VETERANS VISIT MAJOR M'KINLEY

Cuyahoga County Soldiers and Sailors in Large Numbers Visit Canton.

M'KINLEY'S SPEECH OF WELCOME An Eloquent Tribute to the Heroes of the War of the Rebellion--More Work for the Soldiers Who Fought in 1862.

Canton, O., July 16.--With colors flying and band playing, the Cuyahoga county soldiers and sailors' union marched from their special train to Major McKinley's house late this afternoon. This organization is composed of veterans of the war of the rebellion, and is non-partisan. A number of short speeches were made. The speakers were Hugh Berkeley, Hon. W. T. Clark, Chaplain George W. Pepper, ex-consul at Milan, E. L. Patterson, E. H. Bohn, W. J. Gleason and C. C. Deoste. One of the speakers stirred the audience, which numbered a thousand or more, to tumultuous applause when he said: "We represent, Comrade McKinley, the hearts and voices of half a million veteran soldiers and sailors when we congratulate you upon your nomination to the office so nobly filled by Lincoln and Grant and Garfield."

When Major McKinley arose to speak he was greeted with prolonged cheers. He said: "My comrades and fellow citizens: I respond to your call with special gratification. Nothing gives me greater pleasure than to meet at my home my comrades in the civil war. The ties of fraternity and friendship grow stronger and dearer as the years recede and the old guard one by one is called home. Your presence revives many patriotic memories, it recalls stirring and glorious events. How vividly they rise before us and what an inspiration for the right they always are. To have been a faithful soldier of the union is no less a source of joy in your advancing years and infirmities than a legacy for family and friends. It blesses him who gives and enriches him who receives. It is a record of patriotism and service in the severest trials of our history. (Applause.) We all know something of what that war meant and what it cost; what sacrifice it exacted, and for what a holy cause the sacrifice was freely given. Treasures inimitable, suffering indescribable and death beyond previous record or comparison. By far the larger number of our old comrades of the Grand Army are sleeping in their splendid tents beyond the river; but though death has decimated our ranks, it is a consolation that more than a million of our comrades still survive. It is a gratifying thought that those who served their country best in war have always been among our best and truest citizens in peace. It is in the living presence, however, of our veterans and responsibilities that every soldier is now, as always, most deeply interested. (Applause.)

THE NEW ENEMY. "We have reached a point in our history when all men who love their country must unite to defeat by their united forces which now assault the common honor. The war has been over thirty-two years, and as a result we have a reunited country, a union stronger and freer, a civilization higher and nobler, a freedom brighter and more enduring, and a flag dearer and more sacred than ever before and all that is due to any enemy, because the men who a third of a century ago fought in deadly conflict, united in their masterful might to oppose any enemy who would assail either freedom or union or flag. (Cheers.) The struggle which is upon us is not a sectional or a party matter, it is a national matter of good faith and honor will enlist their united and earnest services until those who are arraigned against the public faith shall be routed and dispersed. "The bitterness of the war belongs to the past. Its glories are the common heritage of us all. What was won in that great conflict belongs justly and sacredly to those who lost as those who triumphed. You meet today not as soldiers, but as citizens, interested now in maintaining the credit and honor of the country you served so well and in restoring prosperity and better times to our country's heritage. The future is the sacred trust of us all, south as well as north. Honesty like patriotism can neither be bounded by state nor sectional lines. (Great applause.) Financial dishonesty is the threatened danger now, and many men will obliterate old lines of party in a united effort to uphold American honor. This you have always done and you must strive to keep the union worthy of the brave men who sacrificed and died for it. I will be glad, my comrades, to meet you all personally." (Loud cheering and applause.)

COMMITTEEMEN CALL. Members of the National Organization Visit Major McKinley--Plans for Campaign Work.

