WORK OF THE MORNING.

This morning opened with the sun in hiding and the air cool. It was indicated that the men would get a pleasant relief from the heat of the first two days. Certainly, the company commanders took advantage of it and hurried their commands out on the Best in Scranton parade ground where there was company and batallion drill for two hours. Intermissions for rest were brief and infrequent, as there is but one more day before the regiments will be inspected by Inspector General Orill. Today the First brigade is having the ordeal and omorrow the Second will undergo it.

Company C. dusty, weary and hungry and looking truly military returned from 24-hours provost duty in town just before 9 o'clock. The command was relieved from drill duty and will have the day for rest.

The first piece of gossip to circulate this morning concerned the arrest during the night of four men. There had been a great deal of noise about midght in one of the streets of the First battalion. Captain Corwin, officer of the day, insisted that all persons outside a tent or with a light should be arrested if they refused to obey a final request to comply with camp regulations. Lieutenant Jessup commander of the guard, proceeded to carry out the order. A poker party was broken up twice within ten minutes but on the third appearance of the guard the four acrests took place, the others eluding the squad. The prisoners were taken to

The blocks thereabouts are being rapidly built up with handsome residences and under existing conditions of affairs they are practically without protection The general health of the men continues against fire, for on account of the steep grades leading to that portion of the Major Fulton, the Thirteenth's surgeon, city it is almost an impossibility to get a fire apparatus up there in time to be of any service. Ghost of Dr. Westerfield Appears to

His Spiritualistic Friends. Anderson, Ind., July 20.-A decided sensation was occasioned at the Indiana spiritualist camp grounds today Dr. Westerfield, the founder of spiritualism in the west, and for years presi dent of the Indiana association, died within the past year, leaving the office vacant. The first conference was held today. A chair was placed on the stage where he usually sat, and the next instant the dozens of mediums started to their feet. In their mediumistic state they said they saw him sitting there as in life, though those not possessed of mediumistic powers could see nothing on the chair. The alleged apparition called E. W. Sprague, a Jamestown, N. Y., medium, to the chair, and addressed the assembly through him. He said he was happy to be present and that he was now at the head of a greater work of spiritualism than in life. He promised to be present throughout all of the sessions, and a vacant chair will al-ways be left for him. Spiritualists are ch enthused; nonbelievers ridicule much enthused; nonbelievers ridicule, but the mediums and believers are decidedly in earnest.

ACTION AGAINST THE POOR BOARD

That Electric Lighting Plant Leads to Litigation.

AN INJUNCTION IS ASKED FOR

William H. Taylor Objects to the Action of Board in Awarding the Contract to H. B. Coho & Co., cf New York--Joseph Hannick Sceks Redress in Equity Side of Court.

William H. Taylor, doing business under the name and style of the Scranton Supply and Machinery company, by his attorneys, Warren & Knapp and Watson & Diehl, commenced an action in equity yesterday in court against the Scranton Poor District and Directors W. S. Langstaffa Mrs. Francis B. Swan, F. L. Terppe, Thomas Shotten, Dr. W. A. Paine, Alderman Fred Fuller, and Patrick J. Merphy, praying for an in-junction to restrain the defendants from executing a contract with H. B. Coho & Co., of New York, for the erection of an electric light plant at the Hillside Home.

The plaintiff says he is a dealer in machinery and especially engaged in the construction and erection of electric light plants; that on May 25, 1896, the board, by Mrs. Swan, president of the home committee, advertised for sealed proposals for furnishing and putting in place an electric lighting plant, according to specifications, the board reserving the right to reject any or all bids. The bids were to be received by the home committee until Friday, July 10,

BASIS OF THE BIDS.

Subsequently to advertising for bids, specifications adopted by the board were presented to the plaintiff for examination and to form a basis upon which bids might be made. These specifications contained among other things that the "Ideal" engine or its equiva-lent, and the "Eddy" dynamo or its equivalent should be bid upon; but that contractors desiring to do so might bid upon any number of makes or kinds of machinery, but must submit distinct proposals for each make or kind.

The plaintiff says that pursuant to the advertisement for sealed proposals he made his bid and agreed to do the work for $5,814.20, enclosing a certified check. But before the bid was sent in notice was received from the president of the home committee as follows: "Owing to the proposed change of location of new electric light building at Hillside Home, the committee has decided to ask all bidders to omit wiring and piping from their proposals."

THE PLAINTIFF'S BID.

Notwithstanding said notice the plaintin agreed in the specifications accompanying his bid to furnish and put in place all necessary piping for con-necting engines with the boller and old and new boilers with each other, and using such other appurtenances as were necessary because he well knew that the plant could not and would not be complete for operation without so doing. The plaintiff's bid was to furnish one "Imperial" automatic engine, manufactured by the Weston Engine company, of Painted Post, N. Y., and s Standard Western dynamo.

On July 17, the poor board met and awarded the contract to H. B. Coho & company for $5,937.50, notwithstanding. as alleged by the plaintiff, that he agreed that caused a fatality. Nine new cases to do the work for $5.814.20 and put in a better dynamo and better engine. Judge Edwards granted a rule to show cause why an injunction should not is sue as prayed for, and made it return able at chambers court Friday morning July 24, 1896, at 10 o'clock.

ANOTHER EQUITY SUIT. Joseph Hannick, of the Twentieth ward, began an action in equity to restrain Contractor Max Phillips from building a stone wall on Ninth street.

Mr. Hannick is represented by Attorney C. Comegys. He complains that, being the owner o lot of land situated at the corner of Ninth street and Nealis court, said land being fifty feet front and one hundred and fifty feet in depth, nevertheless Contractor Phillips disregarding the rights of the plaintiff, is now building a stone wall one hundred feet long, two feet thick and six feet high, running parallel with the plaintiff's premises and ten feet away from his curb line, which width is wholly insufficient for the plaintiff's use as an abutting property owner. He says that Ninth street as originally laid out and adopted by the city was fifty feet wide, and for a space o thirty years has been a free and unobstructed thoroughfare. Nealis court has been a thoroughfare for upwards of thirty years, and these streets have been used by the plaintiff and those from whom he claims title.

Judge Edwards granted a preliminary injunction, returnable for argumen July 25 at 10 a. m. The work which the court is asked to restrain is a retaining
