INVENTORS HELPED. Some of the Well-Known Instances Wherein Two Heads Proved Decidedly Better Than One.

From the Times-Herald. When Nikola Tesla stated in an interview that marriage impaired an inventor's genius, while it enlarged the faculties of artists, writers and musicians, he offered, as a reason for the assertion that the three latter classes gain inspiration from a woman's influence while the inventor's nature is of such "a wild, passionate quality" that in giving itself to either pursuit it necessarily rejected the other, and with perhaps unconscious homage to the strength of feminine power, he feared the loss of the inventor's fire.

Furthermore, he added, that not many great inventions can be named which are the work of married men.

While Nicola Tesla's blood may course through his veins with the passionate intensity of his country, rendering impossible a division of service, in colder climates and among more phlegmatic temperaments, marriage has not hindered the continuation of genius. Invention personified was necessary, a woman.

For forty-four years Deborah Read was the "good and faithful helpmate," to use her husband's expression, of the man to whom invention owes a heavy debt, Benjamin Franklin. It was during their happy marriage that all of his electrical experiments were undertaken. The wedding date was 1729, and, after twenty-two years of close association, he identified lightning and electricity by his celebrated kite test in Philadelphia.

The American steamboat inventor, Robert Fulton, was happily married to the niece of his friend and partner, Chancellor Livingston. Harriet Livingston thoroughly appreciated the inventive genius of her husband. "Pre-eminence in beauty, grace and accomplishments, she attracted the ardent admiration of Fulton, and this was returned by an estimate of his talent and genius, amounting almost to enthusiasm. The epoch of their nuptials, the spring of 1808, was that of Fulton's greatest glory. Everything appeared to conspire in enhancing the advantages of his position. Leaving out of view all questions of romance, his bride was young, lovely, highly educated, intelligent and wealthy. His long labors in adapting the steam engine to the purposes of navigation had been followed by complete success, and that very success had opened to him, through the exclusive grant of the navigation of the Hudson, the prospect of vast riches."

George Stephenson, the eminent railway engineer, was married at the age of 21 to Fanny Henderson, for which event he earned his first guinea. While brakeman for an engine at Black Calder he met his future wife, then a servant in a neighboring farm house. His wages were 18 shillings a week, but the youth who learned to write at the age of 19 by studying nights after a day's exhausting labor, was not the person to be daunted by difficulties. He began to make and mend the shoes of his fellow workmen, and, after a year's probation, during which he saved the guinea, he married and settled happily in a little cottage at Willington Quay. Twelve years later he ran his own locomotive on the Killingworth railroad.

While Sir Humphrey Davy's greatest discovery was the discovery of Michael Faraday, the latter's knowledge of the laws of electricity and magnetism was gained by studying nights after a day's exhausting labor, was not the person to be daunted by difficulties. He began to make and mend the shoes of his fellow workmen, and, after a year's probation, during which he saved the guinea, he married and settled happily in a little cottage at Willington Quay. Twelve years later he ran his own locomotive on the Killingworth railroad.

James Watt, the inventor of the steam engine, was twice married; in 1763 to his cousin, Miss Miller, and a second time shortly after his removal to Birmingham, to Miss McGregor, of Glasgow. His entire life was one series of mechanical improvements and inventions.

WATCH FACTORY CLOSED. Business Depression Brought on by Silver Agitation, the Cause.

Waltham, Mass., Aug. 20.—The American Watch company posted a notice at the factory this morning announcing that the factory would close tonight and not reopen until Sept. 1.

President Fitch stated that the shut down is due entirely to the present agitation of the silver question. A similar notice was posted at the Boston manufacturing company. The time for shut down here was extended to Sept. 28. Superintendent Bailey said that the business depression was so great that the company could not possibly continue business until there was some change for the better.

KILLED HIMSELF ON THE BOAT. Bostonian Commits Suicide on a Portland Line Steamer.

Boston, Aug. 20.—Walter C. Anderson, 33 years old, manager for a large ticket agency here, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head with a revolver in his state room on the Portland boat, just after its arrival here, this morning.

Anderson had telegraphed his wife to meet him, giving the number of his state room. Mrs. Anderson was at the deck on time and after waiting some time in the ladies' saloon for her husband, she proceeded to his state room and found him dead. No reason is known for the act.

FLAMES ON RANDALL'S ISLAND. Small Shed Destroyed With a Damage of $500—Story of a Ship Afire.

New York, Aug. 20.—A fire started at 9 o'clock today in a one-story frame building on Randall's Island used as a tailors' shop by the department of corrections. The cause is unknown.

The report that a large vessel off Sayville, L. I., east of Fire Island, was on fire, occasioned some excitement last night, but proved to be untrue. It turns out that the fire came from grass and refuse ablaze on the beach.

THE STUDIO GIRL.

AN INTERESTING LETTER FROM A YOUNG LADIES' COLLEGE.

Race Between the Sexes for Education. Health Impaired by Incessant Study.

The race between the sexes for education is to-day very close. Ambitious girls work incessantly over their studies, and are often brought to a halt, through having sacrificed the physical to the mental.

Then begin those ailments that must be removed at once, or they will produce constant suffering. Headache, dizziness, faintness, slight vertigo, pains in the back and loins, irregularity, loss of sleep and appetite, nervousness and blues, with lack of confidence; these are positive signs that women's arch enemy is at hand.

The following letter was received by Mrs. Pinkham in May, one month after the young lady had first written, giving symptoms, and asking advice. She was ill and in great distress of mind, feeling she would not hold out till graduation, and the doctor had advised her to go home.

College, Mass. You dear Woman:— I should have written to you before, but you said wait a month. We are taught that the days of miracles are past. Pray what is my case? I have taken the Vegetable Compound faithfully, and obeyed you implicitly and, am free from all my ills. I was very, very sick girl. Am keeping well up in my class, and hope to do you and myself credit at graduation. * * My gratitude cannot find expression in words. Yours sincerely friend, MARY P. S. Some of the other girls are now using the Compound. It benefits them all.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the only safe, sure and effectual remedy in such cases, as it removes the cause, purifies and invigorates the system, and gives energy and vitality.

PROSPERITY vs. ADVERSITY. Prosperity in your case will triumph when your expenses are less than your income. We can lessen your expenses.

WE CAN GIVE YOU A SUIT FOR $20.00. Which would cost you elsewhere from $25 to $30. If these prices are above your means, we will make you a suit for $15 that will surprise you.