Canton, O., July 16.--Messrs. J. H. Manley, N. P. Scott, Powell Clayton, Cyrus Land, C. F. Dawes and Henry C. Payne, of the Republican national executive committee, and General Osborne, the secretary of the committee, came to Canton this evening to call on Major McKinley. Mr. Hanna did not come owing to the sudden death of his brother-in-law. The members of the committee who are here to visit Major McKinley, discussed with him the plank adopted by the committee in executive session at Cleveland. The deliberations at Cleveland were largely devoted to in consideration of projects for immediate work. There will be frequent meetings of the committee during the campaign. The headquarters in this city will be occupied a good deal of the time by Mr. Hobart, Mr. Manley and Mr. Quay. It is understood that Mr. Quay will devote a great deal of time in the south, a section of the country with which he is exceedingly familiar. Messrs. Hayle, Leland, Dawes and Clayton will be much in evidence at the Chicago headquarters and will have charge of very important work. It is proposed to have a lively speaking campaign but the date for the formal opening has not been decided upon nor has the place been chosen. The selection of the time and place for the first campaign will be determined somewhat by the developments of the next three or four weeks. The work of preparing and publishing the documents and most of the printed matter intended for distribution will be entrusted to the congressional committee in Washington. A great deal of this work is already under way and the committee evidently means to act with uncommon vigor in pushing its campaign of education. Headquarters both in New York and Chicago will be opened within two weeks and the campaign will be fairly under way by the first of August unless some unforeseen obstruction occasions delay.

Messrs. Payne, Clayton and Leland left Canton this evening. Chairman Babcock of the congressional committee left for Washington this afternoon. He said in discussing the outlook that he had been mingling with the farmers in Wisconsin and that while the sentiment was strong in certain communities it could be checked and eradicated by means of good speeches and sound literature. Among the callers at Major McKinley's home today were: A. H. Richmond, a manufacturer of Providence, R. I.; Dr. W. Springsteen, of Cleveland; Henry C. Hedges, of Mansfield; L. J. Grain and Henry Niels, of Boston, who are just completing a tour around the world.

R. P. Skinner, of Massillon, entertained a number of newspaper men and visitors of prominence today at dinner.

CAMPAIGN MANAGERS. Executive Branch of National Republican Committee Arranging the Campaign Unpleasantness.

Cleveland, Ohio, July 16.--The executive committee of the Republican National committee reassembled this morning.

Chairman Babcock, of the Republican congressional campaign committee and Mr. Thomas H. McKee, journal clerk of the House of Representatives, met with them. The former left at 11 o'clock for Washington, going by way of Canton to call on Major McKinley. After Mr. McKee had retired, P. S. Heath, who had charge of the McKinley literary bureau at St. Louis, was called in and spent nearly an hour with the committee. He announced that the committee had determined to consolidate the literary and printing bureaus and that he had accepted the position of chief of the new bureau. His work will be done in Chicago for both the eastern and western headquarters and a large force of assistants will be employed. Messrs. Hanna, Payne, Dawes, Durbin and Heath will meet at the auditorium, Chicago, Monday next to map out the work and actively enter upon it. This would indicate that in some respects, at least, the Chicago headquarters will be more important and the work more expensive than that in New York. Mr. Hanna did not go to Canton with the members of the committee. Mr. Durbin also did not accompany them but went home on the Big Four afternoon train.

The advisory campaign committee, it is now said, will consist probably of fifteen members. The list of names so far selected is said to be: Senator Proctor, of Vermont; Mr. Plunkett, of Mass.; Cornelius N. Bliss, of New York; Thos. Dolan, of Philadelphia; M. Lang, of Florida; General Alger, of Michigan; Samuel T. Allerton, of Chicago; Gov. Merriam, of Minnesota; Senator Shoup, of Idaho, and H. Clay Evans, of Tennessee. A party of several hundred sailors and soldiers left Cleveland at noon today to call upon Major McKinley at Canton.

CAMP JOHN GIBBON. Four Thousand, Four Hundred and Seven Tents Already Up.

Lewistown, Pa., July 16.--Camp Gibbon is pitched and the snow-capped hills of the Division of the Pennsylvania National Guards, as it spreads out over the bend of the Juniata, is attracting hundreds of spectators to the river to view the rival city which has sprung up in a night opposite this picturesque town. The camp was pitched today by a detail from the first brigade and Major General Snowden was personally in charge of the camp, and tonight great flagstaff stands 96 feet high in front of the division headquarters.

For extent of territory and number of tents, this is the largest division camp ever held by the Pennsylvania guards. It is between two and three miles long and there are erected to-night 4,077 tents. Of this number 146 are hospital tents, 54 are wall tents, 180 conical tents and 82 stable tents.

BRUSHED FROM A WAGON. Members of Buffalo Bill's Troupe Are Seriously Injured.

Mastillon, Ohio, July 16.--The driver of Buffalo Bill's band wagon started eight horses upon a run under the overhead Fort Wayne bridge at Erie street this morning. All the occupants of the band wagon were scraped off in the presence of horror-stricken thousands. Whether the driver miscalculated the height of the bridge or whether the horses were beyond his control is not known. The injured are: David Keene, driver, leg broken; Philip Belchla, crushed and bruised; John Moris, back crushed; Alfred Vitell, collar bone broken, cut and bruised; Giuseppe Musuro, chest crushed, fatally; Florrie Domonica, crushed about heart, may die.

