CITY FILES A DEMURRER.

Says Township of Lackawanna is Not Entitled to Relief Asked.

City Solicitor James H. Torrey, representing the defendants, yesterday filed a demurrer to the bill in equity filed on Aug. 7 by the township of Lackawanna against the city of Scranton, Delaware, Lackawanna and West-Hall road company, John C. Hall, Charles Watkins, John L. Davis, David G. Reese and other property owners and taxpayers residing in that portion of Lackawanna township now a part of the sixth ward of Scranton.

The proceedings were brought to compel the portion of the township annexed to Scranton to pay its proportionate share of a debt of $1,995.87 owed by the township at the time the annexation went into effect.

The paper filed yesterday demurs to the whole bill for the following reasons: "The bill sets forth no facts which in law or equity entitle the plaintiff to the relief prayed for or to any other equitable relief. Wherefore and for divers other good causes of demurrer the defendant demurs thereto and demands the judgment of the court whether they shall be compelled to make any further or other answer to the said bill."

READY TO SHOOT.
Thirteenth's Marksmen Hope to Hold the Championships Already Won at Mt. Gretna.

The fifth in a series of nine "crack shot" matches took place yesterday at the Dickson range. The matches are open events and, consequently, the entries are only the best shots in the regiment. Yesterday W. W. Youngs and Captain Frank Robbing were tied for first with a score of 77 each and private Williams, of Company D, Captain Fred Moore Stokes and private George W. Stout, ranked next in the order named with scores of 62, 60 and 58 respectively.

The scores in detail was as follows:

W. W. Youngs	77	77	77	77
Captain Robbing	77	77	77	77
Private Williams	62	62	62	62
Captain Stokes	60	60	60	60
G. W. Stout	58	58	58	58

Including the two "sighting" shots allowed each contestant at each distance, the score was Youngs, 94; Robbing, 92; Stokes, 85; Williams, 83, and Stout, 82.

According to the scores made in the "crack shot" matches will be selected the team and reserve man to go to Mt. Gretna next week. Youngs, Stout, Quarter Master Watkins and Sergeant Henry Cullen, of Company C, will surely constitute the team and either Sergeant Williams, of Company A, or Private Williams will be the reserve man.

Considering the Mt. Gretna scores of past years and the scores made on the Dickson range in the local matches this year, the Thirteenth's marksmen seem destined to win individually and collectively this year at Mt. Gretna the laurels that have fallen to them in the past.

Youngs holds the individual championship while the team has the regimental and McClelland championships. The only other Mt. Gretna event, excepting the match for the best marksmen in the brigade match, and if the other regimental teams of the Third brigade had done nearly as well as the Thirteenth the brigade championship would also be partly due to the Scranton team's shooting.

The team goes to Mt. Gretna on Monday and will return home on Saturday. Lieutenant H. B. Cox, the Thirteenth's inspector of rifle practice, will compete in the inspectors' match.

CONGRATULATORY ORDER.

Issued by Colonel Course to the Members of the Thirteenth.

The following congratulatory order has been issued by Colonel H. A. Course to the members of the Thirteenth regiment:
 Headquarters Thirteenth Regiment Infantry, Third Brigade, National Guard of Pennsylvania.
 Scranton, Aug. 18, 1896.
 Regimental Order No. 26.

It is with intense satisfaction the colonel congratulates the officers and men of the Thirteenth regiment upon the magnificent ratings attained by them at the division camp at York, Pa. in the late part of the National Guard have the requirements been so severe and exacting or attended with the amount of detail as at this inspection, and the pride and eagerness that must fill the heart of every member of the Thirteenth regiment is ample recompense for the labor and care each one has given to place our regiment on the third time the leading regiment in the National Guard of Pennsylvania.

But while enjoying our mutual congratulations ever attention is called to new sources of danger which threaten our supremacy and remind us most forcibly how necessary it is that the same earnest individual effort must be maintained if we may hold our present proud position. If every soldier and especially the enlisted men who sometimes think they as individuals are organized in the ranks, they are the most important factor for they make the regiment what it is so will do their best, success will attend us in the future as in the past, and it may be that our many friends will soon conclude that the best military organization in the state and country should have an army somewhat in keeping with the requirements and qualifications of the splendid set of men who compose the rank and file of our Thirteenth regiment.

By order of
 Colonel Henry A. Course.
 L. T. Mattes, Adjutant.

REVOLTING FIND OF TWO BERRY PICKERS

Deserted Infant Alive Under Most Horrible Circumstances.

FROM FIVE TO EIGHT DAYS OLD

Strangled and Left for Dead Beneath a Stump on the West Mountain, the Child Survived--The Feud Who Deserted the Child Evidently Visited the Spot Yesterday.

Two berry pickers, Peter Chanef and wife, living at 1809 Price street, found a live infant, probably five days old, beneath a stump near the Diamond reservoir on the West Mountain yesterday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock. An attempt had evidently been made to strangle it and ants and maggots fairly covered the body, yet the child was full of vitality and it is thought will survive.

The berry pickers were working among the bushes just above the reservoir when they were nearly startled out of their wits by hearing the plaintive cry of a baby, coming apparently from out of the ground just at their feet. They hunted about for the source of the cries and finally discovered the babe wrapped in a blue calico dress stuffed beneath a stump. Both were too scared to handle the child so they hurried to Patrolman Kiah Peters' home, which is near their home on Price street, and appraised him of their discovery.

STONE OVER THE OPENING.

He secured a light wagon, and taking one of the neighbors, Daniel D. Jones, accompanied the berry pickers to the spot. When they alighted at the stump Chanef was greatly surprised to find a large flat stone against the opening, shielding the child from view. He and his wife state positively that there was no stone there when they left, and are sure that somebody must have visited the spot between the time they departed and returned with the officer.

It was with the greatest difficulty that the child was removed from its narrow quarters, having evidently grown considerably since being stuffed through the opening of the cavity under the stump. By dragging away some of the dirt about the opening the child was taken out and a most revolting sight was disclosed.

A swarm of black ants covered the body and maggots filled the eyes, nose, mouth and ears. A red flannel rag was draped tightly about the neck. When it was removed the flesh was found to be in a putrid state and covered with a mass of the sickening parasites. Aside from the marks of the flannel on the neck there were no evidence of violence.

"Walk in and look around."

The child was wrapped in a shawl and taken to the central police station, whence it was removed by Mrs. Durigan to St. Joseph's Foundling Home. Dr. O'Malley was summoned, everything was done to relieve the suffering innocent.
 In Doctor O'Malley's opinion the child is not less than four and not more than eight days old and was born near where it was found, without attendance. It had never received any nourishment. It is a male child and of good size.
 The presumption is that the mother strangled the child and believing it dead hid the body under the stump where it was found. Yesterday it might have occurred to her that she should have covered up the opening to the hole underneath the stump in order that her crime would never come to light and going to the spot placed the stone where it was found. Yesterday it might have occurred to her that she should have covered up the opening to the hole underneath the stump in order that her crime would never come to light and going to the spot placed the stone where it was found.
