened by the Democratic party. In their hands is a plank, which contends for the preservation of the gold standard, the Supreme court is swayed by anything which the Democratic party would do to the greatest protection in order to keep it pure and untainted and the selection of judges should not be settled by a sudden wave, a sudden excitement of the people, hysteria of the masses—that is a good expression. Frequently the people are swayed by sentiments of momentary duration. They are wrought up to a high pitch and without giving the matter sober second thought, and on the morrow they are sorry for their course of action, but then it is too late. The supreme court must be guarded as to its stability despite the soundness of our government."

SENATOR QUAY RESIGNS. Philadelphia, July 12.—United States Senator Quay has resigned the state chairmanship of the McKinley campaign, and has been succeeded by General John P. Elkin who will be elected at once by Auditor General Mylin, permanent chairman of the last Republican state convention, and Judge Davenport, of Erie, and Representative Galusha A. Grow, the candidate for congressman at large, to be elected by General John P. Elkin will be elected Mr. Quay's successor. He is a staunch follower of the senator. Mr. Quay's resignation of the state chairmanship is taken to indicate that as a member of the executive committee of the Republican National Endowment society, he will take an active part in the presidential campaign.

NO CHANGE OF SYSTEM. The Efforts to Secure a Representative Form of Government for Christian Endeavor Societies Fail. Washington, July 12.—The board of trustees of the United Societies (Christian Endeavor) met today in the Elbert Hotel and formally wound up the business of this convention. The trustees were gratified during the meeting by the reception of a signed statement bearing the names of nearly every state in the Union, approving the administration of the affairs of the society and endorsing their system of government.

This statement was called forth by an agitation started in some parts of the west and continued for several years, seeking to effect a change in the management of the societies. No criticisms have been directed against officers or trustees by the agitators. The aim was to secure a representative form of government in the society. At present all power over the affairs of the society is vested in the board of trustees and their officers and the board is self-perpetuating. Some of the western endeavorers want to change this system so that vacancies in the board should be filled by electing either in the conventions or by the local unions. Opposition to this proposed change found expression today in this formal statement which bears the signatures of twenty-eight state union presidents and the expression so emphatic that the agitation for a change of system is not likely to be heard from again for some time. The statement further says that the Christian Endeavor is not an institution, but a movement. The vast simplicity of its organization, its freedom from machinery, combined with high character, sober judgment and willingness to gain light from every rightful source on the part of the officers and trustees, have done much to lift it to its present high position of influence.

It endorses the recent council of the trustees of the united society and presidents of state and provincial unions, as a wise step in the progress of the movement, recommends that such a council be made a permanent feature in connection with succeeding international conventions.

The statement bears the signatures of the following state presidents: C. A. Barbour, New York; J. T. McCreery, Pennsylvania; C. N. Hunt, Minnesota; W. H. Strong, Michigan; W. P. Taylor, BOY ORATOR SHAKES.

Mr. Bryan Makes a Good Record as a Handshaker--The First Campaign Speech of Season.

Campaign, Ill., July 13.—William J. Bryan arrived here on the Illinois Central road at 5:05 this evening, after a pleasant ride of three hours and a half from Chicago. At several places along the route Mr. Bryan was given hearty receptions. His first experience was at Kankakee, where about a thousand men, women and children were gathered and a cheer went up from the crowd as Mr. Bryan appeared on the platform of the Pullman sleeper, and he was obliged to get down into the crowd and grasp the many hands extended. Kankakee was reached at 4:02 and although the train remained there for 3 minutes only Mr. Bryan made a good record as a handshaker. At Kankakee Mr. Bryan was handed this telegram:

"Franklin, Pa.—Accept congratulations. Your spurs were won on the field. Signed, S. S. Sibbey." At Gilman a stop was made to enable the hundred or more farmers gathered at that station to give a cheer for the candidate and shake his hand. The crowd was very good natured and indulged in some joking remarks which Mr. Bryan seemed to appreciate. The train on which Mr. Bryan made the journey to Odin, the nearest point on the Illinois Central to Salem, is the regular train which left Chicago at 2:30. Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and a party of newspaper men occupied the attached Pullman sleeper. Scott Jackson and wife, of Salem, old friends of the Bryans, were also in the car and the only occupant was F. U. Adams, of Chicago, who will be secretary of the Democratic literary bureau.