SENATOR QUAY RESIGNS. A Letter Relinquishing the State Chairmanship Is Received.

Harrisburg, July 16.--Auditor General Amos H. Mylin, who was permanent chairman of the late Republican State convention, today received Senator Quay's formal resignation as state chairman and reader. I hereby resign as chairman of the Republican state committee. M. S. Quay, yours, Mr. Mylin says that he and the two state candidates for congressmen-at-large will select Quay's successor.

GROVER CLEVELAND IS VINDICATED

Justice at the Hands of the Massachusetts Reform Club.

A CROWN OF LAURELS TENDERED The Club Decides by Resolution That It Has Always Sympathized with the President's Financial Policy. Will Support No Candidate on Platform That Repudiates It.

Boston, Mass., July 16.--Nearly one hundred members of the Massachusetts reform club met and dined at the Parker house this afternoon. The main object of the gathering was to consider the present political situation. Colonel P. E. Haskell, of the Boston Herald, presided. Colonel Haskell opened the speaking and struck the keynote of the gathering. He said: "This country has reached a crisis graver than any other it has known since 1861. (Loud applause.) Though not questioning the sincerity of anybody it seems fair to say that various causes have brought together, or are to bring into dangerous unliability about all the popular delusions, vagaries and quackeries which have so long threatened the stability of free institutions. The country is today seriously threatened with the debasement of the currency, which involves the impartial reputation of all private and public financial obligations. It is not only proposed to change the standard of value, but to adopt a standard liable to constant fluctuations. To adopt silver as the standard under existing conditions would be as absurd as to steer a ship by the light on a moving vessel. (Applause.)

"Some of us believe that one of the efficient causes of this state of things has been the policy of extreme protection which has prevailed in this country for over a generation (renewed applause). This policy has taught the country a mischievous lesson--that the power of government can be used to make and maintain an artificial standard of the products of the country. We can question the logic of the silver miners when they demand that the much wanted principle of protection should be extended to their product. If iron and copper, why not silver? It is a fact that protection has unnaturally stimulated manufacture at the expense of other great interests, notably the agricultural and shipping interests.

CAUSE OF DISCONTENT. "It is a condition and not a theory with which we now have to deal. The foundation of all the popular discontent now so menacingly arrayed against all the lessons of science and history, is the unhappy condition of the American farmer. They have seen the prices of their products--prices made abroad under sharp competition--go steadily downward while their mortgages remained undiminished. They blindly struggle for relief, unwilling to look beyond their own necessities. Their desperation finds expression in populist vagaries, promptly recommended by charlatans and demagogues, to which the false reasonings of the apostles of protection give no color, and finally one of the great plagues of the American people--the devil's dance of the Chicago convention (laughter and applause.)

I have a great deal of sympathy for the farmers, but the quick remedy they demand would leave them in a worse condition than they are in now. The farmer might get larger prices for his products, but the purchasing power of his money would be lessened. In only one way would he gain by the repudiation of his debts. All who work for wages, all who invest their savings, all who depend on their lives, the whole family of pensioners would suffer. Capital would be able to take care of itself. The severest pressure would come upon the workers for wages.

To prevent such a national disaster and disaster I am willing to set aside all the other questions in this campaign. (Applause.) As firmly as I believe in free trade, I am willing to hold this question in abeyance. A protective tariff only places an unnecessary burden on the back of labor. A debased currency causes the ill blood and dejects the spirits of the people. It was evident from the reception given Colonel Haskell's remarks that the members present were willing to throw political preference to the winds and unite upon any action which seemed best to compass the defeat of the Chicago platform.

Mr. Dana, elder, gave notice of an amendment to the constitution, that members who have betrayed their political beliefs may be expelled. BOUQUETS FOR GROVER. The following resolution was unanimously adopted with cheers: That the Massachusetts Reform club has always sympathized with the financial policy of the American people and will not support a candidate of a platform which repudiates it and him, but recommends all independent voters to take an active part in the national campaign against the free coinage of silver by supporting such candidates for president and national officers who are pledged to maintain the gold standard.

Edward Atkinson advocated the adoption of a union electoral ticket for which both Republicans and Democrats could vote without stultification. Appropriate resolutions on the death of ex-Governor Russell were unanimously adopted.

