BRAVE BOY FIGHTS WITH A BURGLAR

Young Warren Pierson Has an Exciting Midnight Struggle.

FUSILADE OF REVOLVER SHOTS

Burglars Entered the Residence of A. D. Pierson, on Quincy Avenue and the Eighteen-Year-Old Boy Engaged with Him in Hand-to-Hand Figat--Each Was Armed with a Revolver -- Man Made His Escaped

A hand-to-hand struggle with a burglar was the exciting experience during Monday night of Warren, the 18year-old son of A. D. Pierson, the commission merchant, whose residence is at 448 Quincy avenue. Besides the struggle, the burglar and the boy, whose nerve was the talk of the hill yesterday, engaged in a fusilade of shots at pretty close quarters.

The Pierson house is the most northerly of the double wooden dwelling at the northeast corner of Quincy avenue and Vine street. It faces the avenue and is reached by a short flight of steps. The side is along Vine street and the rear faces toward Clay avenue. The back yard contains a small lawn that s nearly on a level with the street. On the lower floor are four rooms, a sarlor, library, dining room and kitchen nd a summer kitchen addition at the rear. Young Pierson's sleeping room is the third from the front, overlooks Vine street and is directly over the dining room. The only other person in the iouse Monday night was the servant, whose room is on the third floor. Mr. Pierson was out of town on business and Miss Edith, the daughter, is away visiting.

It was about 12.30 o'clock that young Pierson heard suspicious sounds comings from the dining room directly beneath him. He did not wait to dress, but took a loaded revolver from the bureau drawer and stole quietly down the stairs, which terminate at the front and parlor doors. He walked along the narrow hall, past the library and saw a faint light under the dining room door It was Moses Brown instead of M. Moses at the end of the hall.

PIERSON SAW A MAN.

On softly opening the door the sight that greeted him was the broad back of Weichel, of 219 Linden street, fell Monday while playing in the yard and broke her a man leaning over the table directly opposite the doorway. After firing the shot the visitor ran into the kitchen and young Bonta must not dispose of any personal Pierson shot at him. From the kitchen the man rushed toward the rear of the summer annex to a window, from which the screen had been cut and where he evidently gained access to the house.

SHOT AT BURGLAR.

Young Pierson hurriedly opened the kitchen door that leads into the yard on the Vine street side, thinking to bekah, of Green Ridge, will hold one of their monthly socials this evening at the residence of Brother and Sister Jacob Smith, 531 East Market street. In commen tween the Pierson and the adjoining property and vaulted over it, the boy firing at him as he went over. He was heard to crash through the shrubbery and disappear down the alley between Quincy and Clay avenues.

Meanwhile, Pierson called to a man standing across Vine street. He did not answer but hutried up the hill toward Clay avenue. Apparently he was the others "pigeon" or accomplice, waiting to give aid if it was needed. Several in the neighborhood, alarmed by the shooting gathered at the house. No clue to the burglar's identity could be found inside. The candle was the only article he left behind him. The screen covering the rear window of the summer kitchen was cut out and through this the entrance had been nade. The door leading into the regular kitchen is not locked at night. A common, old-fashioned cast-iron lock fastened the door between the kitchen and dining room. A screw-driver had evidently been used to remove the socket on the jamb of the doorway, and into which the bolt rests when the

He weighs not more than 135 oounds, is five feet and nine inches n height, wears glasses, is light complexioned and looks the student rather han the athlete.

Mr. Pierson, the father, reached home about 1.30 o'clock, an hour or so after the excitement.

Patrolman Karlus was at the corer of Vine street and Monroe avenue one block away, at 12.15 o'clock. He peard nor saw anything suspicious and walked down the hill to the central police station for lunch. Just before 12 o'clock he had noticed two men sauntering up Clay avenue from Linden street. #### THE TRACTION FIGHT.

Citizens' and Scranton Companies Are at It Again--- This Time in Harrisburg.

