MARKETS AND STOCKS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, July 13.—Not a little disappointment was felt in stock circles today because of the failure of London to respond to the rise in this market on Saturday. The market was quiet and uneventful at the opening and subsequently when it became known that the posted rates of sterling exchange had been advanced half a cent to 48 for long and 48 for demand, and that large quantities of gold from the sub-treasury were talked of, the pressure to sell increased. It subsequently transpired that the amount of withdrawal from the treasury had been exaggerated for speculative effect, but owing to the bearish temper of the trading element in the market this did not prevent the market falling back up to the close. Gold, however, held firm and the yellow metal from the sub-treasury, this certainly does not look much like hoarding gold, although the bears laid particular stress upon the strength of exchange. According to those usually well informed in the market, the market is not particularly strong, but the leaders apparently being disposed to await further developments concerning the political situation. The market is on narrow that no particular stress is laid upon current speculative movements, especially as the short interest is so large that any considerable movement to cover might lead to a sharp rally any day. Speculation closed weak. Net changes show losses of 1/2% in all. Sugar leading. In the inactive list Omaha preferred gained 1/2, while Brooklyn Union Gas lost 1/2. Total sales were 102,550 shares.