WINDISH FAILING. The Pittston Wife Murderer Will Take No Nourishment.

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., July 16.--George Windish, the Pittston wife murderer, is growing weaker as he lies in the county prison, and it is believed by all who attend him that he will have passed from earth before the date of his execution, September 1. He gradually becomes more and more emaciated, and today Warden Boland had him removed to the prison hospital. He refuses to take any nourishment and his death is looked for almost any day. He says that he is heart-broken. House Declared Guilty. Pittsburg, Pa., July 16.--The jury in the case of William H. Goetz, ex-convict city attorney, this afternoon rendered a verdict of guilty. Mr. House was charged with aiding and abetting in the embezzlement of city funds. Ex-City Attorney Moreland escaped a trial on the same charge by entering a plea of guilty when the case was called for trial last Monday.

TO WORK FULL TIME. Employees of Lehigh Valley Coal Company Agreeably Surprised.

Shenandoah, Pa., July 16.--The employees of the Lehigh Valley coal company's collieries here were agreeably surprised today when they were ordered to resume work on full time commencing Monday morning next. Instead of four three-quarter days a week as heretofore, this company has ten collieries in this vicinity and gives employment to 5,000 men and boys. A similar announcement is expected by the Philadelphia and Reading company officials this week.

TROOPS CALLED OUT. Strike Situation at the Brown Hoisting Works Assumes a Serious Aspect--Severe Fighting.

Cleveland, July 16.--The strike situation at the Brown Hoisting works assumed a dangerous phase this afternoon that three more companies of troops were hurried to the scene just before quitting time and are now encamped in the works. Early in the afternoon crowds began to assemble and stood sullenly about, defiant of police orders to move on. There was no evidence of a pre-arranged plan, every street leading to the works having its own division of the mob, that the authorities in hot haste sent for more troops. When the sixty-three men who had been at work were placed in vans to be driven home from the works, it was found necessary to charge the mob twice before a passage could be made for the wagons. The drivers had refused to leave the stables with the vehicles and policemen did the driving. During the melee, fists and threats were hurled at the "troops," police and militia and some stones were thrown. The severest fighting was on Hamilton street and in the charges about forty strikers were pricked by the bayonets. After a passage had been forced the mob had all it could do to keep the men from chasing the wagons. There is a sullen spirit abroad which is more dangerous than anything which the police have yet met. One man suffering from a bayonet wound was locked up by the police. The state board of arbitration began its work on the case today.

APPALLING DISASTER. Several Persons Drowned by the Capsizing of a Ferry Boat--Seven Bodies Recovered.

Cleveland, O., July 16.--The most appalling disaster which has occurred in Cleveland, except the vladuet horror last winter, when a loaded street car plunged 100 feet into the river, occurred tonight at 8 o'clock. While a flat bottomed ferry boat, loaded with between forty and fifty laborers, was crossing the old river channel, it was capsized and all the men thrown into the channel and between 15 and 20 drowned. Seven bodies have been taken from the water up to 10:30 p. m. The accident was due to a panic among the men aboard. The boat was so loaded that the gunwale was only three inches above the water, and a passing tug made waves which came into the boat. At once there was a rush to the other side, the boat went over and spilled the men. They were all members of a gang of ex-handlers and were coming to their homes.

STRECKEL'S SUICIDE. A McKeesport Business Man Found Dead.

McKeesport, Pa., July 16.--Frederick Streckel, a prominent business man and one of McKeesport's best known German residents, was found dead in his room this evening about six o'clock. A bullet hole in his head and a revolver at his side indicated that death had come by his own hand. The cause of his death is attributed to a charge of slander brought by J. K. Sicily, a large dry goods merchant, who claimed that Streckel had injured his credit. The case is still pending in court.

AN UNFAITHFUL WIFE. Rosa Remando Goes to Jail with Antonio Mariofelicetto.

Special to The Tribune. Montrose, July 16.--Jose Demore, a deserted husband, came to Montrose from New York city today and caused the arrest of his wife, Rosa Remando, and Antonio Mariofelicetto, charged with violation of the marriage contract. "Mrs. Demore seemed to prefer Felice to her husband and wanted her to return with him to New York and search for their four children. But she went to jail and both are held to await the action of the grand jury.

BRYAN AND BLAND ADMIRATION CLUB

The Two Champions of White Metal Exchange Compliments.