The clashings between the Citizens' and Scranton Traction companies have not ceased, as indicated in the follow ing dispatch to The Tribune from Harrisburg last night: Harrisburg, July 28.—Today was appoint ed by the attorney general for a hearing of the Scranton Traction company versus the Citizens Street Railway company, an application for quo warranto being made by the former on the grounds that the lat-ter is infringing on its rights. The hearing was, nowever, postponed this morning by request of the companies. It will be heard shortly.

One of the gentlemen particularly in-terested in the recently chartered Citizens' company was interviewed at his home at an early hour this morning. When asked to explain the proceedings mentioned in the despatch he said:

"The Scranton Traction company endeavored, through the state department at Harrisburg, to have the Citizens' company charter nullified and yesterday was, I believe, the day the attorney general was to hear arguments on the case. I am not fully acquainted with the Scranton Traction company's claim. One point they contend, however, is that the Citizens' charter is void because it covers over 2,500 feet of the other company's territory.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFRAY.

Michael Konnacki, of Price burg, Came Near Losing His Life.

Michael Kannecki lies at his boarding house in Priceburg with the marks of seven knife thrusts in his body. Kannacki was in the saloon conducted by George Siniora, on River street, Olyphant. Saturday night, when two Hungarians, without any provocation, jumped upon him.

One held a stone; the other drew a pocket knife and jabbed it into Kannacki's body. After the assault, the two men left the saloen and medical aid for the injured man was called. His wounds bled profusely, and for several hours after the assault it looked as if another murder would be docketed at the court house. Kannacki, however, recovered sufficiently to be removed to his boarding place.

The two assaulters were not known to Kannacki, but a friend gave their names to the police and the duo are now in the county jail, having been arrested yesterday. Their names are Andrew Shutalk and Frank Spoolak. Kannacki's condition is a hopeful one, and last night when County Detective Leyshon called upon him he was assured by the physician in charge that the man would recover.

The young fellow is a foreigner and is acquainted with Kolar, He says that last Thursday the murderer came up to him in a field near Peckville and asked for 25 cents. The boy gave the money and Kolar went away. Before going he said: "I get revolver and after I shoot two or three more men I (pointing to his own head) will kill myself.

PERMANENT MEN WENT ON STRIKE

Did Not Like an Grder They Received from Chief Hickey.

HE SAYS THEY MISUNDERSTOOD

Had No Intention of Preventing the Quickly as Possible.-Mayor and lady passengers. the Department.

What is alleged to have been a misinterpretation of a verbal order given by Chief of the Fire Department Hickey aused the three permanent men employed in the Chemical Engine house to go on strike yesterday morning. After several hours the difficulty was straightened out by the mayor, Chief Hickey, Select Councilmen C. E. Chittenden, Fred Durr and Common Councilman John Flanaghan and peace again reins in the quarters of the Chemical company. The incident, however, will lead to some changes in the manner in which the department is conducted.

The trouble arose from the failure of the members of the Chemical company to report their response to a still alarm at the store of Siebecker & Watkins, on Lackawanna avenue Monday night. When the chief heard about the fire it was 10.30, three hours after the fir occurred. He called up the Chemical house by telephone and wanted to know why he was not apprised of the fire and the response he received, he says, is that the matter was overlooked. This angered the chief and afhe transmitted a verbal order to the which they construed to mean that hereafter before responding to a still he was not to be found then the alarm was not to be answered.

FIREMEN WERE ANGRY. When the three permanent men, J. W. George, Thomas Campbell and Lincoln Tillman, received this information they promptly and decisively declared that they would not work under such an order and forthwith quit. Word was sent to the city hall and Select Councilman Chittenden was apprised of the condition of affairs. He called up Mayor Bailey and found that the latter was about to start for the engine house. The mayor invited the councilman to join him. Soon after the mayor and chief and the councilmen above mentioned, were at the engine house, and for some minutes thereafter there was a brilliant display of verbal pyrotechnics, as the firemen spoke their nind about the order. Chief Hickey denied having given any such order, and said his language had been misconstrued. He insisted that he wanted to be notified of every still darm, but did not say that the mempers should delay in responding to an alarm in order to apprise him, and he vas most emphatic in declaring that he had no thought of preventing the engine from being taken out until he was notified.