MAN WITH A WHITE HAT. "There he is, the man with the white hat," was the cry at Paxton, a small station which was reached at 5:15 and a stop of a minute made. Mr. Bryan's white hat is likely to be a conspicuous object in the campaign. It is one of those soft felt affairs, creamy in color, adorned by a band of lighter hue than its texture. It could be readily seen by the two hundred people gathered on the Paxton station platform. They made a rush toward it as Mr. Bryan stepped from the train. A hearty shout went up and then the crowd laughed uproariously as Mr. Bryan's remark that "if your vote as well as your shout will be all right."

Intantou, another small station, turned out a hundred or more people and a big flag and they too had the opportunity of congratulating Mr. Bryan. Mr. Bryan made his first campaign speech at Champlain, where he had stopped twenty minutes. A flat car had been improvised into a speaker's stand, from this Mr. Bryan addressed his audience, consisting of 1,500 people. Mr. Bryan spoke as follows:

I have not been in your city since 1879. In that year I was a student at the Illinois State Normal school at this place. I do not remember a political speech this evening. Here a small boy yelled "Bryan!" and the crowd broke into a cheer. I have just been talking some in Chicago and an hour of between speeches. This is the first time that I have been in your city and I am glad to see you. I have just been talking some in Chicago and an hour of between speeches. This is the first time that I have been in your city and I am glad to see you. I have just been talking some in Chicago and an hour of between speeches. This is the first time that I have been in your city and I am glad to see you.

COW WRECKS A PASSENGER TRAIN

Serious Accident on the Lehigh Valley Railroad Near Hazleton.

ENGINEER WILLIAM DOWD KILLED The Bovine on the Track Became Entangled in the Machinery of the Locomotive and Caused it to Leap Down an Embankment--Many Passengers Injured.

Wilkes-Barre, July 13.—A serious wreck occurred on the Hazleton branch of the Lehigh Valley railroad between White Haven and Freeland this afternoon by which one man, the engineer, was killed and quite a number were more or less seriously injured. It was the most serious passenger wreck since the memorable Mud Run disaster.

The train consisting of an engine and three passenger coaches left Hazleton at 1:45 p. m. for White Haven. It was in charge of Engineer William Dowd, Conductor Joseph Hoher and Fireman B. Mooney, all of Hazleton. When the train reached a point about 200 yards from Pond Creek Junction, where the Highland branch of the Lehigh Valley and the Upper Lehigh Branch of the Central railroad come together, it rounded a sharp curve at a good rate of speed, probably 30 miles an hour. Just as the train was shooting along the curve the engine struck a cow and the animal became entangled in the machinery of the engine. The big machine ran along the ties for a distance of over 200 yards and then broke loose from the tender and rolled down an embankment nearly fifty feet. The engine ploughed through the ground, steamed and puffed, then turned over and over, and in a moment was at the foot of the embankment. The fireman, Mr. Mooney, jumped out of the cab window and followed the engine down the bank, rescuing several passengers, while Engineer Dowd was pinned under the engine when found. He was so terribly injured and scalded that he died soon after being taken out from under the wreck.

When the engine broke loose from the coaches the latter bumped over the ties for a distance of over 200 yards and then ran into an embankment and all three of the coaches turned over on their sides. The passengers were thrown over the seats in all directions. The following were injured:

THE INJURED. F. McCloskey, of Philadelphia, arm broken. Henry Brochun, of Wilkes-Barre, arm broken and back injured. Mrs. H. Brochun, Wilkes-Barre, seriously injured about the back and chest. Mary S. Bauer, Towanda, cut on head and face. Miss Rose Ann Clark, Ashland, arm, back and hip injured. Daniel Gionasca, Philadelphia, bruised about body. James McDonald, Freeland, three ribs broken. R. L. Clark, Ashley, injured upon head and his daughter slightly bruised. Mrs. Lorenz, Ashley, cut on head, and her daughter slightly hurt. Frank Lorenz, Ashley, cut on head and shoulder. Dixon Green, Philadelphia, cut on head. Charles Galer, Baltimore, scalp wound. A. D. Humphrey, Towanda, hip bruised. E. E. Richards, Boston, bruised on limbs. James W. Hoyt, Binghamton, leg and arm bruised. Nathaniel Gale, New York, leg bruised and right hand injured. Attorney Bernard Mooney, Wilkes-Barre, knee cap injured. James McDonald, three ribs broken. Among those badly shaken up were Ida O'Donnell, of Ashley; Bessie Eagan, of Darkwater; Mrs. H. D. Jones and son, Scranton; Jennie Lowry, Scranton; Max Schmidt, and four children, of Shandohach. None of these were seriously hurt.