A LOVE FEAST AT JEFFERSON CITY

Farmer Bland and the Boy Orator Discover Each Other in Glowing Words of Praise--Entertainment for the Enthusiastic Sterling Silver Democrats of Missouri.

Jefferson City, Mo., July 16.--William J. Bryan arrived here at 12:40 p. m. just as the train was drawing out of the station at St. Louis the most interesting incident of the trip occurred. Richard P. Bland boarded the train in the Union station, but he kept himself in a forward car until the train had started. He entered the parlor car in which the Bryan party had seats and made his way to where Mr. Bryan was standing. Mr. Bland wore a long linen duster over a suit of black clothes. He stretched out his hand toward the president-elect candidate as he reached the latter and there was the warmest hand grasp between the victor and the defeated. "How are you, Mr. Bryan? I congratulate you," said Mr. Bland. "How are you, Mr. Bland? Thank you," cried Mr. Bryan, warmly. "Your nomination took me by load off my mind," said Mr. Bland warmly. Mrs. Bryan was presented to the veteran of free silver and after some general conversation the two men withdrew and talked earnestly together for some time. Within an hour later there were some additional exchanges of cordiality between Bland and Bryan. The train stopped at a little place called Washington where a knot of people had gathered to see the nominee. Standing on the platform of the parlor car with Mr. Bryan beside him, Mr. Bland said to the crowd: "I want to introduce to you the next president of the United States. I served four years with him in the house of representatives, and I know he was as true a friend of free silver as I am, and I want to say that if I had had the selection of a silver candidate for president of the United States, this gentleman would have been my choice." Mr. Bryan showed some feeling as he responded: "If this nomination had gone by me, it would have gone to the man who for twenty years in the face of great opposition, has kept alive the silver cause and in the hour of victory he will be more entitled to the credit than any other man in the nation."

ROUSING RECEPTION. A rousing reception was given Mr. Bryan here by a crowd of more than a thousand people who were assembled about the railroad station. Ex-Governor Stone and other prominent men met Mr. Bryan and Mr. Bland at the train where the crowd had gathered. Mr. Bryan was greeted with loud cheers. He was presented to the audience by Mr. Bland and Governor Stone as the next president of the United States and Mr. Bland again took occasion to express his satisfaction at the choice of the Chicago convention and predicted that Missouri would roll up for him a majority of 50,000 in November. After the band in attendance had finished playing Mr. Bryan made a neat little speech on the line of those previously made.

When Mr. Bryan concluded he was again cheered with vigor. Governor Stone presented Mrs. Bryan as the next president of the White House and the Bryan party then withdrew to the train which left Jefferson City at 1:15 p. m. In his speech Mr. Bryan said: "Ladies and gentlemen: I have just been thinking where I could find in all the country a combination of circumstances which would make a speech so pleasant as in a city named after the greatest Democrat that ever lived and in the congressional district of one of the greatest leaders of the Democratic party has ever known. Richard P. Bland (Cheers) and presided over by one of the greatest fighters, Governor Stone, and to leave nothing undone they have just elected as mayor of the town a man named Silver. (Laughter and cheers.) Thomas Jefferson, Dick Bland, Bill Stone and Mayor Silver, I'm at home here. Referring to Mr. Bland, Mr. Bryan said that the silver leader was needed in congress. If it will be his privilege to sign a bill giving silver a place with gold, said Mr. Bryan, "it may be his honor to introduce a bill which will place gold and silver on the same footing at the legal ratio of sixteen to one. If I can't say anything about the ticket nominated at Independence. He eulogized Mr. Sewall and said he was sorry he was not on the train.

MR. WHITNEY EXPLAINS. The New York Statesman Nails a Campaign Lie.

New York, July 16.--The following telegram which is self explanatory was received by the United Press this evening: To the United Press: Will you be kind enough to correct the statement that I desire to withdraw my name from the state organization of the Chicago ticket. There are no possible conditions or circumstances that would induce me to vote for it or assist it. W. C. Whitney.

"Objector Holman" Nominated. Columbus, Ind., July 16.--The Democrats of the Fourth Indiana congressional district met in convention at North Vernon this afternoon and nominated Hon. William S. Holman, "the watchdog of the treasury," as their candidate for congress. No opposition to the platform at Chicago was voiced.

Herald's Weather Forecast. New York, July 17.--In the middle states, today, clear weather and fresh northerly to westerly winds will prevail with low-ly followed by rising temperature. On Saturday, warmer weather will prevail with fresh and light variable winds, becoming southerly and southeasterly in the afternoon.