As the order was a verbal one and he one who sent It and those who received it could not agree as to the language it was couched in, Mayor Balley directed Chief Hickey to reduce it to writing and have it posted in the engine house. He also suggested that the lieutenant and put him in charge of the for New York to sail at 10 o'clock this company, giving all orders through him morning for his home in Russia. The men under him. This will be done,

RETURNED TO WORK. When the men learned that they will incident yesterday by a Tribune reporter, he said:

"I am doing my best to get the department on a smooth running basis that will insure the best service possible. The first thing necessary is to have discipline; that is absolutely essential. Some time ago I told the Chemical boys that I wanted them to notify me whenever they answered a still alarm. They can do so without losing any time. I had a direct wire put in their house connected with my office in the city hall and with my quarters in the Century Hose house. They don't have to call exchange; all they have to do is to ring three bells to call me. There are three men in the house and two are enough to get out the apparatus. While they are doing so the third can notify me.

"Monday night even, after returning from the Siebecker & Watkins still alarm they did not apprise me of the five, and when I inquired at 10.30 why they had not done so, they said they were so excited they forgot about it. This morning I notified them that hereafter I must be informed when they respond to still alarms, but I did not say that they should not leave the house until I had been notified. I want the city to get the best possible service from this department, and to that end must know what the firemen are doing. am now engaged in drafting a code of rules for the government of the department. They will be posted in each engine house and it will be my duty to see that they are observed. Permanent men are receiving a salary from the city and it is only just that the city should receive the best service they

Railroad. The Yellowstone Park is one of the nost wonderfully attractive regions of the world. Its beauties of scenery, the wild grandeur of its mountains and canons, compels the admiration of every visitor, while its phenomenal geysers and curious mineralogical forma-tions make it a rich field for the investigation of the scientist. Universal interest attaches to it, and in order that the natural desire to visit it may be accomplished in the most satisfactory manner the Pennsylvania Railroad company has arranged for a tour covering a period of sixteen days, leaving New York and Philadelphia, Thursday, August 27.

As the tour will be run under the personally-conducted tourist system inaugurated by the above-named company, it is hardly necessary to give the assurance that it will be arranged in the most complete manner. It might be well to state, however, that no other means of seeing the park thoroughly is comparable to that afforded by a wellordered personally-conducted tour.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES.

Trials and Tribulations of a Forest

City Constables. Forest City is the home of some constables who deserve a reward. At 1 o'clock this morning two of them came to the central police station with a prisoner and asked permission from Desk Sergeant Robert H. Deiter to lock their man up until this morning. The officers were John Maxey and John Walsh; the prisoner was Joseph Araganis, of Penn avenue, who is employed by Matthew Bros., of this city, as driver of an oll wagon.

Joseph at one time boarded with Peter Walsh, of Forest City, and forgot to settle $15 of a board bill. He was subpoenned to go to Montrose yesterday as a witness before the grand jury While he was waiting to be called to give his testimony Maxey arrested him ter considering the matter over night on a warrant sworn out before Justice he was still angry. Yesterday morning of the Peace W. J. Maxey, of Forest City, a brother of the constable. The nembers of the Chemical company charge was defrauding a boarding housekeeper.

The prisoner was brought to the alarm they should notify him, and if Montrose county jail before having a hearing and the warden would not receive him without a commitment. The constable went before some justice of the peace in Montrose and got a commitment, although the law provides that a defendant cannot be committed without a hearing unless he waives a hearing. The constable took the prisoner and the commitment to the sheriff of the county and the sheriff put the paper in his pocket and told the constable to bring his man to jail that it would be all right. But when the prisoner was brought back to jail the warden still refused. He was told the sheriff had the commitment in his pocket, but that was no use. It must be produced. The prisoner was brought back to Forest City and was given a hearing and in default of bail was committed by the justice who issued the warrant.

The constable then took the train for Scranton and got in here about 9 o'clock last night. It took him four hours to find the police station. He will bring him back to Montrose jail this morning. A year ago a constable from Forest City brought a prisoner to Scranton on the way to Montrose, but the latter escaped in the fog on lower Lackawanna avenue.
